Soaring Hopes For Peace Brighten World At Christmas

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

People on both sides of the Iron Curtain looked forward this Christmas Eve to the possibility that, for the first time since World War II, the world may again know real peace.

President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Kruschev are key figures in the hopes of millions, just as the United States and the Soviet Union have been key nations in the cold war.

Shooting persists in Algeria. Iran and Iraq have moved up troops in a yuletide border spat. Red China, no convert to Khrushchev's reunuciation of force, menaces Indian frontier lands.

Pilgrims thronging by the thousands to Bethlehem, Jordan-held birthplace of Jesus Christ, were reminded by the presence of Arab and Israeli military guard posts along the nearby border that the 1948 Palestine war was ended by an armed truce, never by a peace pact.

Any universal peace is a matter of the distant future.

But the past year has seen significant steps toward greater international understanding. Among these have been the Krushchev visit to the United States and Eisenhower's agreement to return the visit; the arrangements for a Big Four summit conference; Eisenhower's 11-nation tour on behalf of friendship and peace in freedom; moderate progress in Geneva nuclear talks; the coming 10-nation parley on disarmament.

Eisenhower touched on his peace mission in a Christmas message carried around the world last night.

"I talked with kings and presidents, prime ministers and humble men and women in cottages and mud huts," he said. "Their common denominator was their faith that America will lead the way toward a just peace."

Bethlehem today was as usual a focal point in religious observances.

Hotels and boarding houses of that Judean town were turning away customers with words equivalent to the ages-old "no room at the inn." Chartered planes swelled a flow of tourists that spelled prosperity for the many inhabitants of Holy Land areas who depend on tourist trade for their livelihood. Arab-Israeli tension had eased somewhat.

Even Algiers, celebrating its sixth Christmas since the start of the nationalist rebellion against French rule, presented a more normal appearance than usual. Stores were crowded with French people buying holiday gifts. But outside the city, security patrols were reinforced to bar grenade raids.

Across the Mediterranean, gifts of toys, candy, and relief supplies went to flood-stricken French families at Frejus. The official toll from bursting of the Malpasset Dam three weeks ago stood at 319 dead, 103 missing.

Nations of West Europe were riding high. Except for Poland and possibly East Germany—both troubled by food shortages—this should be the best Christmas season economically since the war for Communist-ruled Eastern Europe. Though prices were high, consumer and luxury goods were reported stocked heavily by state-run stores.

The Christian-style celebration still defies conversion attempts by the Communists in Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Poland. Thousands crowded their churches.

Guy C (Smitty) Smith was buried Monday in Golden Gate National Cemetery. One of the cards on "his" tree said that Smitty would have a happy Christmas, the best of all, for he has gone to his reward.

Smith, 63, died last Friday. During World War II he was a deputy sheriff at Marinship. Since then he had managed a rooming house over Central Pharmacy, and outside under the tree in a planter box he came to sit every day, except in the very worst weather.

When Smitty died he had no close relatives living in the state.

Storm Gives Marin More Than Inch Of Welcome Rain

Wet Christmas Predicted; Heavy Snowfall Forecast For Sierra

Rain—more than an inch of it—poured down on Marin County yesterday in the first big storm of winter. And everything pointed to a wet Christmas all over the state.

The Weather Bureau predicted rain would continue intermittently—and may be heavy at times—through the holiday.

Temperatures were expected to drop to 46 to 52 degrees tonight.

Snow will be heavy in the Sierra, promising the first big weekend for winter sports fans.

In Marin, the heavy downpour made possible the end of the nearly eight-month-long fire season.

Larkspur reported 1.28 inches in the 24 hour period ending this morning; San Rafael, .89; Sausalito, 1.16; Belvedere, 1.11; Tam Valley, 1.10; Muir Woods, 1.01; San Anselmo, 1.24; Woodacre, 1.29; Novato, 1.05.

Gale warnings were lowered in the coastal areas between San Francisco and Santa Barbara, and small craft warnings were flying today from Santa Barbara to Cape Blanco, Ore.

Motorists planning trips into the mountains were advised by the state Division of Highways that all mountain roads were snow-covered and icy and tire chains required.

Yesterday's rainfall was heaviest in the area bounded by San Francisco, Sacramento and Pt. Arenas in Mendocino County.

More than an inch fell at most points within the area, and 1.65 inches—highest recorded in the state—fell at San Francisco International Airport durin ga 24-hour period.

Most other northern points received at least half an inch of rain.

Rainfall Brings End Of Long Ban On Burning

Fire season in unincorporated areas of Marin County was declared officially ended today by County Fire Chief Charles Reilley.

The fire chief gave Marinites a Christmas present by lifting the ban on burning that has been in effect for nearly eight months—one of the longest fire seasons on record. Yesterday's rain made possible ending the ban, he said.

Last year, the fire season was closed on the same date—Dec. 24. But Chief Reilley noted that the fire hazard has been more critical this year because of low rainfall last season which resulted in woods and grasslands becoming exceedingly dry.

He thanked Marinites for their cooperation throughout the long drought, and noted that in spite of the hazard, acreage burned this year was about one-third less than last year.

End of the fire season means that outdoor burning of rubbish by householders in unincorporated Marin is permissible without a special permit.

Lifting the burning ban along with the county today were Novato, Tamalpais Valley, Homestead, Tiburon and Alto-Richardson Fire Districts, all in unincorporated areas. City fire departments have their own permit rules.

Corte Madera Pool Bond Ballot Urged

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission last night urged the town council to call an election on a $145,000 bond proposal for construction of a municipal swimming pool.

By unanimous vote, commissioners recommended the balloting be held in conjunction with the municipal election next April.

The pool would be located on town park property north of Tamalpais drive.

Construction plans, first approved two years ago, call for a pool with heating and filtering equipment, a bath house and miscellaneous equipment such as fencing, diving boards and ladders.

The commission recommended that use of the pool be restructed during normal hours to Corte Madera residents and a limited number of their guests, with exceptions allowed at other times for schools serving Corte Madera and groups sponsored by the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission.

A 1957 ballot measure for $129,944 swimming pool bond issue was defeated by Corte Madera voters.

Postman's Big Job Near Done

The postman, sore-footed and weary, can take it easy tomorrow.

San Rafael Postmaster Warren Williams reported all first class Christmas mail was delivered during regular deliveries this morning, and all packages will be delivered by nightfall, ending a Christmas rush at the post office which saw a volume of mail about 10 per cent above last year's.

"We're very happy," said Williams. "Everything worked out fine."

Seventeen vehicles were in use today delivering packages, the San Rafael postmaster reported.

There will be delivery of Christmas parcels only tomorrow, he said.

The post office will be open until noon on Saturday and will resume its regular schedule thereafter.

Greenbrae Developers Buy Large West Marin Ranch

The nearly 1,200-acre West Marin dairy ranch of Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Bloom of San Rafael has been sold to the Schultz Development Co. of Greenbrae for close to a half-million dollars, it was announced today.

The property has been in the Bloom family since the 1880s and is one of the largest single holdings in West Marin.

Niels Schultz Jr. said the development company had "no immediate plans" for use of the land. Truttman's Dairy, which has leased the ranch from the Blooms for the past several years, will remain there, Schultz said.

The property lies just east of Olema on both sides of Highway 101. Olema Creek borders the west side and a ridge of hills on the east. It has a view of Tomales Bay.

Bloom ran the ranch before he retired and moved to San Rafael. Earlier, his late father, Joseph Bloom, Petaluma banker and financier, was owner and operator of the ranch.

Sale of the property was negotiated by Nipper and Marchant of San Anselmo and Thomas D. Minto.

Petitions Filed For Fluoridation Vote

Signers Would Place Issue On June Ballot

Initiative petitions to place fluoridation of the Marin Municipal Water District's water supplies on next June's primary election ballot were presented to the district's board of directors last night and turned over to County Clerk George S. Jones today for checking.

If at least 10 per cent of the registered voters in the water district have signed the petitions, the question will go on the ballot.

Petitions presented to the water board bore between 7,000 and 8,000 signatures, reported William R. Seeger, water district general manager. There are about 48,000 registered voters in the water district, according to the county clerk's office.

CIRCULATED PETITION

The petitions weer circulated by the Children's Dental Health Committee, starting in September.

Certification of the signatures is necessary within 10 days.

Dr. William Loran, chairman of the Children's Dental Health Committee, said he felt the county has been given "a Christmas present which can eliminate a great deal of discomfort, improve its health, and save its money, to the tune of millions of dollars, if the county wishes to take advantage of its next June."

TO CONTINUE PROGRAM

He said the committee would continue its educational program, "because we feel that when the knowledge is there, there's no question about it being a proven, safe, effective procedure, just as thoroughly proven as pasteurization or immunization. Those who doubt this when they find the truth, will have their doubt disappear like a bad dream."

Dr. Logan said the committee turned in only part of the signatures it had collected, but more than enough to qualify for the requirement of 10 per cent of the registered voters.

Robbery after escape?

Escapee From Quentin Sought In S.F. Holdup

A 27-year-old robber, who apparently climbed an eight-foot steel fence topped with barbed wire to escape from San Quentin Prison last night, was sought today in the holdup of a San Francisco market.

Robert A. Jameson, serving a five-year-to-life term, was last seen by prison guards at 7:40 p.m. He was discovered to be missing at a 9 p.m. roll call at the dormitory of the prison's dairy ranch—a minimum security area.

Law enforcement agencies throughout the area immediately were placed on the alert, and joined in a concentrated search. But none spotted the escapee.

At 9:25 p.m., a man answering Jameson's description entered a neighborhood grocery store at 1016 Diamond street in San Francisco's Mission District and asked for a pint of whisky.

As the owner, Daniel O'Brien, 60, turned back to the counter with the bottle, he looked into the muzzle of a .38 caliber revolver.

President Appeals For Open, Peaceful World Partnership

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mankind needs an open and peaceful partnership intsead of a bare co-existence, President Eisenhower has told the world in his annual Christmas message.

The best way America can contribute to such a goal, he said, is to give needy nations the right sort of spirit.

The President delivered his message of peace and goodwill yesterday at ceremonies opening the annual Christmas pageant of peace. As part of the observance, he pressed a switch illuminating the nation's Christmas tree in a park adjoining the White House grounds. The program was broadcast by television and radio.

Speaking 18 hours after his return from a trip that took him to Africa, Asia and Europe, Eisenhower addressed his remarks to his fellow countrymen and "workers for a just peace wherever you may be in the world, whatever your race or flag or tongue or creed."

The President said "our concept of the good life for humanity does not require an inevitable conflict between peoples and systems — in which one must triumph over the other. Nor does it offer merely a bare coexistence as a satisfactory state for mankind.

CITES DANGERS

"After all, an uneasy coexistence can be as barren and sterile, joyless and stale a life for human beings as the coexistence of cellmates in a penitentiary or labor camp."

Eisenhower said the leaders and the "humble men and women" with whom he talked during his tour share a common faith that America will help lead the way toward a just peace.

"They understand that we look and work toward the day when there can be open and peaceful partnership—communication—interchange of goods and ideas between all peoples; toward the day when each people will make its maximum contribution toward the progress and prosperity of the world," he added.

THREE POINTS

The lands he visited, he said, seemed united on these three points: Their friendship for America and Americans, their fervent hope for betterment of themselves and their children, and their deep-seated hunger for peace in freedom.

Repeating a theme used throughout his 11-nation tour, the President said: "The assurance of peace in freedom is the key to the betterment of peoples everywhere; and in a just peace friendship between all peoples will flourish."

COLD WINDS

Cold winds swept across the park area south of the White House as the President stood on an open stage to deliver his message. His breath was frosty and he rubbed his hands at times while he spoke.

Mrs. Eisenhower, wearing a black fur coat, accompanied the President.

Lighting the national Christmas tree, Eisenhower grinned broadly and exclaimed "Merry Christmas" as the 70-foot spruce from Maine burst into light from 3,800 colored bulbs.

Steel Union Asks Court For Pay Hike

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union is going to court to try to get a four-cent-an-hour cost-of-living wage increase.

The union's general counsel, Arthur J. Goldberg, said yesterday the USW would ask U. S. District Court here today to order the pay hike, effective in January.

The nation's half-million basic steel workers were on strike 116 days until Nov. 7. A Taft-Hartley court injunction sent them back to the mills for 80 days under terms of their old contract.

UNION CONTENTION

Goldberg contends the workers are entitled to cost-of-living hikes under the old contract because of a change in the government's consumer price index for November.

He also said he will ask that first-year benefits under any new contract be made retroactive to Nov. 7.

The steel industry has disputed the union contentions about cost-of-living and retroactivity. When Judge Herbert P. Sorg issued the Taft-Hartley injunction here last October, he reserved decision on both these matters.

NO PROGRESS

Union and industry negotiators met with federal mediators in Washington yesterday in a continuation of attempts to reach agreement on a new contract. Mediators reported no progress and recessed the talks to Sunday, when company-by-company talks are slated to get under way throughout the nation.

Federal officials briefed President Eisenhower yesterday on steel developments during his 19-day goodwill overseas tour.

LORD HALIFAX
As wartime envoy

Lord Halifax, Ex-Ambassador To U.S., Dies

YORK, England (AP) — Lord Halifax, who served Winston Churchill as British ambassador to Washington in World War II, died last night. He was 78.

The deeply religious Lord Halifax had survived an earlier association with the pre-war appeasement government of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.

He had served as foreign secretary and viceroy to India. His days as an active policy maker ended in 1946.

He had been suffering from a chest complaint and his son and heir, Lord Irwin, said his father "was just completely worn out."

Born Edward Frederick Lindley Wood, Lord Halifax entered public life in 1910 as a Conservative member of Parliament, a seat he held for 15 years.

As a colonel of the Yorkshire Dragoons, he led his regiment in World War I.

He served as parliamentary undersecretary for the colonies in 1921-22: president of the Board of Education, 1922-24, and minister of agriculture, 1924-25, before replacing the Marquess of Reading as Viceroy of India in 1926.

He returned to England in 1931 and succeeded his father as Viscount Halifax in 1934. He became foreign secretary in 1938, succeeding Anthony Eden. Eden had resigned in protest against Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's concessions to Hitler at Munich.

Charge Leveled Against Escapee

MADERA (AP)—The district attorney's office has filed a complaint against San Quentin fugitive James Kendrick, 29, and an unidentified accomplice, for the kidnap-robbery of a store manager and his wife last week.

The men are charged with 10 felonies, involving kidnap, robbery, burglary and assault with a deadly weapon.

The Safeway manager Richard Brady said his wife identified Kendrick from a photograph as one of the men who took part in the $2,000 robbery.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Highway Fatalities

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Highway Patrol said today that 225 persons died in traffic accidents in areas under its jurisdiction during November, more than in any other month since December, 1956.

The patrol said that last months total was 49 more than in November, 1958, even though there were 24 fewer accidents and the number of injured was down.

The cumulative fatality total for the first 11 months of the year remained below the same figure for 1958, when 2,083 were killed. Four fewer motorists have died on the highways so far this year.

Army Hold Yule Fete

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) —The U. S. Army in Europe is entertaining 75,000 Germans, Italians and French at Christmas parties tomorrow.

"Operation Good Cheer" goes into effect for the needy, ranging from baby age to old folks.

'Mad Butcher' Escapes

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI) —A "mad butcher" armed with a table knife beheaded and savagely mutilated a girl in a YWCA hostel here last night and then fled on a bus, his hands dripping blood.

The killer bludgeoned another resident of the hostel with "something like a stocking full of stones," police said, but did not kill her.

After an unsuccessful attempt to track the killer with bloodhounds, police throughout the nation were alerted.

Stolen Weapons Found

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—FBI agents uncovered a cache of small arms yesterday stolen from a National Guard armory in Oxnard, Ventura County, and confiscated four machine guns and 68 other weapons.

R. W. Bachman, special agent for the FBI in New Orleans, said the weapons were found in a lakefront garage. They were the same weapons taken in a burglary of the Oxnard National Guard armory last May 30.

No arrests were made, but Bachman said three of the four men sought for the burglary were apprehended.

Man Killed After Siege

ELYRIA, Ohio (UPI) — An eight-hour siege ended today with the death of a former mental patient who defiantly tossed tear gas bombs back at sheriff's deputies while they tried to force him out of his house.

Richard Seekins, 60, was killed by return gunfire from the deputies after he started shooting at firemen. The firemen were trying to flush him off the roof of a shed with a high-powered hose.

The siege started when deputies attempted to arrest Seekins on the complaints of neighbors, who said the painter had threatened two persons with a shotgun.

No Holiday For Troops

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP)—Far from home, Australian soldiers celebrate Christmas Day in the field fighting.

With the Gurkhas, about 800 Australian soldiers are closing in on 40 hard-core members of the depleted Malayan Communist guerilla army in central Malaya.

Planes have dropped Christmas delicacies to the soldiers in the jungles, but a spokesman at headquarters of the 28th Commonwealth Brigade said "There will be no reduction in the over-all effort."

Wide Awaker

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP)—Police located an alarm clock that really deserved the name. It was the flasher type that blinks a light on and off, and it went off while residents of the house were away.

Seeing flashes of light in the unoccupied house, neighbors summoned the law. Officers found an unlocked door and, eventually, the blinking clock.

Escapees Caught

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI)—Deputies today apprehended three more of the 11 prisoners who sawed their way out of the nearly 100-year-old Montgomery County jail, leaving only two men still at large.

Five others were captured yesterday, some within hours of the escape, and another gave himself up this morning.

Oops, Our Mistake

KRISTIANSTAD, Sweden (UPI)—Municipal officials admitted their error today after four-year-old Sven George Larsson received notice that he had been named district purchase tax collector.

Too Enthusiastic

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Christmas in the Pennypack Woods development was dimmed somewhat by the enthusiasm of residents in the 1,000-unit community.

They strung so many Christmas lights within and outside their homes that for three straight nights there were electric power failures.

Last Civil War Vet Buried In Texas Rites

FRANKLIN, Tex. (AP) — The frail body of Walter Williams, the last veteran of the Civil War, was committed to the red clay soil of the Franklin cemetery yesterday.

"Death is swallowed up in victory," said Chaplain Frederick Richardson of Ft. Hood, Tex., reading the burial service at the graveside rites for the 117-year-old Confederate soldier.

There was a brief prayer as 2,000 stood with bowed heads under a heavily clouded sky. Three volleys by an honor guard echoed across the small, barbed-wire fenced cemetery.

Then the notes of silver taps rose and fell—the last taps for the four million men who fought in the Civil War nearly a century ago.

The simple graveside service near Williams' farm home in the oak and pine covered hills of central East Texas followed funeral services and a military procession through downtown Houston as a united nation paid final tribute to the former forage master in Hood's Brigade and Quantrill's raiders, who died Saturday.

More than 25,000 persons, many with hats held in their hands, lined the three-mile route as the funeral procession moved from the Civil Courts Building, where the body had lain in state 48 hours, to the church.

Gov. Price Daniel of Texas and representatives of the governors of 10 other Southern states were among those attending the Houston service.

Canada Rabies Scare

TORONTO (UPI)—One man was dead and four teen-aged boys were being checked for rabies today in an outbreak that authorities feared had spread to many Ontario communities.

They warned school children against handling of dead animals.

Dr. R. D. Mutrie of the federal agriculture department in North Bay, said yesterday rabid foxes had attacked dogs and livestock.

President Appeals For Open, Peaceful World Partnership

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mankind needs an open and peaceful partnership intsead of a bare co-existence, President Eisenhower has told the world in his annual Christmas message.

GRIM WARNING — If you drink, don't drive. Or this may be the last sight you'll see as you die on an emergency operating table — a doctor, a nurse and two ambulance attendants. COUPLE OF DRINKS...

How To Set The Stage For Holiday Tragedy

By ED OLSEN

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Driving to a C2-H5-OH gathering tonight?

A lot of people are. It's that jolly time of year when such gatherings are being held everywhere.

What's a C2-H5-OH gathering? It's how a chemist could describe the usual holiday party.

C2-H5-OH is the chemical formula for the colorless, almost odorless liquid known as ethyl alcohol. That's what is in the martini you'll be drinking tonight . . . and in every other beer, wine, whiskey, gin or vodka beverage served.

Naturally, when you arrive at the party, the thought uppermost in your mind is to drink sensibly.

You tell yourself the police and highway patrolmen are out in extra force these nights looking for drunken drivers.

And what an embarrassing inconvenience it would be to have your driver's license taken away . . . and maybe have the newspapers and radio stations tell everybody about it.

If you're inclined to be morbid . . . or perhaps if you've been really close to a bad auto accident . . . an awful picture may skip through your mind as you reach for the first glass.

At this point you take a quick swallow from the glass you've been holding. Then another.

Already, those awful mental pictures are gone.

You reach for another glass and remind yourself to keep an eye out for the cops on the way home.

And to hold your liquor . . . you don't want to talk too loudly or let your speech get thick.

Obviously, as long as your actions don't show you've been drinking, it's not affecting you.

You take the third glass, confident you can drive as well as anyone in the room. Probably better.

Yes, better. As a matter of fact, you're a better driver with a couple of belts than you are when you're stone sober. Anybody can see you're more alert and self confident now.

Just look how these other people at the party . . . many of whom ordinarily don't give you a second glance . . . now are hanging on your every word and finding you so interesting.

Police Mobilize To Cut Down Holiday Carnage On Roads

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Millions of Americans took to the nation's highways today at the start of the most accident-prone holiday period of the year, and police were out in full force to hold down the traffic slaughter.

The National Safety Council refused to predict the number of persons who would be killed in auto crashes during the 78-hour holiday, but said the death toll could reach 530 between 6 p.m. tonight and midnight Sunday.

Many states announced they would use national guardsmen, roadblocks, pocket drunk-o-meters and helicopters in an effort to cut the annual highway carnage.

Indiana officials planned to double usual law enforcement with national guardsmen. Michigan guardsmen were to act as the second man in state police cars.

In Rhode Island, officials enlisted the aid of news media and clergy in an all-out safety drive, and Gov. Christopher Del Sesto said he would call out the national guard if necessary.

State police in Iowa, Florida, Indiana and Missouri will take to the air in airplanes and helicopters. Their birds'-eye view will enable them to spot traffic violators and radio information to colleagues in squad cars.

Most states said they would keep a special lookout for the drunken drivers leaving office parties. Massachusetts, Maine and Oregon police planned to set up spot roadblocks to nab drunks weaving their unsteady way home.

Connecticut state police, reputedly among the nation's toughest on traffic violators, will carry small "drunk-o-meters" in their pockets to test suspected drunks on the spot.

In Illinois, safety officials scheduled a "traffic condition red" involving saturation enforcement by state and local police, who were under orders to issue only tickets—no warnings.

About 2,000 state policemen were to patrol California highways in an all-out drive to prevent a repeat of the 1958 Christmas weekend when 53 persons were killed.

Miller Pledges Bill For Vets

Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) said today he will work for prompt action on his proposed bill to equalize pay of retired servicemen after Congress reconvenes Jan. 6.

The congressman said Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates has recommended passage of the legislation.

Last year a new retirement schedule was set up for those on active duty as of June 1, 1958. But it excluded those of equal grade or rank and length of service who had retired earlier.

Miller said it was a "matter of simple justice. As the law now stands, it makes second-class veterans—solely on the arbitrary basis of retirement date—of thousands of retired members of our armed forces."

Christmas Will Be White In Much Of U.S.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blanket of white covered wide areas in the northern half of the country today in the wake of pre-Christmas snow storms that hammered the East and Midwest.

The heavies snowfalls of the season hit the Midwest yesterday, dumping up to a foot and more of snow from the northern plains to the Great Lakes.

The storm, of the same pattern that whipped the Northeast Monday and Tuesday, disrupted transportation, discouraged holiday motor travel and inconvenienced millions. The blowing, drifting snow added to the woes of last-minute Christmas shoppers.

The storms took a heavy death toll. Most of the 38 deaths reported were in traffic accidents on snow-covered highways or from heart attacks due to over-exertion while shoveling snow.

At least 23 persons died in the Eastern storms. In Wisconsin, where snow piled up to more than a foot in many area, 10 deaths were blamed on the storm. Chicago, which was hit by more than seven inches of snow, reported five storm deaths.

The snow in the Midwest, lashed by gusty winds which built huge drifts in many areas, lost much of its power during the early morning. Driving conditions still were hazardous.

De Gaulle Wins Big School Issue Test

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's power in France was demonstrated again today by an overwhelming victory in an issue that has split the nation several times in the past half century—state aid to Catholic schools.

The National Assembly by a 427-71 vote approved a government plan increasing financial assistance to private schools despite only lukewarm enthusiasm by supporters and the united opposition of Socialists and Communists.

Under the plan, the government gets a say in how the money is spent. About 20 per cent of French children go to private schools, most of them Roman Catholic.

Premier Michel Debre, spokesman for de Gaulle in Parliament, staked the life of his government in the fight. Education Minister Andre Buoloche quit because the government, to placate critics, modified the controls it would have had over the funds.

Backers of the church schools went along with the government though many were concerned that the increased subsidies would tempt authorities to exert more state control.

Under the government bill, private schools are given the choice of being integrated into the state system or signing a contract allowing the state control over their teaching in exchange for aid.

During a night-long debate, all the old arguments about the separation of state and church were raised.

The new program is expected to increase subsidies to private schools from six billion francs —$12,300,000—to about 20 billion—41 million dollars.

School Uses Trade Stamps To Get Buses

PROVO, Utah (UPI)—The St. Francis Catholic School here is using two brand-new buses that it got by collecting trading stamps—7,708,800 of them.

"It was somewhat unusual," admitted an official of the Sperry and Hutchinson Co.

The marathon stamp trade-in was engineered by Father Colman Colloty, OFM, principal of the school, after a front wheel fell off one of the school's old buses.

He wrote the trading stamp company asking how many stamps for something that wasn't in the catalog—the buses. The company wasn't quite sure, but it told Father Colloty to start collecting anyway. Then it decided that 6,424 books was just about the right stamp price.

Officials admitted the figure was somewhat arbitrary.

In a six-month campaign, the parish sent letters to the 8,000 Catholic schools in the nation saying "we don't want your money—we just want your trading stamps." The result was a flood of the tiny green stamps.

PELT PUZZLE SOLVED: PLANE HATCH OPENED

SAN MARINO (AP) — The mystery of why residents were pelted with pelts has been solved.

Five gunny sacks of Persian lamb and muskrat furs fell over a three-block area Tuesday.

Authorities investigated and reported this story:

A twin-engine converted World War II bomber took off Tuesday for Uruguay loaded with 17 bundles of furs and cosmetics. Over the San Gabriel Valley a hatch apparently popped open and the five sacks went flying.

The pilot, Edwardo Jimenez, kept right on going — apparently unaware that he had lost part of his cargo.

Driving Class Set For Adults

A course in driver instruction will begin at Sir Francis Drake High School Jan. 5, an offering of the Tamalpais Adult Evening School.

Instructor M. T. Shepherd will be in charge of the class on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. The course, ending Feb. 16, includes 24 hours of class works, 16 of which is behind-the-wheel training.

Enrollment may be made, Principal Harry G. Russell said, up to and including Jan. 5 at Drake. The fee is $18.

Kerr Says U.C. Won't Restrict Admissions

BERKELEY (AP) — President Clark Kerr declared today the University of California does not intend to restrict admission to only high school graduates with an A scholastic average.

"Such an action certainly would be overly restrictive and a disservice to the people of California," Kerr said in a statement.

Kerr, who heads the university system embracing Berkeley, Los Angeles and other campuses, said misunderstanding had developed on admission policy in reports on the so-called master plan being developed for California higher education policy.

His statement followed a day after Pete Elliott quit as California's football coach to become coach at Illinois in the Big Ten Conference. Rigid academic admission standards at California were reported to be a factor in Elliott's decision.

Kerr said in his statement:

"Not only do we intend to continue and to expand our undergraduate teaching program, but our corresponding athletic and student activities program as well.

"Our position is based on a conviction that the undergraduate educational opportunity offered by the university should be available to the future leaders of the state in many areas—not only for those in technical, professional and scholarly fields, but also to potential leaders of business, industry, agriculture and civil life as well."

Declaring he wanted to clarify the university position on admission, Kerr said:

"It is often reported that the university accepts the top 15 per cent of high school graduates. The master plan for higher education, recently adopted by the university and the state Board of Education, recommends a 12.5 percentage. Certainly this does not represent a drastic change.

"For many years the university has used a B average in specified academic subjects as the principal basis for admission.

"The master plan does not question this requirement. There have been no suggestions that the university limit itself to A students.

"Such action certainly would be overly restrictive and a disservice to the people of California."

COUPLE OF DRINKS...

How To Set The Stage For Holiday Tragedy

By ED OLSEN

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Driving to a C2-H5-OH gathering tonight?

A lot of people are. It's that jolly time of year when such gatherings are being held everywhere.

What's a C2-H5-OH gathering? It's how a chemist could describe the usual holiday party.

C2-H5-OH is the chemical formula for the colorless, almost odorless liquid known as ethyl alcohol. That's what is in the martini you'll be drinking tonight . . . and in every other beer, wine, whiskey, gin or vodka beverage served.

Naturally, when you arrive at the party, the thought uppermost in your mind is to drink sensibly.

You tell yourself the police and highway patrolmen are out in extra force these nights looking for drunken drivers.

And what an embarrassing inconvenience it would be to have your driver's license taken away . . . and maybe have the newspapers and radio stations tell everybody about it.

If you're inclined to be morbid . . . or perhaps if you've been really close to a bad auto accident . . . an awful picture may skip through your mind as you reach for the first glass.

At this point you take a quick swallow from the glass you've been holding. Then another.

Already, those awful mental pictures are gone.

You reach for another glass and remind yourself to keep an eye out for the cops on the way home.

And to hold your liquor . . . you don't want to talk too loudly or let your speech get thick.

Obviously, as long as your actions don't show you've been drinking, it's not affecting you.

You take the third glass, confident you can drive as well as anyone in the room. Probably better.

Yes, better. As a matter of fact, you're a better driver with a couple of belts than you are when you're stone sober. Anybody can see you're more alert and self confident now.

Just look how these other people at the party . . . many of whom ordinarily don't give you a second glance . . . now are hanging on your every word and finding you so interesting.

Yes siree, in only a half hour you're a changed man . . . and you've just set the stage for tragedy.

Hub Road Checks Net Seven Erring Drivers

San Anselmo police set up two holiday traffic check points last night and handed out seven citations.

Another 42 motorists were given written warnings for minor violations, reported Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani.

A total of 202 cars was stopped at the two check points, Chief Buchignani reported. Northbound traffic was stopped on Red Hill avenue at the Hub intersection, and eastbound traffic on Sir Francis Drake boulevard in front of the Tamalpais theater.

All the seven citations were for invalid driver licenses, the chief reported.

He said it is possible further such checks will be made in the Hub City during the holidays.

Decision On New Kayo Trial Pends

The Kayo Hallinan assault case, which ended in a hung jury on Dec. 2, was continued today until Jan. 4 for a decision on whether it will be re-tired.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court continued the case at the request of defense attorney Wallace S. Myers, who was out of town today.

The decision on whether Kayo should be re-tried is up to Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich. The district attorney said he wants to confer with the defense attorney and the judge before he decides whether to drop the charge or try the case again.

Hallinan, 22, son of attorney Vincent Hallinan of Ross, fractured the jaw of a Fairfax youth last May 29. He is accused of felony assault.

In the first trial, nine jurors found Kayo innocent, two voted him guilty of simple assault, and one held out for a felony assault conviction.

Greenbrae Driver Hurt In Collision

A sudden decision that more fuel was needed caused one driver to swerve into the path of another and collide on Highway 101 near the Greenbrae overpass Tuesday night.

Richardson Gibson Shaler, 57, of 57 Via la Cumbre, Greenbrae, suffered cuts and bruises when his nothbound car was struck by a vehicle driven by S. F. Rodseth, 60, of San Francisco. He refused medical attention.

Both cars were northbound, according to the California Highway Patrol. Rodseth later said he had overtaken Shaler, decided to get over to the shoulder and halt preparatory to finding a gas station, and gave a warning signal before turning right in front of Shaler.

Shaler said he saw the turn signal just before Rodseth swerved abruptly in front. Rodseth was cited on a charge of making an unsafe lane change.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed mixed today after a dull Christmas Eve session. Some stocks made wide moves.

Volume for the day was estimated at 2,500,000 shares compared with 2,890,000 yesterday.

Dutch Will Buy Starfighter Jets

THE HAGUE, Holland (UPI)—The Dutch government announced today it will buy nearly 400 million dollars worth of American Lockheed F104G Starfighter jets for its air force.

The decision ended weeks of controversy between factions favoring the Starfighter and those wanting the French-built Mirage jet.

The Starfighter will replace the Royal Dutch Air Force's American Thunderstreak fighter-bombers and Sabrejet fighters and its British Hawker hunter fighters.

The total Dutch order, probably coupled with a smaller Belgian purchase, will be for some 200 planes and spare parts costing nearly 400 million dollars.

Pakistan's 1958-59 tobacco crop increased by 16 million pounds or 7.9 per cent over '57-58.

D.A. DISCLOSURE:

Knight Asked Smuggle Case Prosecution

Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, through his personal aide, Oscar Jahnsen, first asked Marin to prosecute the Caryl Chessman book smuggling case, Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich reported today.

The conspiracy charges against Chessman's attorney George T. Davis and two other defendants fizzled yesterday when the state Supreme Court upheld the district court of appeals in tossing the charges out of court.

The book, "Face of Justice," was smuggled out of Death Row in February, 1957. That spring, Weissich said, he was called to Sacramento to the office of Richard McGee, head of the Department of Corrections. "The governor's personal representative asked me if I would undertake the prosecution and agreed to furnish me with an investigator," Weissich said.

Weissich presented the case to the Marin County Grand Jury, which indicted Davis, Prentice-Hall, Inc., and literary agent Joseph Longstreth.

But before the case came to trial in Marin, the district court of appeals ordered the case tossed out. The attorney general appealed to the supreme court, which yesterday upheld the district court.

This means the case is now closed. "I guess we're licked," admitted Weissich. "But you can't say I didn't try."

Douglas Refuses To Stay Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court today refused to stay them urder trial of Carole Tregoff in Los Angeles.

Miss Tregoff and Dr. R. Bernard Finch have been charged with conspiracy and murder in the shooting of Finch's estranged wife, Barbara, last July 18. Their case is now in court but a jury has not been selected.

Justice Douglas acted on an appeal from Los Angeles attorney Jerry Giesler. The petition contended there was no evidence that Miss Tregoff committed any crime in California.

Drunk Driver Gets Fine, Term In Jail

Raymond Ernest Arata, 30, Fairfax stonemason, must pay a $250 fine and spend five days in jail for his third drunken driving offense.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Arata yesterday, but gave him until Jan. 2 to pay the fine and start his jail term.

Arata was arrested at Belle avenue and Highway 101 in San Rafael on Nov. 8. He hau prior convictions in June of 1955 and in March of 1956.

Antone Mini, 45, of Patterson, Stanislaus County, must pay a $250 fine, not drive for the next 30 days, and remain on probation for six months. He was sentenced yesterday for drunken driving along Lincoln avenue in San Rafael on Sept. 9.

Water System At Muir Woods To Be Improved

The Marin Municipal Water District board last night decided to move ahead immediately with improvements to the La Puchet system which has frequently left its customers without water.

The system serves the Muir Woods Park area and is fed by springs.

The board approved general manager William R. Seeger's recommendations to install a new pumping plant and enlarge the system by installing about 1,650 feet of six-inch pipe and 750 feet of four-inch pipe. The project will cost about $15,000.

Seeger said the flow line that is feeding the Mill Valley reservoir would be tapped to provide the additional water for the La Puchet area.

This move is made possible by the project now in progress that will bring Alpine and Southern Marin water into the Mill Valley reservoir by new transmission lines and additional pumping facilities in the Mill Valley area, he said.

Construction of the new pumping plant for La Puchet will start immediately off the edge of Panoramic highway in the vicinity of Mountain House, Seeger said. The new facilities should be ready by next summer, he added.

gunman demanded. O'Brien opened the cash register and the intruder stuffed about $100 in cash into a shopping bag. He also took the whisky.

Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff of San Quentin expressed doubt, however, that Jameson could have been the holdup man. O'Brien said the gunman was wearing a tan jacket under a dark overcoat. Achuff pointed out that Jameson presumably would have had to hitchhike to San Francisco—there being no report of a car being stolen near the prison—and changed clothes somewhere before 9:25 p.m.

"The time element is too tight," declared Achuff.

Jameson, a former seaman from Los Angeles, was one of two gunmen who held up the Ritz Old Poodle Dog restaurant in San Francisco in July, 1957. He was sentenced to five years to life for that. He entered San Quentin on that conviction in October, 1957.

He was on parole for an earlier conviction for second degree burglary in Los Angeles County at the time of the Poodle Dog holdup. He first entered San Quentin in October, 1954, on a second degree burglary conviction in Los Angeles County, and had been out on parole only briefly when he ran afoul of the law again.

Jameson had been considered a "good risk" at San Quentin, said Achuff. He was assigned to work in the prison's sewage disposal plant on the dairy ranch grounds. The area is completely surrounded by the eight-foot-high fence.

Jameson is 5 feet, 9 inches tall, 200 pounds, with blue eyes, blond hair, and of stocky build.

Mail Vandals At Work In County

Pre-Christmas mail vandals are operating in various parts of the county, sheriff's deputies reported today.

In Mill Valley, somebody opened eight letters from one mailbox, found they were all Christmas cards, and did a crude job of trying to tape the envelope flaps back into place. Mr. and Mrs. Bert W. Alberts of 620 Eucaplyptus avenue found mail strewn about the street. Some had been replaced inside their mail box, with tape on the torn portions.

Jule Marie Devoto of 16 Shell road, Alto, told sheriff's deputies she saw two neighbor youngsters take mail from her box. Sgt. Guy Gibbs talked to the youngsters, aged 2 and 3, and asked the mother to keep an eye on the children.

Mrs. Charles O. Jones of 45 Diablo drive, Kentfield, found the ornamental iron Model T car torn from the top of her mailbox. Total damage is about $20. The ornament was eight inches high and a foot long.

In Greenbrae, Mrs. E. M. Nicholson reported that youngsters were putting eggs inside her mail box at 30 Corte Morada.

1957 Loma Verde Decor Contest Victors Win Again

Mr. and Mrs. Gino J. Caralli of 437 Alameda del Prado, Loma Verde, have again won the sweepstakes award in the Christmas lighting contest sponsored by the Loma Verde Homeowners Assn.

The Carallis won the same award in 1957, the first time the contest was held.

As winners, Mr. and Mrs. Caralli have been presented with a plaque by the association and a silver chafing dish donated by the Trousdale Development Co.

Honorable mention went to Mr. and Mrs. William Entwisle who were winners last year of the grand sweepstakes—the only prize awarded in the contest.

They fluttered in sorrow above the edge of the box where Smitty used to "hold court."

Christian, Jewish Holidays Coincide

NEW YORK (AP) — The eight-day Jewish holiday Hanukka and Christmas coincide this year—the last time this century.

The Jewish holiday is known as the festival of lights and as the days of dedication. It is a 2,000-year-old tradition commemorating a victory of Jews over the Syrian King Antiochus.

Only twice before this century—in 1921 and 1910—have the two holidays coincided. Hanukka's beginning is based on the lunar calendar.

John L. Robertson Dies Unexpectedly At Kentfield Home

John L. Robertson Sr., 74, of 219 Kent avenue, Kentfield, a retired gardener and Marin County resident since 1930, died unexpectedly at his home yesterday, apparently of a heart attack.

Robertson's body was discovered at about 5:30 p.m. by his wife, Betsy, when she returned home after a brief shopping trip. He had been ill for a month and suffered from a chronic heart condition.

Besides his wife, Robertson is survived by three daughters and a son, Mrs. Fred Maydole of Novato, Mrs. George Lagomarsino, Mrs. Donald Zubler and John L. Robertson Jr., of San Rafael, and by seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Robertson, a native of Scotland, had been self-employed as a gardener in Marin County until his retirement several years ago. He had continued working part-time until about one month ago.

Robertson was a veteran of World War I, having served in France with the Scottish Black Watch division. He was a member and past noble grand of Mt. Tamalpais Lodge 399, Independent Order of Odd Fellows and a member of Mt. Horeb Encampment 106 and San Rafael Canton 39.

Funeral services under auspices of the Odd Fellows lodge will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Interment will be in Mt. Tamalpais Memorial Park, San Rafael.

Final Rites Slated For Marinite's Kin

Funeral rites for Mrs. Laura Kinloch Dunsing, 83, of Ukiah will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Eversole Mortuary there.

Mrs. Dunsing, sister of Joseph Kinloch of San Anselmo, died Tuesday in a Ukiah hospital. She was born at Hopland and was a resident of Mendocino County throughout her life. She and her husband, Ernest, celebrated their golden wedding in 1957.

Besides her husband and her brother in San Anselmo, she leaves another brother, George Kinloch of Ukiah, and three sisters, Mrs. Agnes Saum of Bakersfield, Mrs. Eva Johnson of Albion and Mrs. Mary Goodrich of Cloverdale.

Lillian M. Higgins Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Lillian M. Higgins, 83, of 7 Corrillo drive, San Rafael, a resident here for seven years, died today at a local hospital after a long illness.

She was a native of Missouri and member of the Christian Church of San Rafael. Her husband was the late Alfred I. Higgins.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Alfabelle Douglas of San Rafael, a business office employee of the Independent-Journal, and a sister, Mrs. Sadie Dillon of Garden City, Kan.

Funeral and interment will be at Stafford, Kan. Harry M. Williams Mortuary is in charge of local arrangements.

Visitor To Marin Dies Unexpectedly

Mrs. Hattye Woodard of Kelso, Wash., died unexpectedly of a heart attack yesterday at the home of her son, Joseph Woodard of Point Reyes Station. She was 69.

Mrs. Woodard, a widow, had been visiting here about three weeks. Another son, Frank Woodard, lives in Forest Knolls, and a daughter, Olivia Bowcott, is in Alaska.

Mrs. Woodard was a native of Tennessee.

Private family services were held at Keaton's, San Rafael. Interment will be in Kelso, Wash.

Final Rites Held For Ex-Marinite

Funeral services for Mrs. Hannah Margaret Beaumont, 66, former San Anselmo resident and a frequent visitor to Marin, were held Monday in Pacific Grove.

Mrs. Beaumont died in a Pacific Grove hospital after long illness.

She resided in San Anselmo until moving to the Monterey peninsula about 20 years ago, and had been a frequent visitor since then at the home of her sister, Mrs. William A. Carr, at 50 Yolanda drive, San Anselmo. She was active in civic organizations in Monterey County and was a life member of the Parent-Teacher Assn.

Mrs. Beaumont was the widow of John Beaumont. Besides Mrs. Carr, she leaves several other sisters and brothers; two daughters, two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

"The time element is too tight," declared Achuff.

Jameson, a former seaman from Los Angeles, was one of two gunmen who held up the Ritz Old Poodle Dog restaurant in San Francisco in July, 1957. He was sentenced to five years to life for that. He entered San Quentin on that conviction in October, 1957.

He was on parole for an earlier conviction for second degree burglary in Los Angeles County at the time of the Poodle Dog holdup. He first entered San Quentin in October, 1954, on a second degree burglary conviction in Los Angeles County, and had been out on parole only briefly when he ran afoul of the law again.

Jameson had been considered a "good risk" at San Quentin, said Achuff. He was assigned to work in the prison's sewage disposal plant on the dairy ranch grounds. The area is completely surrounded by the eight-foot-high fence.

Jameson is 5 feet, 9 inches tall, 200 pounds, with blue eyes, blond hair, and of stocky build.

Mail Vandals At Work In County

Pre-Christmas mail vandals are operating in various parts of the county, sheriff's deputies reported today.

In Mill Valley, somebody opened eight letters from one mailbox, found they were all Christmas cards, and did a crude job of trying to tape the envelope flaps back into place. Mr. and Mrs. Bert W. Alberts of 620 Eucaplyptus avenue found mail strewn about the street. Some had been replaced inside their mail box, with tape on the torn portions.

Jule Marie Devoto of 16 Shell road, Alto, told sheriff's deputies she saw two neighbor youngsters take mail from her box. Sgt. Guy Gibbs talked to the youngsters, aged 2 and 3, and asked the mother to keep an eye on the children.

Mrs. Charles O. Jones of 45 Diablo drive, Kentfield, found the ornamental iron Model T car torn from the top of her mailbox. Total damage is about $20. The ornament was eight inches high and a foot long.

In Greenbrae, Mrs. E. M. Nicholson reported that youngsters were putting eggs inside her mail box at 30 Corte Morada.

1957 Loma Verde Decor Contest Victors Win Again

Mr. and Mrs. Gino J. Caralli of 437 Alameda del Prado, Loma Verde, have again won the sweepstakes award in the Christmas lighting contest sponsored by the Loma Verde Homeowners Assn.

The Carallis won the same award in 1957, the first time the contest was held.

As winners, Mr. and Mrs. Caralli have been presented with a plaque by the association and a silver chafing dish donated by the Trousdale Development Co.

Honorable mention went to Mr. and Mrs. William Entwisle who were winners last year of the grand sweepstakes—the only prize awarded in the contest.

TREE

569 Brideway walked past "Smitty's" tree. It was just too bare, and Hughes missed the usual greeting from an old friend.

He hung a memorial card on the tree. For awhile it was the only one.

Then, rapidly, throughout the day, other friends fastened cards to the tree.

They fluttered in sorrow above the edge of the box where Smitty used to "hold court."

Christian, Jewish Holidays Coincide

NEW YORK (AP) — The eight-day Jewish holiday Hanukka and Christmas coincide this year—the last time this century.

The Jewish holiday is known as the festival of lights and as the days of dedication. It is a 2,000-year-old tradition commemorating a victory of Jews over the Syrian King Antiochus.

Only twice before this century—in 1921 and 1910—have the two holidays coincided. Hanukka's beginning is based on the lunar calendar.

John L. Robertson Dies Unexpectedly At Kentfield Home

John L. Robertson Sr., 74, of 219 Kent avenue, Kentfield, a retired gardener and Marin County resident since 1930, died unexpectedly at his home yesterday, apparently of a heart attack.

Robertson's body was discovered at about 5:30 p.m. by his wife, Betsy, when she returned home after a brief shopping trip. He had been ill for a month and suffered from a chronic heart condition.

Besides his wife, Robertson is survived by three daughters and a son, Mrs. Fred Maydole of Novato, Mrs. George Lagomarsino, Mrs. Donald Zubler and John L. Robertson Jr., of San Rafael, and by seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Robertson, a native of Scotland, had been self-employed as a gardener in Marin County until his retirement several years ago. He had continued working part-time until about one month ago.

Robertson was a veteran of World War I, having served in France with the Scottish Black Watch division. He was a member and past noble grand of Mt. Tamalpais Lodge 399, Independent Order of Odd Fellows and a member of Mt. Horeb Encampment 106 and San Rafael Canton 39.

Funeral services under auspices of the Odd Fellows lodge will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Interment will be in Mt. Tamalpais Memorial Park, San Rafael.

Final Rites Slated For Marinite's Kin

Funeral rites for Mrs. Laura Kinloch Dunsing, 83, of Ukiah will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Eversole Mortuary there.

Mrs. Dunsing, sister of Joseph Kinloch of San Anselmo, died Tuesday in a Ukiah hospital. She was born at Hopland and was a resident of Mendocino County throughout her life. She and her husband, Ernest, celebrated their golden wedding in 1957.

Besides her husband and her brother in San Anselmo, she leaves another brother, George Kinloch of Ukiah, and three sisters, Mrs. Agnes Saum of Bakersfield, Mrs. Eva Johnson of Albion and Mrs. Mary Goodrich of Cloverdale.

Lillian M. Higgins Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Lillian M. Higgins, 83, of 7 Corrillo drive, San Rafael, a resident here for seven years, died today at a local hospital after a long illness.

She was a native of Missouri and member of the Christian Church of San Rafael. Her husband was the late Alfred I. Higgins.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Alfabelle Douglas of San Rafael, a business office employee of the Independent-Journal, and a sister, Mrs. Sadie Dillon of Garden City, Kan.

Funeral and interment will be at Stafford, Kan. Harry M. Williams Mortuary is in charge of local arrangements.

Visitor To Marin Dies Unexpectedly

Mrs. Hattye Woodard of Kelso, Wash., died unexpectedly of a heart attack yesterday at the home of her son, Joseph Woodard of Point Reyes Station. She was 69.

Mrs. Woodard, a widow, had been visiting here about three weeks. Another son, Frank Woodard, lives in Forest Knolls, and a daughter, Olivia Bowcott, is in Alaska.

Mrs. Woodard was a native of Tennessee.

Private family services were held at Keaton's, San Rafael. Interment will be in Kelso, Wash.

Final Rites Held For Ex-Marinite

Funeral services for Mrs. Hannah Margaret Beaumont, 66, former San Anselmo resident and a frequent visitor to Marin, were held Monday in Pacific Grove.

Mrs. Beaumont died in a Pacific Grove hospital after long illness.

She resided in San Anselmo until moving to the Monterey peninsula about 20 years ago, and had been a frequent visitor since then at the home of her sister, Mrs. William A. Carr, at 50 Yolanda drive, San Anselmo. She was active in civic organizations in Monterey County and was a life member of the Parent-Teacher Assn.

Mrs. Beaumont was the widow of John Beaumont. Besides Mrs. Carr, she leaves several other sisters and brothers; two daughters, two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

U.S. Still Pays Out Pensions For Civil War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government continues to pay out more than $3,360,000 a year in Civil War pensions even though the last veteran of that bloody conflict has been crossed off the pension rolls.

The death of Walter W. Williams of Houston, Tex., the last surviving Civil War veteran, has not closed the books on Civil War costs.

Still drawing pensions are more than 4,000 veterans' dependents, including Williams' daughter. They will continue to receive them for the rest of their lives.

PENSION COSTS

Through 1958 the cost of all Civil War pension payments had amounted to $8,548,563,000, with most of the money going to veterans of the Union army.

Congress did not make Confederate survivors eligible for pensions until May, 1958. Less than a thousand widows and children of Confederate soldiers are still alive.

The normal pension for widows is $65 a month. The payment for children is $73.15. Until his death last Saturday, Williams received the maximum of $135.45 a month.

MOST COSTLY

From the standpoint of federal payments to veterans, the Civil War was the most costly in history until the two World Wars. Payments to World War II veterans already have passed the 51-billion-dollar mark. The World War I outlay has been more than 23 billion.

Revolutionary War veterans and dependents drew pensions for 136 years, the last one dying in 1906. Payments for the war of 1812 continued for 134 years, ending in 1946.

Still on the pension rolls are dependents of veterans of the Mexican War (1846-1848) and the Indian wars that lasted from 1860 through 1898, as well as the Spanish-American conflict.

The Revolutionary War cost about 70 million dollars in pensions, the War of 1812 about 9 million. Other costs to date: Mexican War, 64 million dollars; Indian wars 119 million; Spanish-American, more than four billion; Korean War, more than five billion.

Three Win Awards For Yule Decor

San Rafael Meadows Improvement Assn. today announced winners in its three-way contest for home Christmas decorations.

The award for best window went to Ray Williams of 37 Corrillo drive. That for best light was given Faye Cashada of 201 Las Flores avenue. That for best scene using cut-out figures was awarded Roland McCubbins of 314 Las Flores.

Ed Jacobs of 311 Corrillo drive took second in the window contest; Joe Faustine of 201 Las Gallinas avenue, second in lighting, and A. A. Jopson of 317 Corrillo drive, second for display of cut-out figures.

Honorable mention went to Ted Thompson, 314 Corrillo drive; George Hancock, 39 Corrillo drive; Chauncey Forsland, 33 Corrillo; James Wardell, 109 Corrillo, and Gini Sessi, 1 Las Huertas court.

Judges were Gen. and Mrs. R. E. Mittelstaedt of Greenbrae and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Phillips of Belvedere.

Nicasio Dam Site Clearing Bids Sought

The Marin Muncipal Water District board last night called for bids Jan. 13 for the clearing of the Nicasio Dam site—the first phase in construction of the four million dollar project.

Clearing of the land is expected to cost about $10,000. Bids for the actual construction will be called for later, William R. Seeger, district general manager said.

COURT DECISION

A decision in Marin Superior Court Tuesday paved the way for the call for bids. Judge Raymond Sherwin of Solano County ruled that the district was justified in going ahead with condemnation of land for the reservoir.

The proposed dam will form a huge lake extending about four miles, almost to the community of Nicasio.

Several Nicasio ranch owners fought the proposal on grounds that the water district had other ample sources of water instead of taking 1,700 acres of their dairy land.

APPEAL SLATED

Judge Sherwin held the district cannot feasibly get supplies from the Russian River within the immediate future.

The district decided to proceed with the project, although the attorney for the protesting ranchers said he would appeal the court's ruling.

Jury trials will be set, meanwhile, to determine the amount the water district must pay each of the owners to acquire the land.

ABNORMAL REACTIONS

Research Team Finds Yule Breeds Problems

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Christmas in the United States has become a breeder of mental depression and infantile behavior and a reminder of an unhappy past for some people, says a psychiatric research team.

It offers an excuse for some wierd doings by individuals with personality troubles. It can be a headache for people who don't want to play the holiday game as it has developed in American culture, the researchers add.

Society's rules and regulations now hold that at Christmas time everybody should be absolutely happy; everybody should receive gifts; adults should exchange presents as symbols of friendship, and family ties should be renewed, no matter how ragged they may have become.

There always are people who dislike one or more of these rules, and they show their disapproval by abnormal reactions, the psychiatrists say.

In drawing this picture of the other side of Christmas, the researchers say doctors can expect a spate of complaining patients who need mainly understanding and advice.

The researchers were Dr. Nyla J. Cole and Dr. Herbert B. Fowler, University of Utah psychiatrists, and Orla M. Shaw and Helen Ratcliffe, psychiatric social workers.

This group found 30 to 90 per cent of patients in the university's psychiatric clinic and a similar percentage among the school's outpatient medical clinic had Christmas reactions. The report was published in the American Practitioner and Digestive Treatment, a medical journal.

Two clinic patients were a mountainously fat woman and her skinny husband. As Dec. 25 approached, the woman ate faster and faster, the man got madder and madder.

Another patient let down his inhibitions by becoming exhibitionistic. He joined a nudist colony and now spends the holiday seasons there.

A woman patient received an extraordinary large number of gifts but was still unsatisfied. Although she already had stretched her budget to the breaking point, she went out and bought herself another gift on Dec. 26.

A father with limited finances felt sexually devaluated because he couldn't buy gifts for everybody. He reacted with exhibitionism. Now, say the researchers, every Christmas finds him in trouble with the law.

People such as these sometimes can be helped by convincing them that their plight is a common one, and that they are not unique in being unhappy

Hamilton's Newspaper Profiles Familiar Face

Each week the Hamilton Air Force Base weekly newspaper, the Scramble, publishes a profile of the week.

Usually, the brief biography deals with an outstanding or unusual Air Force man or woman on the base.

This week's profile reached out beyond the confines of the base and presented the story of a man familiar to all of us.

The Independent - Journal congratulates the Scramble on its choice of a subject, and reprints this week's profile for its readers:

Master Sergeant Kris Kringle is seen in a lot of places these days and his picture is one of the best known in the world.

Kris has been a member of the armed forces for more years than he cares to remember.

Under questioning, he admitted that he was at Valley Forge with George Washington in a forlorn winter long years ago. He served under Jackson at New Orleans.

Nearly a hundred years ago he was found fighting on both sides, wearing sometimes the blue, sometimes the grey. He was forgiven for he brought such a load of cheer to his fellow soldiers.

He was in the Indian wars and on the cold prairies he passed out good humor and special rations with unstinted energy. Sometimes he had time to comfort our men as they lay dying of yellow fever in the Cuban swamps.

In December, 1917, he boarded the transports and was on hand in the rains and mud of what was laughingly called "Sunny France."

Somehow he was a member of the ships' crews that dared the dangers of the deep and hidden submarines to get our men to France.

Kris found his work was really cut out for him in World War II where, because of the numbers of men scattered over most of the world, he had to be in a million different places at the same time.

But he was always faithful—on land or on the high seas—bringing the message of a better life, of peace with honor, of a loving Father-God, to all our men and women in uniform.

He even served a hitch in Korea. And those Korean winters were no picnics.

Kris is the one indispensible person in the service.

We can get along without a lot of things we call comforts, but the heartiest sound still is Kris with his cheery "Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good night."

Woman Hit By Car, Suffers Broken Foot

A 53-year-old Corte Madera woman suffered three fractures of the left foot last night when struck by a car at First street and Montecito drive in Corte Madera.

The victim, Mrs. Madeleine Garland of 25 Corte Madera avenue, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Police Chief Frank L. Nelson said Mrs. Garland was walking diagonally across the intersection when hit by an auto driven by Brant M. Miller, 19, of 311 Willow aveue, Corte Madera. There is no pedestrian crosswalk at the intersection.

Nelson said Miller, a College of Marin student, was making a left turn from First street onto Montecito when the accident happened in the rain at 5:55 p.m. He was not cited.

Russia Agrees To Negotiations On Lend-Lease Debt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia has agreed to start negotiations here Jan. 11 on a settlement on its 15-year-old lend-lease debt.

The United States considers the negotiations a test of Soviet interest in resolving East-West issues.

A State Department announcement yesterday disclosed that Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov will head the Soviet delegation. This means that Menshikov will be returning to his post here after more than two months in Moscow. There had been speculation he might be reassigned.

The State Department assigned Ambassador Charles Bohlen, a special assistant to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, to negotiate for the United States.

Car Hits Pole; Novato Power Knocked Out

Electric power to a section of Novato was knocked out for a half hour yesterday afternoon when an automobile struck a utility pole and caused a short circuit that blew two fuses.

The driver of the car, a Navy man, emerged unscathed and his passenger suffered only a slight cut.

Lee Wise, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. manager in Novato, said power was out to about 25 customers from the crash at 2:50 p.m. until 3:21 p.m.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Joseph D. Brown of Vallejo, the passenger, was taken to a private physician for treatment of a cut near the eye.

The driver, Lee Roy Brown, 22, of Black Point, stationed on board the USS Hollister, said he was doing 45 to 50 miles per hour when he swerved to avoid a collision with a slower moving vehicle, skidded, ran off the road and struck the pole. Both men landed in soft earth.

Water Supply For Riviera Marin Set

The Marin Municipal Water District yesterday approved a pipeline extension agreement with Latipac Inc., to furnish water for the vast Riviera Marin homes development in east San Rafael.

William R. Seeger, general manager of the district, said a new transmission line would have to be installed to carry water from the Terra Linda area to the development on the McNear ranch property.

The project will cost Latipac about $350,000, Seeger said.

The district decided to proceed with the project, although the attorney for the protesting ranchers said he would appeal the court's ruling.

Jury trials will be set, meanwhile, to determine the amount the water district must pay each of the owners to acquire the land.

The Arkansas Press Association is believed to be one of the oldest organizations of its kind in the U. S. It was formed in 1873.

ABNORMAL REACTIONS

Research Team Finds Yule Breeds Problems

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Christmas in the United States has become a breeder of mental depression and infantile behavior and a reminder of an unhappy past for some people, says a psychiatric research team.

It offers an excuse for some wierd doings by individuals with personality troubles. It can be a headache for people who don't want to play the holiday game as it has developed in American culture, the researchers add.

Society's rules and regulations now hold that at Christmas time everybody should be absolutely happy; everybody should receive gifts; adults should exchange presents as symbols of friendship, and family ties should be renewed, no matter how ragged they may have become.

There always are people who dislike one or more of these rules, and they show their disapproval by abnormal reactions, the psychiatrists say.

In drawing this picture of the other side of Christmas, the researchers say doctors can expect a spate of complaining patients who need mainly understanding and advice.

The researchers were Dr. Nyla J. Cole and Dr. Herbert B. Fowler, University of Utah psychiatrists, and Orla M. Shaw and Helen Ratcliffe, psychiatric social workers.

This group found 30 to 90 per cent of patients in the university's psychiatric clinic and a similar percentage among the school's outpatient medical clinic had Christmas reactions. The report was published in the American Fractitioner and Digestive Treatment, a medical journal.

Two clinic patients were a mountainously fat woman and her skinny husband. As Dec. 25 approached, the woman ate faster and faster, the man got madder and madder.

Another patient let down his inhibitions by becoming exhibitionistic. He joined a nudist colony and now spends the holiday seasons there.

A woman patient received an extraordinary large number of gifts but was still unsatisfied. Although she already had stretched her budget to the breaking point, she went out and bought herself another gift on Dec. 26.

A father with limited finances felt sexually devaluated because he couldn't buy gifts for everybody. He reacted with exhibitionism. Now, say the researchers, every Christmas finds him in trouble with the law.

People such as these sometimes can be helped by convincing them that their plight is a common one, and that they are not unique in being unhappy

Hamilton's Newspaper Profiles Familiar Face

Each week the Hamilton Air Force Base weekly newspaper, the Scramble, publishes a profile of the week.

Usually, the brief biography deals with an outstanding or unusual Air Force man or woman on the base.

This week's profile reached out beyond the confines of the base and presented the story of a man familiar to all of us.

The Independent - Journal congratulates the Scramble on its choice of a subject, and reprints this week's profile for its readers:

Master Sergeant Kris Kringle is seen in a lot of places these days and his picture is one of the best known in the world.

Kris has been a member of the armed forces for more years than he cares to remember.

Under questioning, he admitted that he was at Valley Forge with George Washington in a forlorn winter long years ago. He served under Jackson at New Orleans.

Nearly a hundred years ago he was found fighting on both sides, wearing sometimes the blue, sometimes the grey. He was forgiven for he brought such a load of cheer to his fellow soldiers.

He was in the Indian wars and on the cold prairies he passed out good humor and special rations with unstinted energy. Sometimes he had time to comfort our men as they lay dying of yellow fever in the Cuban swamps.

In December, 1917, he boarded the transports and was on hand in the rains and mud of what was laughingly called "Sunny France."

Somehow he was a member of the ships' crews that dared the dangers of the deep and hidden submarines to get our men to France.

Kris found his work was really cut out for him in World War II where, because of the numbers of men scattered over most of the world, he had to be in a million different places at the same time.

But he was always faithful—on land or on the high seas—bringing the message of a better life, of peace with honor, of a loving Father-God, to all our men and women in uniform.

He even served a hitch in Korea. And those Korean winters were no picnics.

Kris is the one indispensible person in the service.

We can get along without a lot of things we call comforts, but the heartiest sound still is Kris with his cheery "Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good night."

Woman Hit By Car, Suffers Broken Foot

A 53-year-old Corte Madera woman suffered three fractures of the left foot last night when struck by a car at First street and Montecito drive in Corte Madera.

The victim, Mrs. Madeleine Garland of 25 Corte Madera avenue, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Police Chief Frank L. Nelson said Mrs. Garland was walking diagonally across the intersection when hit by an auto driven by Brant M. Miller, 19, of 311 Willow aveue, Corte Madera. There is no pedestrian crosswalk at the intersection.

Nelson said Miller, a College of Marin student, was making a left turn from First street onto Montecito when the accident happened in the rain at 5:55 p.m. He was not cited.

Russia Agrees To Negotiations On Lend-Lease Debt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia has agreed to start negotiations here Jan. 11 on a settlement on its 15-year-old lend-lease debt.

The United States considers the negotiations a test of Soviet interest in resolving East-West issues.

A State Department announcement yesterday disclosed that Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov will head the Soviet delegation. This means that Menshikov will be returning to his post here after more than two months in Moscow. There had been speculation he might be reassigned.

The State Department assigned Ambassador Charles Bohlen, a special assistant to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, to negotiate for the United States.

Car Hits Pole; Novato Power Knocked Out

Electric power to a section of Novato was knocked out for a half hour yesterday afternoon when an automobile struck a utility pole and caused a short circuit that blew two fuses.

The driver of the car, a Navy man, emerged unscathed and his passenger suffered only a slight cut.

Lee Wise, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. manager in Novato, said power was out to about 25 customers from the crash at 2:50 p.m. until 3:21 p.m.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Joseph D. Brown of Vallejo, the passenger, was taken to a private physician for treatment of a cut near the eye.

The driver, Lee Roy Brown, 22, of Black Point, stationed on board the USS Hollister, said he was doing 45 to 50 miles per hour when he swerved to avoid a collision with a slower moving vehicle, skidded, ran off the road and struck the pole. Both men landed in soft earth.

Water Supply For Riviera Marin Set

The Marin Municipal Water District yesterday approved a pipeline extension agreement with Latipac Inc., to furnish water for the vast Riviera Marin homes development in east San Rafael.

William R. Seeger, general manager of the district, said a new transmission line would have to be installed to carry water from the Terra Linda area to the development on the McNear ranch property.

The project will cost Latipac about $350,000, Seeger said.

Shrine Tilt Promises Thrills; Both Sides Loaded With Stars

HANLEY

Enthusiasm was high in East and West football camps at Santa Clara and Stanford today. It was the first full day of practice. Following their arrival Tuesday evening, the players spent yesterday morning visiting Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children and did not assemble at their respective camps until mid-afternoon.

"This is as fine a squad as I've ever been associated with," said East Head Coach Duffy Daugherty at his headquarters on the Santa Clara campus. "We have speed, size, passing, receiving and running. "We'll do our best to make this one of the games to remember in 'Football's Finest Hour.'"

Daugherty proved his adeptness at coaching an all-star squad last year when the East defeated the West 26-14. He again has the material for the same combination of running and passing featured in his multiple offense.

Meek, heading the West coaching contingent for the first time, plays an open-style game. With Don Meredith, his own sensational passer from Southern Methodist, Meek hopes to provide a blitz on Jan. 2 in Kezar Stadium.

JOHN MICHELOSEN, one of Daugherty's assistant East coaches, believes the No. 1 East quarterback George Izo is "a skyscraper guy who rates with Meredith."

"Izo," conceded Meek, "may be a bigger boy than Meredith, but Don will do all right. He is the finest college quarterback I have ever seen."

Actually, Izo at 6-2 is an inch shorter than Meredith who is 6-3, but Izo at 210 outweighs Meredith who is 195.

IF IZO, now 100 per cent healthy, had not had early injuries, Notre Dame undoubtedly would have had a winning season.

Meredith's three-year performance at SMU, during which he completed 61 per cent of his passes, was phenomenal. He throws short or long passes, on the run or from the pocket.

The Izo-Meredith duel should be one of the real thrills in the 35th playing of the charity classic. But that won't be the only one.

The fans will have an opportunity to compare the speed running of Iowa's Bob Jeter with that of Dick Bass from the College of Pacific.

They also will be able to rate the line smashing fullback power of the East's Bob White and Bob Jarus with that of the West's Jack Spikes.

The ability of East and West ends, particularly Notre Dame's Monte Stickles and Stanford's Chris Burford, will come under close scrutiny. Among those keeping a sharp eye on Stickles will be Red Hickey, 49er coach. Stickles was the first draft choice of the local pros.

DESPITE his 61 receptions for 756 yards, which led the collegiate ranks this year, Burford was passed over by the 49ers who obviously feel that Stickles is the better all-around man.

Stickles is 6-4, 230; Burford is 6-3, 200; both are 21. The East-West game will furnish the perfect setting for the fans to make their own judgment.

Andy Kerr believes the 49ers drafted one of the best college players of the year in Stickles. Kerr says Stickles not only is a great receiver, fine defensive man but a good place kicker.

Cuban Wins Title Shot

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Luis Rodriguez's Christmas present appears to be a shot at the world welterweight championship, and he gave it to himself.

The Cuban buzzsaw, ranked No. 2 in the division, won a unanimous decision over Garnet "Sugar" Hart in the 10-round main event at the Miami Beach Auditorium last night. His perpetual-motion attack kept Sugar, ranked No. 3, befuddled much of the time.

Promoter Chris Dundee said he had been notified by NBA President Anthony Maceroni that unless champion Don Jordan defended his title by Jan. 15, the expiration time of his six-month period of grace, that the winner of last night's fight would meet the best other available contender here Feb. 10 for the championship.

Angelo Dundee, Rodriquez's trainer and American representative, said after the bouncy Cuban had beat Hart: "Now we want to fight for the title. We've beaten the No. 1 and No. 3 contenders, so what more could you ask?"

Rodriguez, who is unbeaten in 26 starts, previously had defeated Charley Scott, the No. 1 challenger, and Scott was defeated again the other night in New York.

Marty Stein, Hart's manager, complained after the fight that Hart had to go to Rodriguez to make the fight, otherwise "It would have smelled out the joint." Hart said the Cuban "couldn't break an egg" with his punching.

Hartman Hits 21 In Cage Tourney

For the second straight day Danny Tartman of the Tropps quintet walked off with individual scoring honors in Redwood High School's Christmas Basketball Tournament.

Hartman, who scored 17 points on Tuesday, picked up 21 more yesterday to lead the Tropps to a 32-30 victory over the Sharpshooters.

In other games the Defenders, paced by Ed Vigno's 16 points, defeated the Beats, 34-15; Playboys downed the Dumplers, 40-24; and the Coolies nipped the Noses, 33-32.

BOWLING

Starting tomorrow and continuing every weekend through February, Country Club Bowl in San Rafael will offer free smorgasbord to its customers between 1 and 3 p.m., it was announced this week by Manager Dave Rivera.

The special offer coincides with the Country Club's tournaments which started last week —the Trailorboat Singles Classic and Jackpot Doubles.

Rivera announced Jerry Graham's four-game scratch series of 817 leads the Trailorboat Classic. He has no handicap.

In second place is Mike Weddell with a 710 scratch and 100 handicap for 810. Next comes Holmes Christian with 768-28—796.

Leaders in the Jackpot Doubles, handicaps included, are Carl Beck-Low Holmes, 1290; Bill Boehm-Ed Digiosto, 1188; Ed Henry-Ted Henry, 1176. Beck bowled a 607 scratch three-game series in the double competition.

Otash Is Denied Another Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Private detective Fred Otash was denied a new trial yesterday, but he still has an appeal pending on his race horse dope conspiracy conviction.

Judge Leroy Dawson set sentencing for Feb. 9. Otash is free on bail.

He was convicted Dec. 11 of conspiring to dope the horse Wonder Boy, which ran at Santa Anita Race Track last March 4.

PRO GRID BATTLE OF MILLIONAIRES

College Stars Reaping Rich Harvest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The battle of the millionaires is in full sway in the fight for professional football talent — and some of the young college grid stars are reaping the harvest.

Don Burford, the nation's outstanding pass-catcher for Stanford in 1959, revealed today that he had signed a contract with the new Dallas entry in the American Football League.

"It was such a good contract, I couldn't turn it down," said Burford, who also had been drafted by the Cleveland Browns of the National loop. "They gave me a bonus payment right now. But to get the rest, I have to make the team."

Burford said he could not reveal major contents of the contract, other than it was a "good one."

Monte Stickles of Notre Dame, who also had been drafted by the Los Angeles Chargers and Montreal of the Canadian League, signed with the San Francisco 49ers of the National League.

"I liked the security of the National League, and the contract was a good one," said Stickles. "Now all I have to do is make the team."

Don Meredith, the crack quarterback from Southern Methodist, already has signed a $100,000 "personal services" contract with a Texas millionaire—which, if he plays football will make him the highest-paid player in the history of the game, with the possible exception of Red Grange.

The new American League was making some inroads in the signing of players. Fullback Jack Spikes of Texas Christian and end Henry Christopher of Southern Methodist, also have signed with the Dallas entry in the American League.

There are very few stars in the Shrine East-West game here today who haven't been drafted either by the National, American or Canadian leagues.

Some, like Stickles, chose the National because of the security involved. Others, like Burford and Meredith, took the cash in hand. Burford hopes to continue his law studies at Southern Methodist while playing for Dallas.

Bob Peterson, Oregon center, was drafted by the Houston Oilers.

"But they haven't contacted me yet—other than to say that someone will contact me," said Peterson.

Dean Look, Michigan State's great quarterback, signed a pro baseball contract for a bonus that was reported "around $60,000." He can't play football—without special consent.

SANTA ARRIVES EARLY WITH SPECIAL GIFT

Santa Claus arrived in Marin County a bit early this week because he had a special gift for the Sausalito Little League. Santa, in this case, was William Wachter, owner-president of the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito, who presented a check for $350. for sponsorship of a team in the Sausalito League. Accepting check from Santa Wachter is League President Dr. Robert M. Perlman. Officials looking on from steps are Willard "Red" Hall (lower) and Frank Bosl. Little Leaguers include Stephen Hill, Peter Perlman, Terry Carrillo, Steve Nau, Eric Mays, Mike Perlman and Bill Hall. Money will be used for uniforms and other equipment for one complete team which will bear the name, "Alta Mira Hotel." (Independent-Journal photo)

Players Visit Kids, Then Get Down To Heavy Work

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—East and West squads today began heavy workouts in preparation for their Jan. 2 battle with all remembering yesterday's annual visit to the Shrine Hospital for crippled children.

"There isn't anything we wouldn't do for those kids," declared Pittsburgh quarterback Ivan Toncic after he and the 47 other squad members spent the morning talking with the little patients.

Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State again heads the East coaching staff with his club favored to give him a second straight victory in the charity game for the benefit of the crippled children. Last year the East won 26-14.

The East can open with a line averaging 233 pounds or 14 more per man than the West can boast.

Both Daugherty and Head Coach Bill Meek of the West will have their own school's quarterback with Dean Look operating for the East and Don Meredith of Southern Methodist for the West.

The East also boasts Toncic and George Izo of Notre Dame in the quarterback department with Jim Walden of Wyoming the other signal caller for the West.

Notre Dame end Monty Stickles, who yesterday signed a pro contract with the San Francisco 49ers, proved a good pass catcher during the regular season and also is a fellow who can kick field goals and extra points.

On the East-West scene, Daugherty plans one workout daily at Santa Clara while Meek figures on two each day at Stanford.

Stengel National Bank Is Planned

GLENDALE (UPI)—Ever heard of the Stengel (as in Casey) National Bank?

You might find it listed in the phone book one of these days—a tribute to the manager of the New York Yankees, Casey Stengel.

It seems Casey is a member of the 11-man board of directors of the Glendale National Bank and his brother-in-law is John M. Lawson, board chairman. At a meeting of the board this week directors approved opening of a new branch in nearby North Hollywood.

"The Stengel National Bank" was suggested as the branch's name. Nothing's final yet, but with ole Casey involved anything can happen.

Bears Ready For L.A. Tourney Next

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

California and Utah, the best in the west, have completed their preliminary push-ups and are now ready to flex their muscles against other strong national contenders in next week's Holiday Basketball Tournaments.

The fourth-ranked Bears stretched their unbeaten string to 22 straight games by turning back touring Michigan State, 71-60, last night while sixth-ranked Utah outclassed College of the Pacific, 72-58, for its eighth straight triumph.

The Utes now head cross-country for the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C., where they will oppose Duke in the opening round next Monday. Other teams in the field are Wake Forest, Holy Cross, Dayton, North Carolina State, Minnesota and North Carolina.

California and West Virginia are the co-favorites in the Los Angeles Basketball Classic, which also gets rolling next Monday with the Bears opposing Illinois and second-ranked West Virginia meeting Stanford. Michigan, Northwestern, UCLA and Southern California also are entered.

IMHOFF STARS

Michigan State staged a game battle against California and held a 41-40 lead shortly after the start of the second half. But the Bears, led by Darrall Imhoff and Bill McClintock, then went on an eight-point tear to gain command.

Imhoff wound up as the game's high scorer with 18 points, one more than high-jumping Horace Walker of Michigan State.

East-West Game Officials Named

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Officials were named today for the Shrine East-West football game Jan. 2 at San Francisco.

The Pacific Intercollegiate Officiating Bureau named M. Edward Wagner head of the staff as referee. F. W. Hagerty was selected as umpire, Ted Fehring, head linesman; David Queen, field judge, and Rudolph Hansen, back judge.

WEEKEND FIGHTS

PRO GRID BATTLE OF MILLIONAIRES

College Stars Reaping Rich Harvest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The battle of the millionaires is in full sway in the fight for professional football talent — and some of the young college grid stars are reaping the harvest.

Don Burford, the nation's outstanding pass-catcher for Stanford in 1959, revealed today that he had signed a contract with the new Dallas entry in the American Football League.

"It was such a good contract, I couldn't turn it down," said Burford, who also had been drafted by the Cleveland Browns of the National loop. "They gave me a bonus payment right now. But to get the rest, I have to make the team."

Burford said he could not reveal major contents of the contract, other than it was a "good one."

Monte Stickles of Notre Dame, who also had been drafted by the Los Angeles Chargers and Montreal of the Canadian League, signed with the San Francisco 49ers of the National League.

"I liked the security of the National League, and the contract was a good one," said Stickles. "Now all I have to do is make the team."

Don Meredith, the crack quarterback from Southern Methodist, already has signed a $100,000 "personal services" contract with a Texas millionaire—which, if he plays football will make him the highest-paid player in the history of the game, with the possible exception of Red Grange.

The new American League was making some inroads in the signing of players. Fullback Jack Spikes of Texas Christian and end Henry Christopher of Southern Methodist, also have signed with the Dallas entry in the American League.

There are very few stars in the Shrine East-West game here today who haven't been drafted either by the National, American or Canadian leagues.

Some, like Stickles, chose the National because of the security involved. Others, like Burford and Meredith, took the cash in hand. Burford hopes to continue his law studies at Southern Methodist while playing for Dallas.

Bob Peterson, Oregon center, was drafted by the Houston Oilers.

"But they haven't contacted me yet—other than to say that someone will contact me," said Peterson.

Dean Look, Michigan State's great quarterback, signed a pro baseball contract for a bonus that was reported "around $60,000." He can't play football—without special consent.

SANTA ARRIVES EARLY WITH SPECIAL GIFT

Santa Claus arrived in Marin County a bit early this week because he had a special gift for the Sausalito Little League. Santa, in this case, was William Wachter, owner-president of the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito, who presented a check for $350. for sponsorship of a team in the Sausalito League. Accepting check from Santa Wachter is League President Dr. Robert M. Perlman. Officials looking on from steps are Willard "Red" Hall (lower) and Frank Bosl. Little Leaguers include Stephen Hill, Peter Perlman, Terry Carrillo, Steve Nau, Eric Mays, Mike Perlman and Bill Hall. Money will be used for uniforms and other equipment for one complete team which will bear the name, "Alta Mira Hotel." (Independent-Journal photo)

Players Visit Kids, Then Get Down To Heavy Work

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—East and West squads today began heavy workouts in preparation for their Jan. 2 battle with all remembering yesterday's annual visit to the Shrine Hospital for crippled children.

"There isn't anything we wouldn't do for those kids," declared Pittsburgh quarterback Ivan Toncic after he and the 47 other squad members spent the morning talking with the little patients.

Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State again heads the East coaching staff with his club favored to give him a second straight victory in the charity game for the benefit of the crippled children. Last year the East won 26-14.

The East can open with a line averaging 233 pounds or 14 more per man than the West can boast.

Both Daugherty and Head Coach Bill Meek of the West will have their own school's quarterback with Dean Look operating for the East and Don Meredith of Southern Methodist for the West.

The East also boasts Toncic and George Izo of Notre Dame in the quarterback department with Jim Walden of Wyoming the other signal caller for the West.

Notre Dame end Monty Stickles, who yesterday signed a pro contract with the San Francisco 49ers, proved a good pass catcher during the regular season and also is a fellow who can kick field goals and extra points.

On the East-West scene, Daugherty plans one workout daily at Santa Clara while Meek figures on two each day at Stanford.

Stengel National Bank Is Planned

GLENDALE (UPI)—Ever heard of the Stengel (as in Casey) National Bank?

You might find it listed in the phone book one of these days—a tribute to the manager of the New York Yankees, Casey Stengel.

It seems Casey is a member of the 11-man board of directors of the Glendale National Bank and his brother-in-law is John M. Lawson, board chairman. At a meeting of the board this week directors approved opening of a new branch in nearby North Hollywood.

"The Stengel National Bank" was suggested as the branch's name. Nothing's final yet, but with ole Casey involved anything can happen.

Bears Ready For L.A. Tourney Next

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

California and Utah, the best in the west, have completed their preliminary push-ups and are now ready to flex their muscles against other strong national contenders in next week's Holiday Basketball Tournaments.

The fourth-ranked Bears stretched their unbeaten string to 22 straight games by turning back touring Michigan State, 71-60, last night while sixth-ranked Utah outclassed College of the Pacific, 72-58, for its eighth straight triumph.

The Utes now head cross-country for the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C., where they will oppose Duke in the opening round next Monday. Other teams in the field are Wake Forest, Holy Cross, Dayton, North Carolina State, Minnesota and North Carolina.

California and West Virginia are the co-favorites in the Los Angeles Basketball Classic, which also gets rolling next Monday with the Bears opposing Illinois and second-ranked West Virginia meeting Stanford. Michigan, Northwestern, UCLA and Southern California also are entered.

IMHOFF STARS

Michigan State staged a game battle against California and held a 41-40 lead shortly after the start of the second half. But the Bears, led by Darrall Imhoff and Bill McClintock, then went on an eight-point tear to gain command.

Imhoff wound up as the game's high scorer with 18 points, one more than high-jumping Horace Walker of Michigan State.

East-West Game Officials Named

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Officials were named today for the Shrine East-West football game Jan. 2 at San Francisco.

The Pacific Intercollegiate Officiating Bureau named M. Edward Wagner head of the staff as referee. F. W. Hagerty was selected as umpire, Ted Fehring, head linesman; David Queen, field judge, and Rudolph Hansen, back judge.

Unitas And Berry Click Together Like Ham 'n' Eggs

BALTIMORE, MD., (UPI) — "Perhaps the chief factor in Ray Berry's success as a pass-catching whiz is his ability to 'read' quarterback Johnny Unitas."

That's what one veteran observer said recently, and fans around the nation will get a chance to see exactly what he meant when the Champion Baltimore Colts defend their National Football League title against the New York Giants Sunday.

Between them, Berry and Unitas represent one of the most serious threats for a quick score in pro football, and they go together like ham and eggs.

THAT'S BERRY?

Not a particularly brilliant pro prospect while playing at Southern Methodist, the Six-two, 190-pound Berry strikes you upon first impression as anything but a football player.

Upon seeing the bespectacled, scholarly looking Texan in civvies for the first time, a veteran of many N.F.L. seasons who had just joined the Colts exclaimed in amazement, "Is that Ray Berry?" When told it was, he simply shook his head in disbelief.

Yet, Berry, who wears oversized contact lenses when he is playing ("so that I can see out of the corner of my eyes") has made a career out of deceiving rival players since he first joined the Colts in 1955. Although he lacks the blinding speed required of a pro end, the native of Paris, Tex., is remarkably quick in his movements and he always seems to know where he's been and where he's going.

Working brilliantly with Unitas, Baltimore's passing ace, Berry has developed into the pro circuit's top pass receiver. This year he led in this department with 66 receptions good for 959 yards and 14 touchdowns.

But it hasn't been all play and no work. Some days he practices hours on end with Unitas, each developing the other's move to perfection.

Thus, when you see Berry biting the dust for a low pass or leaping high to snag a bullet out of the sky or twisting corkscrew fashion to grab the ball before stepping out of bounds, it is usually by design and not a wild peg from Johnny.

"I'm lucky in having a quarterback like Johnny to work with," Berry says. "He'll stay out there and throw the ball as long as there's someone to catch it. He's an accomodating quarterback in other ways, too.

"It's important for an end and a quarterback to speak the same language. It's almost like a marriage. You got to make allowances and understand each other and get to where you know each other so well that you know instinctively what to expect in any situation."

Unitas, Huff Named Best Pro Gridders

BALTIMORE (AP)—It's a tremendous thing to be chosen professional football's "player of the year," says Johnny Unitas, but he thinks some others were more deserving of the honor.

Asked his reaction today to being named the top man in the Associated Press poll of National Football League writers, the Baltimore Colt quarterback replied: "I was overwhelmed, it's such a terrific honor. But a lot of other guys in the league deserve it more than I do."

Such as, quarterback Chuck Conerly of the New York Giants, linebacker Sam Huff of of the Giants and guard Bill George of the Chicago Bears, he added.

BEST LINEMAN

Huff, the rock in the Giants' great defensive wall, was named lineman of the year today.

The passing wizard of the Baltimore attack nailed down 20 of the 37 votes cast. In leading the Colts to their second straight Western Division title, he connected for 193 passes in 367 attempts and a gain of 2,899 yards.

The 190-pound signal caller also stretched to 37 his record of consecutive games in which he tossed touchdown passes. His 32 TD tosses bettered the old season's mark of 28 set by Sid Luckman of the Bears in 1943.

Runnerup to Unitas in the balloting was Conerly, awarded seven votes for quarterbacking the Giants to the Eastern Division title. The 38-year-old veteran threw 14 touchdown passes and had a 8.79 yard average, the best in the NFL.

OTHER STANDOUTS

Nine stalwart linemen were named behind Huff in the line voting. Baltimore's brilliant offensive end, Ray Berry, and an another Colt, 270-pound tackle, Jim Parker, received five votes. Two other Baltimore luminaries—end Gino Marchetti and 288-pound Gene "Big Daddy" Lipscomb, of the defensive line, attracted two votes, as did guard Forest Gregg of Green Bay. Four others got one vote. They were end Doug Atkins of the Chicago Bears, guard Jim Ray Smith of Cleveland, guard Art Spinney of the Colts and guard Rosey Brown of the Giants.

Huff undoubtedly is the key man of the Giants' awesome defense which, in each of the past two years, has yielded a league low of 3.6 yards per opponent's carry. Weighing 230 pounds, he is strong enough to flatten a power-packing fullback like 228-pound Jimmy Brown, swift enough to recover from a block in time to nail a fleet-footed halfback like Ollie Matson, and smart enough to diagnose pass patterns and knife through to smear a quarterback like John Unitas.

Colts Admit Giants Really Great Power

BALTIMORE (AP) — Most of the pregame talk about the New York Giants is their hardy defense. But defensive players for the Baltimore Colts also speak with great respect of the offense.

The Colt defensive specialists naturally are preoccupied only with stopping the Giant attack in their National Football League championship go Sunday.

They spend hours every day peering at movies of it.

"They look almost like supermen, don't they," commented defensive end Don Joyce after viewing the Giants beating the Washington Redskins 24-10.

"We still haven't seen them beating the Cleveland Browns (48-7)," he added with a mock shudder.

His questioner suggested that the Browns were hurting physically for the game.

"That may be," rejoined Joyce, "but they still had a nucleus of good players."

"That's a good team, what blocking," was the reaction of tackle Ray Krouse after scanning the Giants for whom he once played.

"They have a good all-around attack, good balance," praised Art Donovan, another tackle.

Appreciation of the task facing the Colts was summed up by Herman Ball, the offensive line coach.

"The Giants have a lot better ball club than most Baltimore fans think," he said.

One offensive play the Colts are particularly wary of is the run-pass option executed so ably by halfback Frank Gifford of the Giants.

"The way you have to try to stop it, is to get to him quickly and force him to show his hand right away," said defensive coach Charlie Winner.

"But at the same time you have to be careful, because they want to pull your defenders in so he can pass over them."

Junior Cage League Will Open Jan 12

The annual Youth Basketball League, sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation and Parks Department, will begin league play at Davidson School on Jan. 12, it was announced today.

League games will be played on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Any group of from 6 to 12 boys whose ages fall into one of the five classifications (12 and under, 14 and under eighth grade, 14 and under ninth grade, 16 and under, or 18 and under) may enter league teams. The birthdate deadline for all ages is Jan. 5 1959. It is advisable, but not necessary to have an adult manager.

No boy who is currently a member of a high school or college team may participate, Director Joe Rodota said.

Boys who are interested in entering a team may obtain a roster and league rules by applying to the Recreation Department office at Albert Park. Deadline for entry is Tuesday, Jan 5.

Teams from outside the San Rafael city limits will be charged an entry fee.

Marin Mermen To Swim In Arizona Meet

Coach Beth Kaufman and 11 members of her Marin Pirates swim team will journey to Phoenix, Ariz. for the International Aquatic Festival Dec. 27-29, it was announced today.

Representing six local families, the Marin aquatic stars range in age from 9 to 17. They will compete in more than 20 events with swimmers from throughout southwestern United States. According to Coach Kaufman, several of the Marin contingent figure to return with trophies.

BIG SWIMFEST

The big annual swimfest is sponsored by the Phoenix Industrial Optimist Club and sanctioned by the Arizona Assn. AAU. For most of the Marinites it will be the first participation outside the Pacific Assn., AAU, which covers central California.

Marin youngsters, along with their specialties, who will make the trip of John Hendry and Candy Beeler, breaststroke; Peter and Paul Sagues, Bruce and Dave Corbet, Linda Nannizzi and Kirsten Beeler, freestyle sprints; Nancy Girvin, backstroke; George Girvin, freestyle and butterfly; and Bobby Girvin, individual medley and butterfly.

Long-Held Note

MONROE, Wis. (AP) — Mrs. Leroy Dodge received a letter in which she was asked to confirm what songs she plans to sing in a recital.

The program, it turned out, was held 33 years ago.

The letter apparently had been mislaid by Mrs. Dodge's former music teacher who had written it. A relative found the unsent letter recently and dropped it into a mailbox.

Adult Leaders For Scout Trip Named

Adult leaders for the Marin Cuncil Boy Scouts, who will go to Colorado Springs for the 1960 National Boy Scout Jamboree, have been announced by Scout Executive Storrs H. Smith.

For the first time, Smith said, the Marin Council will send two troops of Scouts, Explorers and adult leaders to the Jamboree.

Smith said 65 of the 74 Jamboree Scout places have been taken and it will probably not be long before there will be a waiting list. Names of the Scouts will be announced at a later date when the whole group has been selected.

A special train will take the Scouts from Oakland July 18 to the big Golden Jubilee Year celebration in which more than 50,000 Scouts from America, plus foreign delegates, will take part.

The Marin Council will travel from California with the Oakland, Alameda and Piedmont councils.

Scoutmaster G. William Magladry of San Rafael will head one troop with assistants Jack Little of Mill Valley and Peter Krug Jr. of Larkspur. Scoutmaster Jack L. Blaine of San Rafael will head the second troop, with Richard W. Morgan of San Anselmo, Joseph L. Smith Jr. of Kentfield as assistant.

Four others got one vote. They were end Doug Atkins of the Chicago Bears, guard Jim Ray Smith of Cleveland, guard Art Spinney of the Colts and guard Rosey Brown of the Giants.

Huff undoubtedly is the key man of the Giants' awesome defense which, in each of the past two years, has yielded a league low of 3.6 yards per opponent's carry. Weighing 230 pounds, he is strong enough to flatten a power-packing fullback like 228-pound Jimmy Brown, swift enough to recover from a block in time to nail a fleet-footed halfback like Ollie Matson, and smart enough to diagnose pass patterns and knife through to smear a quarterback like John Unitas.

Colts Admit Giants Really Great Power

BALTIMORE (AP) — Most of the pregame talk about the New York Giants is their hardy defense. But defensive players for the Baltimore Colts also speak with great respect of the offense.

The Colt defensive specialists naturally are preoccupied only with stopping the Giant attack in their National Football League championship go Sunday.

They spend hours every day peering at movies of it.

"They look almost like supermen, don't they," commented defensive end Don Joyce after viewing the Giants beating the Washington Redskins 24-10.

"We still haven't seen them beating the Cleveland Browns (48-7)," he added with a mock shudder.

His questioner suggested that the Browns were hurting physically for the game.

"That may be," rejoined Joyce, "but they still had a nucleus of good players."

"That's a good team, what blocking," was the reaction of tackle Ray Krouse after scanning the Giants for whom he once played.

"They have a good all-around attack, good balance," praised Art Donovan, another tackle.

Appreciation of the task facing the Colts was summed up by Herman Ball, the offensive line coach.

"The Giants have a lot better ball club than most Baltimore fans think," he said.

One offensive play the Colts are particularly wary of is the run-pass option executed so ably by halfback Frank Gifford of the Giants.

"The way you have to try to stop it, is to get to him quickly and force him to show his hand right away," said defensive coach Charlie Winner.

"But at the same time you have to be careful, because they want to pull your defenders in so he can pass over them."

Junior Cage League Will Open Jan 12

The annual Youth Basketball League, sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation and Parks Department, will begin league play at Davidson School on Jan. 12, it was announced today.

League games will be played on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Any group of from 6 to 12 boys whose ages fall into one of the five classifications (12 and under, 14 and under eighth grade, 14 and under ninth grade, 16 and under, or 18 and under) may enter league teams. The birthdate deadline for all ages is Jan. 5 1959. It is advisable, but not necessary to have an adult manager.

No boy who is currently a member of a high school or college team may participate, Director Joe Rodota said.

Boys who are interested in entering a team may obtain a roster and league rules by applying to the Recreation Department office at Albert Park. Deadline for entry is Tuesday, Jan 5.

Teams from outside the San Rafael city limits will be charged an entry fee.

Marin Mermen To Swim In Arizona Meet

Coach Beth Kaufman and 11 members of her Marin Pirates swim team will journey to Phoenix, Ariz. for the International Aquatic Festival Dec. 27-29, it was announced today.

Representing six local families, the Marin aquatic stars range in age from 9 to 17. They will compete in more than 20 events with swimmers from throughout southwestern United States. According to Coach Kaufman, several of the Marin contingent figure to return with trophies.

BIG SWIMFEST

The big annual swimfest is sponsored by the Phoenix Industrial Optimist Club and sanctioned by the Arizona Assn. AAU. For most of the Marinites it will be the first participation outside the Pacific Assn., AAU, which covers central California.

Marin youngsters, along with their specialties, who will make the trip of John Hendry and Candy Beeler, breaststroke; Peter and Paul Sagues, Bruce and Dave Corbet, Linda Nannizzi and Kirsten Beeler, freestyle sprints; Nancy Girvin, backstroke; George Girvin, freestyle and butterfly; and Bobby Girvin, individual medley and butterfly.

Long-Held Note

MONROE, Wis. (AP) — Mrs. Leroy Dodge received a letter in which she was asked to confirm what songs she plans to sing in a recital.

The program, it turned out, was held 33 years ago.

The letter apparently had been mislaid by Mrs. Dodge's former music teacher who had written it. A relative found the unsent letter recently and dropped it into a mailbox.

Adult Leaders For Scout Trip Named

Adult leaders for the Marin Cuncil Boy Scouts, who will go to Colorado Springs for the 1960 National Boy Scout Jamboree, have been announced by Scout Executive Storrs H. Smith.

For the first time, Smith said, the Marin Council will send two troops of Scouts, Explorers and adult leaders to the Jamboree.

Smith said 65 of the 74 Jamboree Scout places have been taken and it will probably not be long before there will be a waiting list. Names of the Scouts will be announced at a later date when the whole group has been selected.

A special train will take the Scouts from Oakland July 18 to the big Golden Jubilee Year celebration in which more than 50,000 Scouts from America, plus foreign delegates, will take part.

The Marin Council will travel from California with the Oakland, Alameda and Piedmont councils.

Scoutmaster G. William Magladry of San Rafael will head one troop with assistants Jack Little of Mill Valley and Peter Krug Jr. of Larkspur. Scoutmaster Jack L. Blaine of San Rafael will head the second troop, with Richard W. Morgan of San Anselmo, Joseph L. Smith Jr. of Kentfield as assistant.

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND . . . — Kid Ory, just back from a European tour, will celebrate his 73rd birthday on Christmas Day in a newly purchased home in San Francisco. Ory sold his Sleepy Hollow home before leaving on the tour, but plans to return to Marin when (or if) he retires. (Independent-Journal photo)

CHRISTMAS BIRTHDAY

Jazz Star Ory Still Going Strong At 73

By DOROTHY SLATTERY

A small man with large hands will add the hot licks on the trombone tomorrow to both "White Christmas" and "Happy Birthday to You."

Kid Ory, who started his climb to the pinnacle of the jazz world when he played his first professional engagement 63 years ago tonight, is home from Europe just in time to celebrate Christmas—and his seventy-third birthday.

Edward L. Ory was born on Christmas morning in a small town, 29 miles from New Orleans. His parents, who were sugar cane farmers, died before his tenth birthday. From then on "I was on my own," the young-looking jazzman wryly said today.

On the evening of his tenth birthday Ory became a professional musician when he was paid $2 for playing his trombone at a club's Christmas party. He organized a group of youthful jazzmen and set out for New Orleans, the jazz center of the world.

In the saloons that "had no doors because they were always open," lining Basin and Rampart streets Ory became a familiar face and sound. As he became better known he played the swankier clubs and hotels on Canal street, only returning to "Storyville" in the Lenten season when the Canal street clubs shut down.

It was during this era he heard a "trumpet ringing out" in a Labor Day parade. He found the trumpet belonged to a 16-year-old lad. He hired the boy and started another jazz king on the road to fame. The boy was Louis Armstrong.

In 1919 Ory packed up his trombone and left Louisiana because a doctor told him he had to get out of the damp climate. He headed for Chicago by way of the West Coast and stayed in Los Angeles until 1925. He had started composing music by this time, and in 1923 wrote one of his biggest hits, "Muskrat Ramble." In 1921 he made the first recordings by a New Orleans Creole jazz band.

Two weeks ago Ory returned from a three-month concert tour that took him to eight European countries.

"The Europeans are crazy about American jazz . . . They stamp their feet . . . in some places the police had to be called to control them," he said.

It was his second such tour in three years.

Along with Ory on the tour were his wife, Barbara Ga Nung, who has been the jazzman's manager since he returned to the music world in 1942 after 12 years of retirement, and the couple-s 5-year-old daughter, Babette.

The Orys sold their Sleepy Hollow home the week prior to leaving for Europe and bought a place in San Francisco to be nearer their night club, On the Levee, on the Embarcadero. Ory is looking forward to returning to Marin after he retires, but, glancing at his current projects, that does not seem close at hand.

He is now finishing his biography; waiting for copy right clearance for a new composition, "Boo Boo's Blues," written for his daughter; and making plans to reopen his night club Jan. 15. The club has been closed while the Orys were away.

When asked what he thought of the future of jazz, he answered, "Jazz keeps me alive."

LIKE FABLED STEEPLEJACK, HE STEPS BACK

PEBBLE BEACH (AP)—John M. Dolan, 55, finished stringing the lights on his outdoor Christmas tree. Proud of his work, he walked from his home, bordering a cliff overlooking the Pacific, to get a better view.

He took several steps backward to get an even better view.

Dolan, brought to Peninsula Hospital from the base of the cliff, was treated for several cracked ribs.

Elderly Man Hit By Car, Legs Broken

Both legs of an elderly San Anselmo pedestrian were broken when he was struck by a car as he crossed a rain-slick San Anselmo street last evening.

The victim, Peter Mario Bambino, 75, a tailor of 222 Floribel avenue, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital. He suffered compound fractures of both legs and a cut forehead.

San Anselmo police said Bambino was either in or near a crosswalk while attempting to cross Sir Francis Drake boulevard at Madrone avenue when he was struck at 5:23 p.m. by a car driven by Kathleen D. O'Leary, 21, of 29 Foss avenue, San Anselmo.

The driver told police she did not see the pedestrian step into her car's path. She was not cited.

Bambino was holding an umbrella, police said, which might have obscured his vision.

Hayden Sued Over Rental Of Small Car

Actor Sterling Hayden of Belvedere, who ran into big legal trouble for sailing his schooner to the South Seas, now faces a minor legal difficulty for renting a Volkswagen car from a San Francisco car rental firm one year ago.

Ken Foster Co., Inc., filed a complaint in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for $303.48, which the company claims Hayden still owes for use of the car.

According to the suit, the strapping actor rented the Volkswagen in November and December of last year, and January this year, just before he sailed his Wanderer out of Sausalito. Ken Foster Co., which advertises rental of "economy cars," wants the money plus 7 per cent interest. It seeks to have Hayden's property attached if the money is not paid.

Work Furloughed Prisoner Missing

Sheriff's deputies today were looking for a San Rafael shoe clerk who took extended leave from county jail for the holidays without telling Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

He is Thomas Jay Wilson, 36, whose last known address was 515 Mission avenue. He was sentenced last week to four months in jail, with work furlough privilege, for failing to support his family.

When he failed to report back to jail as required, jailer Edward McKamey contacted the shoe store. The boss there said Wilson hadn't showed up for work for the last two days.

County Accepts Yule Gift Of 6 Living Trees

The County of Marin yesterday accepted the gift of six living Christmas trees which eventually may grow at the new county civic center.

The trees are gifts of the City of Eugene, Ore., via the Camp Fire Girls. They were accepted for the county by Chairman Walter R. Castro of the board of supervisors in a ceremony at the courthouse.

The City of Eugene gave 75 of the trees to 11 Bay Area councils of Camp Fire Girls, in connection with the Camp Fire Girls' program of encouraging conservation of natural resources. Mayor Edward Cone of Eugene said he favors "a bit of Oregon being transplanted in California."

The Camp Fire Girls met a West Coast Airlines plane at San Francisco International Airport to take delivery of the tiny trees.

Mrs. Edward Zeller, public relations director of the Marin Council of Camp Fire Girls, said she hopes the trees will be planted temporarily somewhere around the present courthouse, to be transplanted later at the civic center.

Sweet Revenge

SPRINGVILLE, N. Y. (UPI)—Police chief John Barbus tells how one farmer cured a sneak thief of helping himself to motor fuel from a barnyard gas pump.

The farmer poured a cupful of granulated sugar into the nozzle of the pump hose. The next day it was learned that a youth's car "mysteriously developed engine trouble and needed an expensive overhaul."

Clash Between Iraqi, Iranians Held Doubtful

LONDON (AP)—British diplomatic sources said today there is no indication that Iraqi and Iranian forces are about to clash despite angry demonstrations on both sides of the disputed Shattal-Arab River.

British authorities confirmed reports from Tehran that Iranian jet fighters have been moved into the vital Abadan oil region to support tanks and artillery sent in earlier this week.

Iran's military buildup in the area followed a series of angry verbal attacks by Iraq Premier Abdel Karem Kassem and reports that Iraq had concentrated five armored brigades close to Iran's southwestern border.

Iraq is claiming a strip of territory on the Iranian side of the Shattal Arab near the big Western-operated Abadan oil refinery.

The frontier dispute flared into the open last week when an Iraqi patrol fired on Iranian sailors and civilians, killing two and wounding three.

Youth Tells Of Boast About Touhy Murder

LINCOLN, Ill. (UPI)—A teenage hitchhiker told police today a man who picked him up boasted of killing Roger Touhy and Chicago police sent two detectives to question both.

The hitchhiker identified himself as George Green, 17, and said he was en route to visit his mother in Dallas, Texas. He said he had worked in Chicago since April and Chicago police confirmed this.

Green gave a statement to police here that the driver claimed to have shot Touhy, 61-year-old prohibition era gangster. Touhy was shotgunned in an ambush in front of his sister's house on Chicago's west side.

A .12 gauge shotgun, the same gauge that killed Touhy, was found in the man's car. Chicago police sent Detectives Marshall Carroll and Robert Noonan to Lincoln to talk to the man and to Green, and to bring back the gun and shells for laboratory analysis.

The man is a resident of Lockport, Ill., a Chicago suburb. Lockport sources said he had been involved in two recent scrapes with the police there. On one occasion he is alleged to have produced a shotgun in an argument with his wife. Also, there is a charge against him of having an open bottle of liquor in an automobile. He has been a patient in a Veterans Administration hospital and has been a truck driver and a gas station attendant.

The man, Lockport sources said, was believed to be on a hunting trip.

He ran his car into a ditch on U.S. 66 on the outskirts of Lincoln. State police said he was drunk and unconscious when a trooper arrived at the accident scene.

Marin City Couple Jailed After Fight In San Rafael Bar

A blonde housewife from Marin City and her husband both landed in jail today after a battle at Club Moderne in San Rafael about 2 a.m.

Golda Dean Johnson, 37, and her husband, Johnnie Johnson, 29, of House 593, Marin City, were booked on suspicion of drunkenness and disturbing the peace. They were bailed out for the holidays and ordered to appear in court Monday afternoon.

Officer Thomas Stephenson of San Rafael police said Mrs. Johnson was crying and shouting, and sported a black eye she said was administered by her husband. Johnson asked to be booked in jail because he said he would not be responsible for his actions if he went home with her. Police obliged.

When officers tried to quiet Mrs. Johnson and send her home, she refused, and continued to use abusive language, according to police. She, too, was booked.

Yule Mail Volume At Record High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This year's volume of Christmas mail is topping all previous records, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today.

Summerfield said reports from the nation's largest post offices verify earlier estimates that the volume of holiday mail is running about 4 per cent more than last year's record volume.

Christmas Seal Contributions Up

The people of Marin County are again showing their approval of the Christmas seals and program of the Marin County Tuberculosis Assn., reports John B. Willcutt, president.

"We have banked $20,678.00. This is $380.50 more than last year at this time. All contributions received before the end of March will be included in the 1960 budget," said Willcutt.

The National Wildlife Federation offers scholarships up to $1,000 in conservation education.

Work Furloughed Prisoner Missing

Sheriff's deputies today were looking for a San Rafael shoe clerk who took extended leave from county jail for the holidays without telling Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

He is Thomas Jay Wilson, 36, whose last known address was 515 Mission avenue. He was sentenced last week to four months in jail, with work furlough privilege, for failing to support his family.

When he failed to report back to jail as required, jailer Edward McKamey contacted the shoe store. The boss there said Wilson hadn't showed up for work for the last two days.

County Accepts Yule Gift Of 6 Living Trees

The County of Marin yesterday accepted the gift of six living Christmas trees which eventually may grow at the new county civic center.

The trees are gifts of the City of Eugene, Ore., via the Camp Fire Girls. They were accepted for the county by Chairman Walter R. Castro of the board of supervisors in a ceremony at the courthouse.

The City of Eugene gave 75 of the trees to 11 Bay Area councils of Camp Fire Girls, in connection with the Camp Fire Girls' program of encouraging conservation of natural resources. Mayor Edward Cone of Eugene said he favors "a bit of Oregon being transplanted in California."

The Camp Fire Girls met a West Coast Airlines plane at San Francisco International Airport to take delivery of the tiny trees.

Mrs. Edward Zeller, public relations director of the Marin Council of Camp Fire Girls, said she hopes the trees will be planted temporarily somewhere around the present courthouse, to be transplanted later at the civic center.

Sweet Revenge

SPRINGVILLE, N. Y. (UPI)—Police chief John Barbus tells how one farmer cured a sneak thief of helping himself to motor fuel from a barnyard gas pump.

The farmer poured a cupful of granulated sugar into the nozzle of the pump hose. The next day it was learned that a youth's car "mysteriously developed engine trouble and needed an expensive overhaul."

Cadets at the U. S. Air Force Academy are called "Falcons."

HOT SPOT — Underlined on the map is Iran's oil-shipping port of Abadan in the area where Iranian air and army reinforcements have been dispatched. Tehran officials said they acted against possible attack from Iraq with whom Iran currently has a border disagreement. The Iranians increased naval patrols on the Shattal Arab River, shared by the two countries. (AP Wirephoto)

Clash Between Iraqi, Iranians Held Doubtful

LONDON (AP)—British diplomatic sources said today there is no indication that Iraqi and Iranian forces are about to clash despite angry demonstrations on both sides of the disputed Shattal-Arab River.

British authorities confirmed reports from Tehran that Iranian jet fighters have been moved into the vital Abadan oil region to support tanks and artillery sent in earlier this week.

Iran's military buildup in the area followed a series of angry verbal attacks by Iraq Premier Abdel Karem Kassem and reports that Iraq had concentrated five armored brigades close to Iran's southwestern border.

Iraq is claiming a strip of territory on the Iranian side of the Shattal Arab near the big Western-operated Abadan oil refinery.

The frontier dispute flared into the open last week when an Iraqi patrol fired on Iranian sailors and civilians, killing two and wounding three.

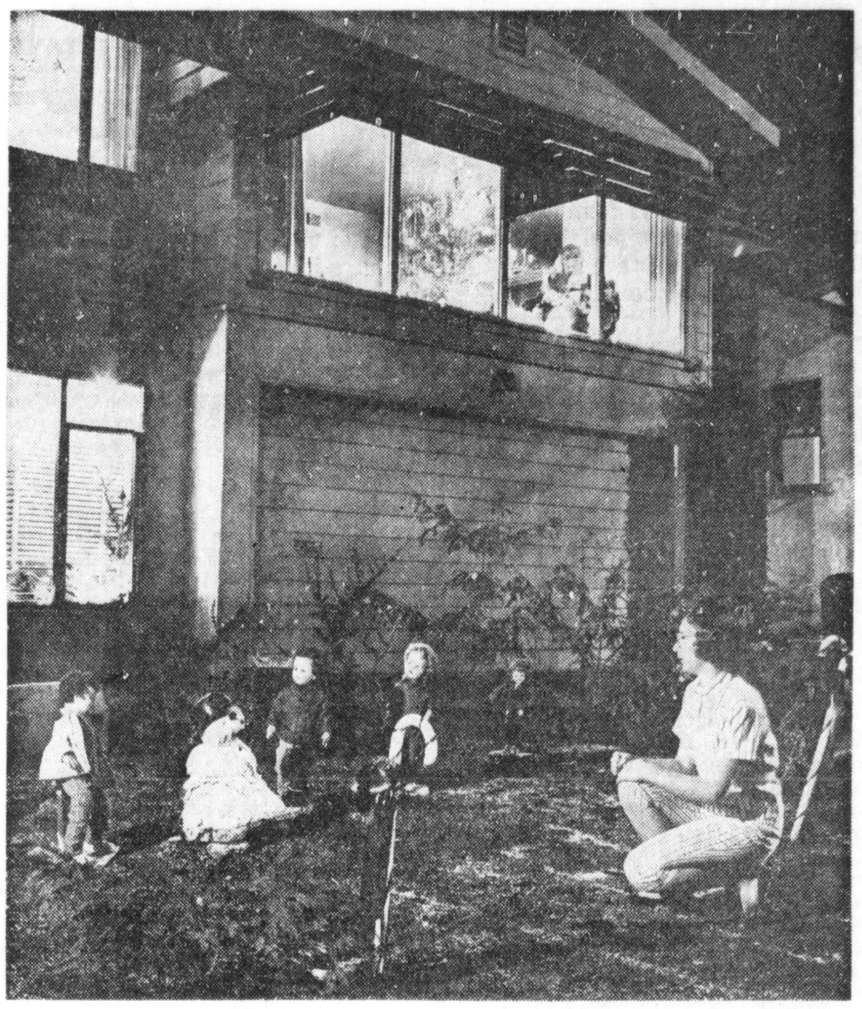
GATHERING OF ANGELS WINS YULE CONTEST PRIZE

Throughout Marin are many homes with outdoor, lighted decorations for the Christmas season. Some of the best have been awarded prizes in the Independent-Journal and San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce's 12th Christmas decoration contest. Other contests were held, too, in various neighborhoods. Judges of the various contests did not always see eye-to-eye, but Independent-Journal photographers visited many of the homes to get the pictures on this page. Scene above is that at the home of Arthur Luchetti at 77 Lakeside drive, Corte Madera, which placed third in the I-J-jaycee competition.



RAIN SPOILED HER CHANCE — Barbara Ellis of 256 D street, San Rafael, had entered I-J Jaycee Christmas decoration contest. But just befor judges came by, it began to rain, and Barbara took some of the dolls she used for Christmas scene inside, thus missing possible chance at prize. I-J photographer Dick Steinheimer caught her as she was putting them back out again.

HARASSED SANTA — The scene in Santa Claus' workshop, with elves hard at work and Santa desperately checking list of good boys and girls, while Mrs. Santa brings him coffee and shows that the hour is nigh, produced this amusing decoration for the home of Raymond Dudley at 64 Meadow drive in Alto.

Homes Aglow In Marin For Holidays

Everywhere, everywhere, Christmas tonight . . .

Just about everywhere in Marin, Santa Claus on his visit tonight will find his way lighted by Christmas displays on the walls and porches and in the yards of homes he visits.

Scores of homes have been decorated for the holidays. Many have been entered in the annual contested conducted countywide by the Independent-Journal and San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce, and in various neighborhood competitions. And many others decorated their homes with no thought of any contest but just to please themselves, their neighbors and passersby.

Only a few of the many decorated homes can be shown on this page. For those who want to drive through residential streets to see the sights, here is a list of first place winners in various contests—some of which have already been pictured in the I-J:

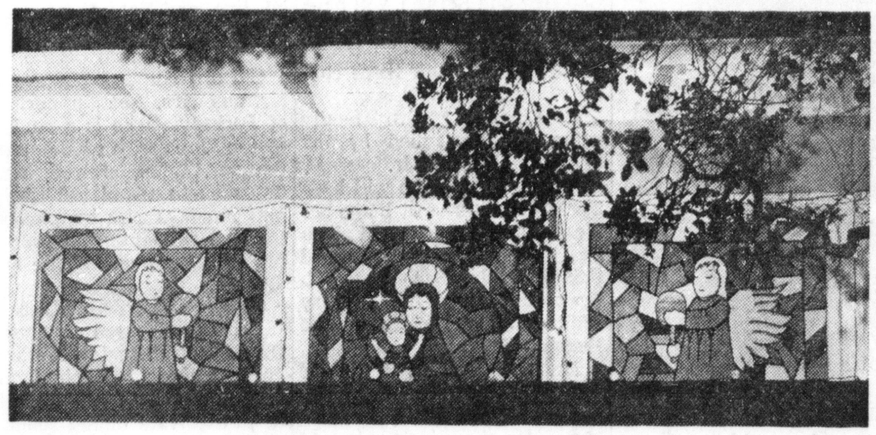
Greenbrae—Cecil G. Aker, 161 Vista Grande (shown on this page).

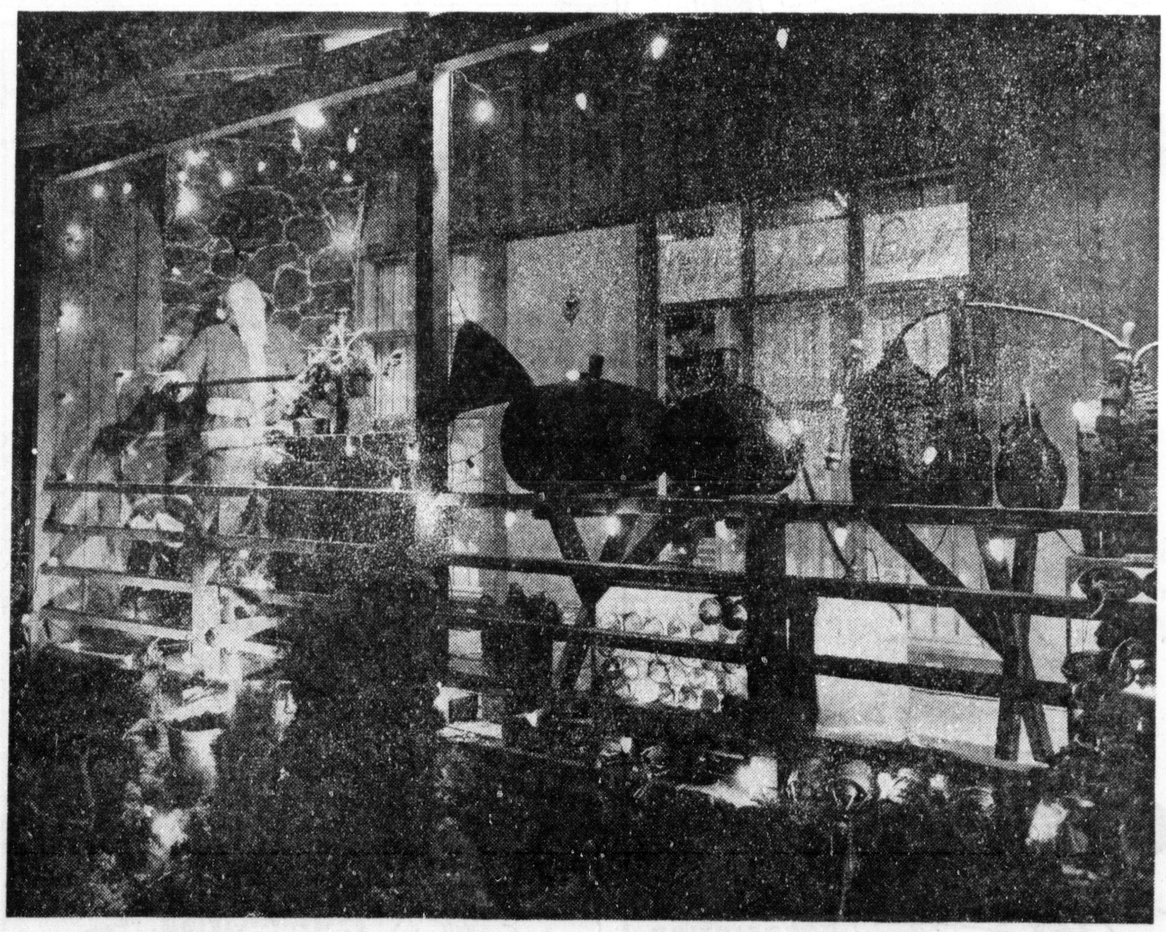
Bret Harte—Robert Monti, 1 Harte street.

Terra Linda—Louis J. Tryford, 329 Hyacinth way.

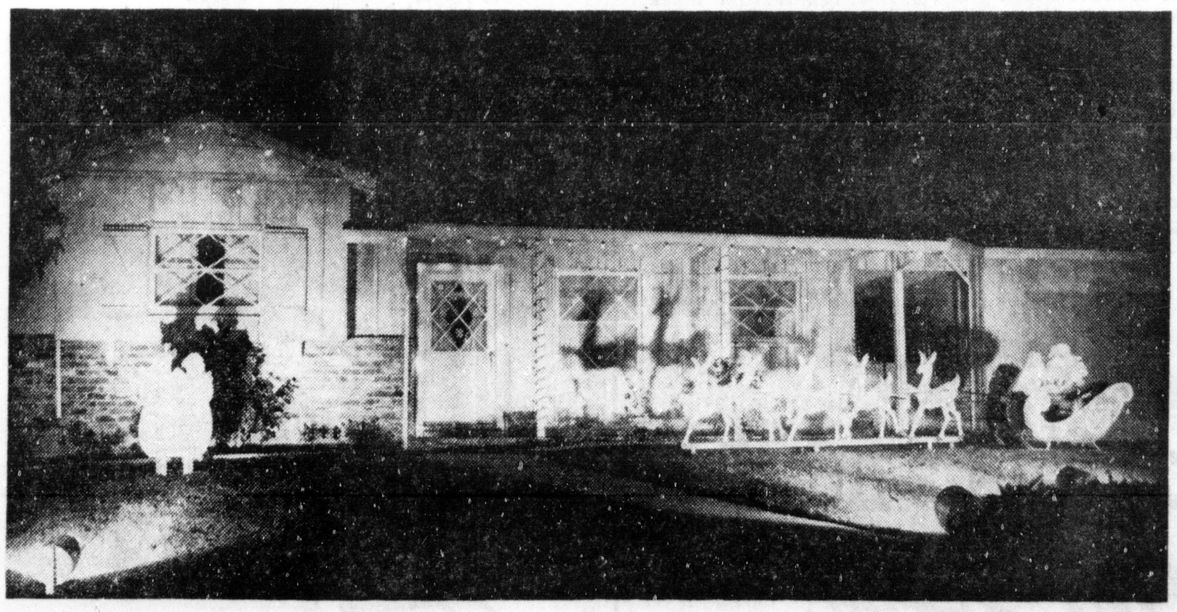
ANGELIC—A stained-glass window effect, with an angel as featured figure, and another angel lighted below produced this simple but effective decoration for the home of Mrs. Louis Perazzo at 232 Sequoia drive, San Anselmo. It was one of many featuring religious themes in this year's Christmas decoration contests.



WINDOW DISPLAY—Cecil G. Aker of 161 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, decorated windows on both sides of his house in the style of stained-glass church windows to capture first place in the Greenbrae decoration contest. This picture shows windows of one side. (Ken Molino photo)



THE CHRISTMAS CUPBOARD—"Making Spirits Bright" was the title used by Mr. and Mrs. Pietro Pinoni of 345 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, for this different kind of Christmas decoration—featuring good things that go to make the holidays jolly. The display won sixth place in the countywide I-J Jaycee contest and was a prize winner also in the Greenbrae contest.



SANTA CLAUS IS COMING—Santa Claus and his reindeer seem to be stepping lively across lawn of Robert J. Thornhill home at 1099 Las Pavadas, Terra Linda, toward where two carolers are giving voice to Christmas greeting. This is one of many Terra Linda homes decorated for the holidays.

Wanda Ramey Weds Richard Queirolo

Wanda Ramey and Richard Queirolo, both of Mill Valley, were married Friday, Dec. 18, in a simple ceremony performed at the Hall of Justice in San Francisco.

Officiating at the single ring rites was Judge Francis McCarty, a friend of the bride, who is well known for her noon television news broadcasts and interviews on Station KPIX.

She wore for the occasion a gray wool suit with white accessories and a hat made of a single white flower, and she carried a spray of white lilies.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Leo Smith of Pleasant Hills, Calif. She was attired in a green wool suit and green calot trimmed in pink. Her gloves were white and other accessories brown, and she wore a corsage of green orchids.

Best man was Lawrence Ustvedt of Piedmont, Calif.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for relatives and close friends only at the Orestes Restaurant in the city, and the couple left afterward to spend several days in Santa Barbara.

They are now living in Mill Valley, where the new Mrs. Queirolo has lived for the past four years, and her husband one.

Born in Terre Haute, Ind., the eldest of five children of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ramey now of Piedmont, Wanda was graduated with major in the field of television and radio.

Ever since her graduation she has been employed in this kind of work, for the last year at Station KPIX, and before that for four years with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Queirolo, a native San Franciscan and son of Mr. and Mrs. William Queirolo of San Francisco, is an alumnus of the Lick-Wilmerding School there and is now a sheet metal contractor.

Spending the holidays with the Robert Schultzes are her mother, Mrs. Walfred Knutson, and nephew, Roger Bloom, of Patterson, Calif. Some Bay Area relatives and friends have been invited for Wednesday afternoon and that evening the Schultzes' son Kenneth will have his own party for 40 friends.

The John Barnards and sons, Geoffrey and Ralston, will have as guests for Christmas dinner Mr. and Mrs. William Barnard of Alamo with their three children.

A Christmas Eve family gathering is planned by the Benjamin Uphams Jr.

Among others who will have Christmas dinners at home are Messrs. and Mesdames William Peavey, William Bentley, Lloyd Postel, Stanley Brooks, Joseph Brewster, John Finn III, Jay Chilton, John McDonnell and Eugene McGeorge.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Oehler will be among those happy to enjoy a quiet time at home since she has just returned from her second African safari.

FOR BREAKFAST

The James Betts are entertaining a few friends for a Christmas Eve supper and have invited relatives for breakfast on Sunday morning, and Mrs. Della Rambousek's out-of-town guests Christmas Day will be Mr. and Mrs. Selma Westby of Lancaster, Calif., Messrs. Knowles Cooke and Robert Turner of Chicago, Ill., as well as Roger Griswold of Mill Valley.

Guests of the Frank Peters for possibly their last Christmas in Mill Valley will be Col. and Mrs. James P. Jennings of Danville, Calif., where the Peters are going to live after the middle of January.

Two of the largest gatherings will be the traditional dinner for approximately 18 or 20 relatives at the home of the Kent Seymours and at the George Wheelwrights' Green Gulch Ranch, where they will have their five children and families of the four who are married. On Dec. 30 they will also have a party for 25 or 30 young Mexican adults who are on a three-weeks' visit to Marin sponsored by the Experiment in International Living.

Among those who will not be in Mill Valley for Christmas are the P. T. Smiths. Their son Philip McAulay Smith and his bride are up from Stanford for the holidays and all will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merrill of San Francisco, the bride's parents.

The John Buckleys will join her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Bracamonte in Hillsborough for a traditional family Christmas.

Among others having Christmas with friends and relatives elsewhere are the Kenyon Spaldings, Frank Moitozas, Col. and Mrs. C. I. Dennis and Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Mahon.

THE REEDLANDS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Forward of the Reedlands will have their traditional Christmas Eve party for their family and friends at their home. Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Forward for the Christmas holidays will be Mrs. Forward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip B. Stockhausen of La Jolla, and Mrs. John Cornell of Chicago and Miami Beach, Fla. The Robert Shelleys and Miss Florence Murphy of Los Angeles will also be among the Christmas Eve guests.

Mrs. Walter Forward of San Diego will be with her son and daughter-in-law over the New Year weekend to help celebrate her son's birthday on New Year's Eve.

Col. and Mrs. C. B. Overacker of the Reedlands will have as guests over the holidays their respective mothers, Mrs. Edna Overacker and Mrs. P. D. Moulton, and Colonel Overacker's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Svoboda.

Gen. and Mrs. Charles B. Stone III of the Reedlands and their daughter Claudia will spend the holidays in Scottsdale, Ariz., with another daughter, Mrs. John Hooker, and her family. Their son, Lt. Charles B. Stone IV, who is stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky., will join the family in Scottsdale.

Mrs. Mary J. Burrell, developer of the Reedlands will have as visitors during the Christmas season her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Vogel, and their children, Daniel, five, and Kate, three, from Madison, Wis.

IN LARKSPUR

Clifford Kupperberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Kupperberg of Larkspur, who is a student at the University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo., arrived home Saturday to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents. Clifford will entertain four of his classmates during the holidays.

TIBURON PENINSULA

On the Tiburon Peninsula Dr. and Mrs. Benton Mathews and members of their family around the Bay Area will gather in a private dining room at the Alta Mira Hotel for Christmas dinner. The night before, Dr. Mathews' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mathews of San Francisco will be at the Mathews lagoon home. Home for the holidays from Stanford where he is a freshman is Steve.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Witter will spend Christmas in Oakland with Mr. Witter's brother, Lee Witter and his wife.

Visiting from Greenwich, Conn. are Mr. and Mrs. George H. Wilkens. The Wilkens are parents of Mrs. John Del Mar of Rolling Hills and are here to spend Christmas with their daughter and son-in-law and two grandchildren, Corinne and Bryan.

The William Fergusons will spend a quiet family day at home prior to their departure the next day for a week's stay at Yosemite Lodge. On Christmas Eve they will entertain Dr. Ferguson's partner, Dr. Frederick Boyle and his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Paige of San Francisco.

From Carmel will come Mr. and Mrs. John D. Stevenson to visit their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Stevenson and their grandchildren. The Stevenson live on the Lagoon. Mrs. Stevenson is secretary of the newly organized Community Congregational Church on the Tiburon Peninsula.

It will be a family gathering at the John Hoffmires in Little Reed Heights. The senior John Hoffmires who are spending the winter in California and living in San Anselmo will spend Christmas Day as will John's brother and his wife, Phil and Jo Hoffmire who are coming down from Seattle for the holiday. With them will come their three little girls to play with the Hoffmires three little boys. The senior Hoffmires plan to return to their New York home in March.

FROM NORTH

Also visiting from the north are Mr. and Mrs. Don McGregor of Vancouver, B.C. Hosting them and their daughter, Florence, and her friend Maureen Tweedle, are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Christian and daughters, Gayle and Linda, of Belveron Gardens. The McGregors are now visiting in Disneyland and will return to Marin County in time for Christmas. Following Christmas the Christians and the McGregors plan to visit Las Vegas.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert P. Watkins of Belvedere will have a quiet family Christmas at home. On the 27th they will also go to Yosemite Lodge for a few days of winter sports. Dr. Watkins is mayor of Belvedere.

The Alfred Azevedos with Janet and Joe will travel to Sonoma to spend Christmas with Margaret's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hanford. Also joining the family will be Margaret's brother George Wood and his family.

Here for the holidays from Portland, Ore. is Mrs. O. S. Lapham. She is visiting her daughter Mrs. Fred Dupuis of Hill Haven. The Dupuis family, including Susan, Barbara and eight-year-old Fred, will dine at home on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence West and daughters, Laurie and Barbara, will entertain several guests for Christmas dinner. From Berkeley will come the Gil Callies with their son, John, and from San Francisco the Callies' daughter and her husband Barbara and Wesley Hart. Also invited is Mrs. Dorothy O'Malley of Mill Valley. The West's daughter, Barbara, during the past year was winner in a sewing contest. Barbara's entry was a formal dress and she won over all other Marin contestants. Daughter Laurie is home from College of Pacific for the holidays. He is a freshman.

IN FAIRFAX

In Fairfax, the Frank Baumgartens are entertaining at their home, "Ridgeview Farm." Dinner guests tomorrow will be Mary Baumgarten's mother, Mrs W. H. Smith Jr. and Mr. Smith of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. V. Balfour James of Ross, their son, Dick, and daughter, Patsy.

Wanda Ramey Weds Richard Queirolo

Wanda Ramey and Richard Queirolo, both of Mill Valley, were married Friday, Dec. 18, in a simple ceremony performed at the Hall of Justice in San Francisco.

Officiating at the single ring rites was Judge Francis McCarty, a friend of the bride, who is well known for her noon television news broadcasts and interviews on Station KPIX.

She wore for the occasion a gray wool suit with white accessories and a hat made of a single white flower, and she carried a spray of white lilies.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Leo Smith of Pleasant Hills, Calif. She was attired in a green wool suit and green calot trimmed in pink. Her gloves were white and other accessories brown, and she wore a corsage of green orchids.

Best man was Lawrence Ustvedt of Piedmont, Calif.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for relatives and close friends only at the Orestes Restaurant in the city, and the couple left afterward to spend several days in Santa Barbara.

They are now living in Mill Valley, where the new Mrs. Queirolo has lived for the past four years, and her husband one.

Born in Terre Haute, Ind., the eldest of five children of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ramey now of Piedmont, Wanda was graduated with major in the field of television and radio.

Ever since her graduation she has been employed in this kind of work, for the last year at Station KPIX, and before that for four years with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Queirolo, a native San Franciscan and son of Mr. and Mrs. William Queirolo of San Francisco, is an alumnus of the Lick-Wilmerding School there and is now a sheet metal contractor.

Marin Women

Ingrid Hamann Bride Of J. R. Groeshl

In a recent home ceremony at 21 Rancheria road in Kentfield, Ingrid E. Hamann of Kentfield, became the bride of Jerome L. Groeshl of Portland, Ore.

The ceremony took place in the patio at 9:30 a.m. The Rev. Samuel A. Wright Jr. officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of the Joseph Hamanns of Nurnberg, Germany, and the late Mrs. Hamann. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Marcus of Chicago, Ill.

For her wedding, the bride chose a blue suit with white hat and circular veil. White orchids formed her bridal bouquet.

Heidi Hamann of Sausalito, the bride's sister, as maid of honor, wore a brown suit. Her flowers were cymbidium orchids.

Frank Hill of San Francisco was best man.

A champagne wedding breakfast followed the ceremony. In the receiving line was Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Rancheria road, who wore a brown and black sheath for the occasion. Her flowers were yellow carnations.

The bride was educated in Switzerland and Germany. She was employed by the Brown-Ely Construction Co., in Greenbrae. Wolfilam Hamann of Scarsdale, N. Y. is her brother.

The bridegroom attended Michigan State University and is now employed with Tekronix, Inc., in Portland. Robert Groeshl of Chicago, Inn., is his brother.

Following a wedding trip to take up residence in Portland. Carmel, the newlyweds will take up their residence in Portland.

At Furnace Creek

Miss Frances Ridge of San Rafael and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon von Planck of Piedmont, are spending Christmas week in Death Valley, headquartering at Furnace Creek Inn.

Dance Students Perform At Rod, Gun Club Party

The talented children from the Belrose Dance Studio distracted the members of the Marin Rod and Gun Club from conservation efforts Friday evening with a program of songs and dances. Under the direction of Margie and David Belrose the youngsters gave an excellent performance.

Margie Belrose, who is tiny enough to pass for one of her charges, started the show as a "Christmas Hobo." Sandy Marshall, Susan Hodges, Jennifer Davis, Helen Castle and Mary Andrews did the "Dance for Santa Claus," followed by "Santa's Helpers," who proved to be Carol Bell, Zana Darrow, Sherie Gaia and Linda McIntyre. A novelty, "Santa Has His Eye On You," by Diana Blackford (and friend) was a sparkling performance. The "Snowfall Ballet," with snow fairies Elaine Yoder, Kaye Hodges and Kadeane Harlan, snow princess Patty Colomba and snow queen Vicki Hill, was executed by the young, accomplished ballerinas.

Terry Castle, Cathy Ceglers and Patty Waltermire sang and danced "You Are My Lucky Star." Men can be graceful too, as proved by Mike Slye, Danny Lezzini and Stephane Simon as they danced with Carolyn Wood, Sally Vincent, Nancy Sacks, Karen Hood, Betty Gudrundson and Linda Brown, Joanna and Kathey Pattalochi giving a skillful rendition of "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town." Diane Blackford returned to do a clever "Mamba Tap." A lively Charleston by Vicki Hall and Patty Colombo was heartily applauded. Linda Paganetti and Linda Gudmundson joined the entire cast to close by singing and dancing "Jingle Bells."

During the evening splendid entertainment was also provided by Harold Paulsen, who played the electric guitar, Joe Faustine, bass, Barbara Faustine, banjo, Lee Faustine, accordion, and Les Simmonds, steel guitar.

The program was enjoyed by a large number of the club members and their families.

Son For David Zecs

Mr. and Mrs. David Francis T. Zec of Kent Woodlands are rejoicing over their Christmas gift. On Dec. 20 at Children's Hospital in San Francisco, their first son was born. He weighed seven pounds, seven ounces and is named David Francis Zec Jr. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Adolph L. Costa of San Anselmo and the late Mr. and Mrs. Julio Zec of Kent Woodlands. Little David has two sisters, D'Arcy Marie Dettner, who is nine years old, and Elizabeth Ann Zec. a year and a half.

Chosen Families In Readiness For Yule

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Christmas 1959 will be one Yuletide two Marin County families will never forget. They have been singled out as the outstanding families of the county and are being showered with gifts from Marin County merchants. The search for the notable families was conducted by KTIM which asked listeners to send in nominations. To Hugh Turner, manager of KTIM, and me fell the task of picking the winner. And task it was because the names of so many fine families were submitted. We wound up by having a tie between the Gregory Haran clan of San Rafael and the Bryan Youngclaus family of Fairfax and declared them both winners.

Gregory Haran, 39, and his wife, Margaret, 36, "grew up together," as she phrases it, in San Francisco. During World War II, both served their country. She was a WAVE, and he a chief petty officer in the Navy. Both had interrupted their educations to go into military service. Margaret, a graduate of Lowell High School in San Francisco, attended University of California. Greg, a graduate of St. Ignatius High School, was a student at the University of San Francisco. They were married in Washington, D.C., early in 1945.

The Harans' first child, Lydia, just 14, is a senior Girl Scout and a freshman at Marin Catholic High School. She has eight brothers and sisters, Michael 13, a Boy Scout, Elizabeth, 11, a Girl Scout, Leila, 9, a Brownie, Daniel 7, and Gregory, 6, all attending St. Raphael's School, and the little ones are Mary Margaret, who will be four years old on Dec. 28, Robertl, 2, and Lenore, two and a half months old.

Mrs. Haran, who does all her own houeswork and laundry, except one day a week when a woman helps with the cleaning, has found time to work with the Scouts. She was a den mother for two years and is now a Brownie leader. She is a member of the Social Service Auxiliary, aiding the sick and needy. And for relaxation, Mrs. Haran knits clothing for the youngsters. This "calms" her, she says.

Greg, a salesman for men's sportswear in San Francisco, is majoring in business administration at USF, attending classes three nights a week and Saturday mornings. He also "takes over" the kitchen at home for the weekends, preparing all the meals. His wife says, "He's a marvelous cook." The Harans belong to the San Francisco Yacht Club and have a small outboard motor boat. Greg takes the children out on the bay when the weather is good, but they have to take turns as the boat is so small.

Summer vacations pose no problem. Greg takes all the older children, plus a few of their pals, camping on the site of an abandoned gold mine in Plumas County, in which he has a half interest. The fishing is excellent and Greg and the youngsters have a grand time. At camp he does all the cooking and the children keep the camp "ship shape." They come home with so much talk about the fun they have that Mrs. Haran says she is going this summer and take the small children, too, even the baby. The Harans were nominated by Mrs. William McCann of Fairfax, who is herself, the mother of seven.

The other "Marin Family of the year" is outstanding in many fields. National recognition has come to the Bryan Youngclaus afmily. The two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Youngclaus, Charles, 20, and Loren, 18, both students at Fresno State College, were the first brothers in National 4-H Club history to be concurrently chosen as county, state and national winners in the leadership and citizenship program. This week the boys received a letter from Vice President Richard M. Nixon congratulating them on their "splendid achievement."

The Fairfax couple's daughter, Lorelyn, 14, a sophomore at Sir Francis Drake High School, was one of the four county medalist winners in home economics and was also blue premium winner at the Fourth District Fair this year.

Mr. Youngclaus, who is self-employed and in the greeting card business, is now president of Drake High School P-TA. Both he and his wife have been active in P-TA for many years. He is a past president of the 4-H Leaders Council and for four years his wife was secretary. Both have been leaders in many 4-H projects and served on the county committees of UNICEF and Muscular Dystrophy.

Mrs. Youngclaus is a teacher at James Lick Junior High School in San Francisco and supervisor of its social science department. In 1958 the Youngclaus family "adopted" a son for a year through the American Field Service program. He is William Rayner of New Zealand. They have just received a letter from him wishing all his "family" a Merry Christmas. John G. Horton nominated the Fairfax family for the "Marin Family of the Year."

Both Hugh Turner and I join with other admirers of the Haran and Youngclaus families in wishing them them a happy holiday and a bright new year.

The Harans' first child, Lydia, just 14, is a senior Girl Scout and a freshman at Marin Catholic High School. She has eight brothers and sisters, Michael 13, a Boy Scout, Elizabeth, 11, a Girl Scout, Leila, 9, a Brownie, Daniel 7, and Gregory, 6, all attending St. Raphael's School, and the little ones are Mary Margaret, who will be four years old on Dec. 28, Robertl, 2, and Lenore, two and a half months old.

Mrs. Haran, who does all her own houeswork and laundry, except one day a week when a woman helps with the cleaning, has found time to work with the Scouts. She was a den mother for two years and is now a Brownie leader. She is a member of the Social Service Auxiliary, aiding the sick and needy. And for relaxation, Mrs. Haran knits clothing for the youngsters. This "calms" her, she says.

Greg, a salesman for men's sportswear in San Francisco, is majoring in business administration at USF, attending classes three nights a week and Saturday mornings. He also "takes over" the kitchen at home for the weekends, preparing all the meals. His wife says, "He's a marvelous cook." The Harans belong to the San Francisco Yacht Club and have a small outboard motor boat. Greg takes the children out on the bay when the weather is good, but they have to take turns as the boat is so small.

Summer vacations pose no problem. Greg takes all the older children, plus a few of their pals, camping on the site of an abandoned gold mine in Plumas County, in which he has a half interest. The fishing is excellent and Greg and the youngsters have a grand time. At camp he does all the cooking and the children keep the camp "ship shape." They come home with so much talk about the fun they have that Mrs. Haran says she is going this summer and take the small children, too, even the baby. The Harans were nominated by Mrs. William McCann of Fairfax, who is herself, the mother of seven.

The other "Marin Family of the year" is outstanding in many fields. National recognition has come to the Bryan Youngclaus afmily. The two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Youngclaus, Charles, 20, and Loren, 18, both students at Fresno State College, were the first brothers in National 4-H Club history to be concurrently chosen as county, state and national winners in the leadership and citizenship program. This week the boys received a letter from Vice President Richard M. Nixon congratulating them on their "splendid achievement."

The Fairfax couple's daughter, Lorelyn, 14, a sophomore at Sir Francis Drake High School, was one of the four county medalist winners in home economics and was also blue premium winner at the Fourth District Fair this year.

Mr. Youngclaus, who is self-employed and in the greeting card business, is now president of Drake High School P-TA. Both he and his wife have been active in P-TA for many years. He is a past president of the 4-H Leaders Council and for four years his wife was secretary. Both have been leaders in many 4-H projects and served on the county committees of UNICEF and Muscular Dystrophy.

Mrs. Youngclaus is a teacher at James Lick Junior High School in San Francisco and supervisor of its social science department. In 1958 the Youngclaus family "adopted" a son for a year through the American Field Service program. He is William Rayner of New Zealand. They have just received a letter from him wishing all his "family" a Merry Christmas. John G. Horton nominated the Fairfax family for the "Marin Family of the Year."

Both Hugh Turner and I join with other admirers of the Haran and Youngclaus families in wishing them them a happy holiday and a bright new year.

In Celebrating A Birthday We Find Joy, Friendship

Tomorrow is Christmas Day. A day of giving. A day of receiving. A day of happiness. A day of friendship. And a day of worship.

Yet all this is one day, a day which can not be broken into parts by saying, Now I will give! or Now I will receive! or Now I will be happy! or Now I will worship!

You can't divorce Jesus Christ from his birthday, and you can't avoid the spirit of Christmas merely by saying, I don't believe.

In this predominately Christian nation of ours, there is an infusion of Christ's teachings at this time of year which even those of other religious faiths can not escape. Even persons who do not believe that Jesus Christ was the son of God find at this time of year they too are friendly, happy, giving and receiving as well.

This is one of the wonderful things about Christmas.

People who complain that Christmas is too much of a rush, too tiring, has become too commercialized, are often the very ones who prize most highly their annual exchange of Christmas cards (which they "hate" to address).

They are often the very ones who are disappointed when the Christmas cards they receive have no personal message, no word about how the year has treated the friends and families with whom they are in contact only once a year.

In this disappointment they completely negate the disparagement they have vocally expressed. They disclose that Christ's birthday is indeed a time of fellowship, or friendship and of the gift of happiness between friends.

As we discover that there is more to Christmas than just another holiday, it becomes clear that this birthday is not a usual birthday. What mere man's birthday would be celebrated 1,959 years later?

So we find that indeed we are involved in a religious observation, celebrating what Christians believe to be the most important event since the world was created.

And in celebrating, we find joy and peace and friendship.

Merry Christmas to all of you from all of us.

THE PRICE OF PEACE

Practically everybody in the world wants peace. But too many overlook the fact that peace, which is the "tranquility of the order" is never achieved by mere wishful thinking.

"Blessed are the peacemakers." (Matthew 5:9) said the Prince of Peace. He did not say "blessed" are those who only sit and talk about peace without ever taking the difficult steps to bring it about.

To be a "peacemaker" or a "maker of peace" usually means inconvenience and hard work.

Heartaches and heartbreaks are the customary price you must pay to apply divine love to your home, organization, community, state, country or world.

Remember this Christmas Day that the peace of the world starts with you as much as it does with anyone. The more you realize this, the more you will equip yourself to play a decisive role in shaping the reasonable peace which God wishes all mankind to enjoy during your pilgrimage to heaven.

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth, peace among men of good will."
(Luke 2:14)

O Prince of Peace, teach me to be a peace "maker," not only a peace talker."

Has Gun Club Changed Policy?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

You recently wrote that the Marin Rod and Gun Clubhouse proved itself ideal for large meetings dealing with hunting and fishing.

But in one important aspect the club supports the facilities does not appear to qualify under our American ideal of equality and brotherhood.

You reported a year or so ago that the club had refused membership to a Marin resident of outstanding qualifications and character solely because he was of Japanese extraction. You ably editorialized in opposition to this discrimination. It does not seem to me that this is the kind of action we citizens should overlook and forget.

I hope that the club has in the meantime changed its policies and would be happy to learn of it. The club hurts itself by such discrimination.

Not Everyone Needs Math

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The comment made on 'Slow Starters Need A Chance' — Ward H. Austin dist. supt. and president College of Marin, has a lot of virtue — to say the least.

In my own restricted circle I have known a number of the so-called slow starters — but they are now doing better than some of the 'whizzes' in mathematics or other division of modern thinking. In many cases this student needs only another few months for some tuition — then he finally finds himself and goes to town! It is up to the school to find this 'bent'; I mean the worthy teacher, no matter what school!

There are some types of juvenile minds — and always will be, who do not embrace our curriculum — for one reason or another. These students are often hard to deal with — clear through high school. But some degree of tolerance can always be exercised by the teacher. It is part of his or her profession to be patient with these 'slow starters' — as very often these backward pupils suddenly change for the better and finally graduate with high credits.

Should a few of these pupils dislike mathematics or physics for instance, this is no reason why they cannot continue with other studies of a less technical nature which suits their nature. Some of our best talent in sales work, commercial enterprise, social and economic work, do not have to graduate in any branch of math to reach top position in our society. We have had proof of this in countless forms.

On the other hand, we have all known mathematical whizzes that have made no special impression in later life.

Our graduation requirements can be adjusted to meet the various conditions — with a final all 'round benefit and a credit to our educational system. Are we going to let Russia, the Scandinavian countries and other European systems excell us in this development?

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Real Estate Man Warns Petaluma And San Rafael Could Well Listen

The City of Petaluma and its chamber of commerce jointly called a meeting of community leaders and property owners last week to hear some straight talk about what is wrong with their city.

A good deal of what they heard might have been directed to San Rafael quite as legitimately.

The meeting was called by Petaluma Mayor Arthur Parent at request of the chamber of commerce. The speaker was Howard McGurrin of Coldwell-Banker and Co., a San Francisco real estate firm handling principally commercial properties. McGurrin is in its commercial property management division.

HIS REMARKS perhaps represent a somewhat restricted view; however, they are well worth considering — not only by Petalumans but also by San Rafaelites.

According to reporter Bob Wells of the Petaluma Argus-Courier, on whose account we rely, McGurrin objected to a long list of things which he said make Petaluma a "horse and buggy town." He even thought the name Petaluma itself should be abandoned.

He called Petaluma's old buildings an eyesore.

He could say the same of many downtown structures in San Rafael.

He said approaches to Petaluma "are the ugliest of any town I know."

San Rafael's approaches have been assailed for lack of beauty, and its Irwin street entrance has been called the worst the Division of Highways ever designed — by engineers of the division itself.

McGURRIN blistered Petalumans for allowing a burned-out store to remain for years across from Center Park.

San Rafael has done better with its burned-out block. The D-to-E streets block of Fourth street was mostly burned two and one-half years ago. Nearly all has been rebuilt. Two buildings are now under way. Only a couple of vacant spaces remain, and they have been cleared.

Zoning for shopping centers along roads outside Petaluma may help dry up the downtown district, McGurrin told his audience. He cited Oakland as a horrible example of what happens when a downtown district is allowed to deteriorate too far. (Coldwell-Banker "for lease" cards are familiar sights in the windows of vacant stores and offices in downtown Oakland.)

AS A MAJOR step to revive downtown Petaluma, he proposed a vast program to create off-street parking. It would be much large than the off-street parking program that has been undertaken by San Rafael so far — although continued ploughing of parking meter funds into parking lots may eventually give San Rafael such an amount.

The meeting at which McGurrin spoke was called largely because Petaluma businessmen and property owners became disturbed over Montgomery Ward and Co.'s quitting their city.

Montgomery Ward is quitting San Rafael, too—to move to the Corte Madera Center as soon as its new building there is completed.

But there is this difference: McGurrin was pessimistic about leasing the downtown Petaluma building which Wards vacated — and for which his firm is agent. The building on San Rafael's Fourth street being vacated by Wards has already been leased to Lachman Brothers Furniture Co., which plans to remodel it into a modern and attractive furniture store.

This indicates that San Rafael's downtown area is regarded more favorably, investment-wise, than that of Petaluma.

But that happy condition may not continue if San Rafael property owners and civic leaders fail to heed the danger signs.

Some Appropriate Gift Books For Various People And Groups

NEW YORK (AP) — When it comes to a token of affection, a good book speaks volumes.

So if, at the last moment, you find you have overlooked an old and dear friend on your Christmas list, why not rush to the nearest store and buy him a book?

If he has forgotten how to read, send him an illustrated book. Then he will be able to look at the pictures when his television set is on the blink — and he will remember you kindly.

But what book to buy? Well, here — all in fun — is a suggested list of titles for people or organizations you may have heard of:

"More than Meets the Eye" —Jackie Gleason.

"A Rockefeller Family Portrait"—Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"The Mansion"—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

"Happy Families Are All Alike"—The Democratic party

"The Fabulous Showman" —Nikita Khrushchev.

"A Touch of Innocence"—James R. Hoffa.

"Image of America"—President Eisenhower.

"The Improper Bohemians" —Your noisy neighbors.

"The Greatest Gamblers"—Sens. Morse and Humphrey.

"A Quiet Remarkable Father"—John D. Rockefeller Jr.

"The Silent Traveler in Boston"—Sen. John F. Kennedy.

"What's Wrong with U.S. Foreign Policy"—Fidel Castro.

"The Coming of the New Deal"—Herbert Hoover.

"In the Days of McKinley" —Harry S. Truman.

"How I Turned $1,000 Into a Million in Real Estate — In My Spare Time"—Your landlord.

"Things That Go Bump in the Night" — Wernher von Braun.

"Triumph in the West"—Manager Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"Christmas with Ed Sullivan," Steve Allen.

"The Longest Day"—Your boss.

REMEMBER WHEN

10 YEARS AGO

The board of supervisors was asked by 193 petitioners to annex the San Pedro elementary school district to the San Rafael school district.

The first mass was said in the rebuilt Mission San Rafael Arcangel with the Most Rev. John J. Mitty, archbishop of San Francisco, blessing the mission and giving the dedicatory address. Governor Earl Warren was a distinguished guest.

Rainfall over the stormy weekend totaled 1.54 inches, bringing yearly rainfall to date, in what appeared to be a dry year, up to 7.52 inches compared to 6.69 inches last year.

20 YEARS AGO

Vice President John Nance Garner said that he had a lot of things more important to do than campaigning for the presidency, such as a bit of fishing and hunting and taking care of the prize bantam chickens on his ranch.

The Marin chapter of the American Red Cross reported its largest membership in history when it collected $12,334 from 6,426 members.

Russian forces pounded at Finnish defenses with tanks, artillery, infantry and airplanes, in what was perhaps its biggest offensive against Finland on the eve of Josef V. Stalin's 60th birthday.

There Are Things You Can Do To Help Curb Filth Peddlers

Your teen-age son or daughter may shortly be receiving in the mail — unsolicited — an inocent-looking, brown manila envelope. If there is no return address on the outside, you better be suspicious.

In this envelope will quite likely be some come-on pornographic pictures, not the filthiest available, not the hard-core obscenity which can be had later, but with them the assurance that for a few dollars you can get "better action poses of the kind you'll like."

Soon there may be an invitation for your son to become a "young businessman" — in other words, to become a sub-seller of lewd photos on consignment so he can sell them to his friends to earn money — and possibly a prison sentence.

THIS AWFUL traffic is already "big business" with a turn-over of about a half billion dollars a year. It is the kind of traffic which, like the drug traffic, draws the mobster to its quick-money ranks.

The post office estimates that the filth-peddlers will send 1,000,000 letters to children throughout the country this year.

The question which must concern you as a father or a mother is: What can I do to stop it? What can I do to protect my family from this evil intrusion?

The answer is that there is little you can do about it by yourself. You can't effectively bale the traffickers into court. The are elusive. They do business one month at one address and then scurry to another.

BUT THERE ARE two instant and practical steps you can take and, without this assistance, the post office is nearly helpless to act.

The first course of action you can take is this:

1 — Save all the material, including the envelope.

2 — Put it promptly into the hands of the local postmaster.

On the basis of this evidence the Post-Office Department will thoroughly investigate and bring all possible legal remedy to bear against the mis-users of the mail.

More likely than not, if anyone in your family receives obscene pictures in the mail, he has not asked for them or else has answered a misleading advertisement. The peddlers go to ingenious lengths to acquire teen-age mailing lists to whom they can address their come-on stuff without invitation.

THIS TRAFFIC in mail-order obscenity has doubled in five years and Postmaser General Arthur Summerfield estimates that, with this momentum, it is likely to double again in four years. That would make it a $1,000,000 business annually, a gravy-train for racketeers.

One other thing you can do to help is to take the initiative to alert your community and all parents to the subtle and secretive ways the peddlers to tempt young people to become addicts. The best way is to work through your local civic organizations, parent-teachers associations, women's clubs, and other groups.

Both Good, Bad News If You Look For It

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All is not aglow at this Christmas time.

There's bad news with the good.

According to a Senate committee, our phones may be tapped. The steel strike isn't really over, at all. And Edna Wallace Hopper, the symbol of perpetual youth, has died. Although they didn't know for sure, she probably wasn't a year over 85 or 90.

John L. Lewis has announced he's quitting as head of the United Mine Workers, after 40 years. All the editorial writers consider him respectable now, he complained recently, and the job's no fun anymore.

NELSON ROCKEFELLER ran out of money in Dallas, shattering another illusion. It is true though the store finally saw its way clear to let him have a few items on credit.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield says now we may have to start soon paying five cents for a stamp. To be safe, I'm going to buy up some fours.

BUT IF YOU LOOK hard enough, there's always a bright spot or two.

The government says dividends are up and we're all richer than ever before. Of course this does raise a question exactly what group they have been sampling. I guess Perle Mesta, the Washington hostess, was one of those counted. She's just solved one of her Christmas gift problems with a nice mink coat for her poodle.

All the evidence is that Russia is still way ahead in the space race, but even here there's a felicitous note. It seems we've made our last space attempt for the year. Government sources say we definitely won't fire another dud before 1960.

Also on the sunny side, it's too late now to mail Christmas cards, so you can go ahead and forget it. And the Internal Revenue Service assures me the postman shouldn't deliver your Tax Form 1040 until at least two or three days after Christmas.

THERE'S NO USE at all brooding over the aminotriazole that no longer contaminates our cranberry jelly, or the stilbestrol which farmers no longer inject into the heads of their chickens.

And since television reformed, I guess we can also forget about rigged quiz shows and payola. One network tells us now it has even quit canning the laughs.

So cheer up. The optimistic way I figure it, it's 367 days before next Christmas (Leap Year you know).

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

William Feather has come up with the 1879 Christmas dinner menu of the Maxwell House, which still does business as a hotel in Nashville, Tenn. For that holiday spread, diners were offered a choice of over 130 items — and all this for a fixed price of under three dollars! A few of the more exotic dishes included oysters in champagne, salmi of prairie grouse, boned wild boar's head, buffalo tongues, Tennessee opossum, saddle of Minnesota venison, broiled pheasant — and "old fashioned" New England pumpkin pie.

Under roasts and game were 21 items. What puzzles historian Feather is how all this was possible in the gadget-less kitchens and pantries of 80 years ago. How was the food kept fresh and tasty until time to cook? Were the gourmets of those lusty days immune from ptomaine, indigestion, and other related ills?

2 — Put it promptly into the hands of the local postmaster.

On the basis of this evidence the Post-Office Department will thoroughly investigate and bring all possible legal remedy to bear against the mis-users of the mail.

More likely than not, if anyone in your family receives obscene pictures in the mail, he has not asked for them or else has answered a misleading advertisement. The peddlers go to ingenious lengths to acquire teen-age mailing lists to whom they can address their come-on stuff without invitation.

THIS TRAFFIC in mail-order obscenity has doubled in five years and Postmaser General Arthur Summerfield estimates that, with this momentum, it is likely to double again in four years. That would make it a $1,000,000 business annually, a gravy-train for racketeers.

One other thing you can do to help is to take the initiative to alert your community and all parents to the subtle and secretive ways the peddlers to tempt young people to become addicts. The best way is to work through your local civic organizations, parent-teachers associations, women's clubs, and other groups.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

William Feather has come up with the 1879 Christmas dinner menu of the Maxwell House, which still does business as a hotel in Nashville, Tenn. For that holiday spread, diners were offered a choice of over 130 items — and all this for a fixed price of under three dollars! A few of the more exotic dishes included oysters in champagne, salmi of prairie grouse, boned wild boar's head, buffalo tongues, Tennessee opossum, saddle of Minnesota venison, broiled pheasant — and "old fashioned" New England pumpkin pie.

Under roasts and game were 21 items. What puzzles historian Feather is how all this was possible in the gadget-less kitchens and pantries of 80 years ago. How was the food kept fresh and tasty until time to cook? Were the gourmets of those lusty days immune from ptomaine, indigestion, and other related ills?

Real Estate Man Warns Petaluma And San Rafael Could Well Listen

The City of Petaluma and its chamber of commerce jointly called a meeting of community leaders and property owners last week to hear some straight talk about what is wrong with their city.

A good deal of what they heard might have been directed to San Rafael quite as legitimately.

The meeting was called by Petaluma Mayor Arthur Parent at request of the chamber of commerce. The speaker was Howard McGurrin of Coldwell-Banker and Co., a San Francisco real estate firm handling principally commercial properties. McGurrin is in its commercial property management division.

HIS REMARKS perhaps represent a somewhat restricted view; however, they are well worth considering — not only by Petalumans but also by San Rafaelites.

According to reporter Bob Wells of the Petaluma Argus-Courier, on whose account we rely, McGurrin objected to a long list of things which he said make Petaluma a "horse and buggy town." He even thought the name Petaluma itself should be abandoned.

He called Petaluma's old buildings an eyesore.

He could say the same of many downtown structures in San Rafael.

He said approaches to Petaluma "are the ugliest of any town I know."

San Rafael's approaches have been assailed for lack of beauty, and its Irwin street entrance has been called the worst the Division of Highways ever designed — by engineers of the division itself.

McGURRIN blistered Petalumans for allowing a burned-out store to remain for years across from Center Park.

San Rafael has done better with its burned-out block. The D-to-E streets block of Fourth street was mostly burned two and one-half years ago. Nearly all has been rebuilt. Two buildings are now under way. Only a couple of vacant spaces remain, and they have been cleared.

Zoning for shopping centers along roads outside Petaluma may help dry up the downtown district, McGurrin told his audience. He cited Oakland as a horrible example of what happens when a downtown district is allowed to deteriorate too far. (Coldwell-Banker "for lease" cards are familiar sights in the windows of vacant stores and offices in downtown Oakland.)

AS A MAJOR step to revive downtown Petaluma, he proposed a vast program to create off-street parking. It would be much large than the off-street parking program that has been undertaken by San Rafael so far — although continued ploughing of parking meter funds into parking lots may eventually give San Rafael such an amount.

The meeting at which McGurrin spoke was called largely because Petaluma businessmen and property owners became disturbed over Montgomery Ward and Co.'s quitting their city.

Montgomery Ward is quitting San Rafael, too—to move to the Corte Madera Center as soon as its new building there is completed.

But there is this difference: McGurrin was pessimistic about leasing the downtown Petaluma building which Wards vacated — and for which his firm is agent. The building on San Rafael's Fourth street being vacated by Wards has already been leased to Lachman Brothers Furniture Co., which plans to remodel it into a modern and attractive furniture store.

This indicates that San Rafael's downtown area is regarded more favorably, investment-wise, than that of Petaluma.

But that happy condition may not continue if San Rafael property owners and civic leaders fail to heed the danger signs.

AT CHRISTMASTIME

Both Good, Bad News If You Look For It

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All is not aglow at this Christmas time.

There's bad news with the good.

According to a Senate committee, our phones may be tapped. The steel strike isn't really over, at all. And Edna Wallace Hopper, the symbol of perpetual youth, has died. Although they didn't know for sure, she probably wasn't a year over 85 or 90.

John L. Lewis has announced he's quitting as head of the United Mine Workers, after 40 years. All the editorial writers consider him respectable now, he complained recently, and the job's no fun anymore.

NELSON ROCKEFELLER ran out of money in Dallas, shattering another illusion. It is true though the store finally saw its way clear to let him have a few items on credit.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield says now we may have to start soon paying five cents for a stamp. To be safe, I'm going to buy up some fours.

BUT IF YOU LOOK hard enough, there's always a bright spot or two.

The government says dividends are up and we're all richer than ever before. Of course this does raise a question exactly what group they have been sampling. I guess Perle Mesta, the Washington hostess, was one of those counted. She's just solved one of her Christmas gift problems with a nice mink coat for her poodle.

All the evidence is that Russia is still way ahead in the space race, but even here there's a felicitous note. It seems we've made our last space attempt for the year. Government sources say we definitely won't fire another dud before 1960.

Also on the sunny side, it's too late now to mail Christmas cards, so you can go ahead and forget it. And the Internal Revenue Service assures me the postman shouldn't deliver your Tax Form 1040 until at least two or three days after Christmas.

THERE'S NO USE at all brooding over the aminotriazole that no longer contaminates our cranberry jelly, or the stilbestrol which farmers no longer inject into the heads of their chickens.

And since television reformed, I guess we can also forget about rigged quiz shows and payola. One network tells us now it has even quit canning the laughs.

So cheer up. The optimistic way I figure it, it's 367 days before next Christmas (Leap Year you know).

Marin Movie Houses Offer Family Fare For Holidays

Some Theaters Newly Open After Revamps

By LESLIE DARD

Quite properly this holiday weekend, most of Marin's theaters — some open after pre-Christmas refurbishing — are offering family fare. Here are the details:

TAMALPAIS

"Journey to the Center of the Earth" (color, CinemaScope) is a tongue-in-cheek spoof of the Jules Verne story which will please the youngsters immensely. It opens Sunday on the San Anselmo screen.

James Mason portrays a scientist whose protege is Pat Boone. Along with beauteous Arlene Dahl, they head for a crater in Iceland and eventually the exact center of the earth.

Along the way, they encounter many striking and imaginative scenes: a forest of giant mushrooms, a cavern of quartz. And they meet many dangerous forms of subterranean life. Enough to make a 12-part Saturday afternoon cliff-hanging serial.

RAFAEL THEATER

"Third Man on the Mountain" (Technicolor), made in Switzerland by Walt Disney, is an entertaining Alpine adventure tale starring young James MacArthur and Janet Munro. (It opens Sunday on the San Rafael screen.)

The famous Matterhorn peak —called the Citadel in this film —is the villain of the piece, a mass of stone which has claimed our hero's father and now lures the son.

Jimmy's chance to climb it comes when a British Alpinist (Michael Rennie) tumbles into a crevasse. The lad joins a rescue party and the climb that follows is in the best cliff-hanging tradition.

The film also offers a good deal of light humor, dancing and light romance.

LARK THEATER

"Wild Strawberries," the best art house import this year, is now showing.

Written and directed by Ingmar Bergman, this Swedish film stars Victor Sjostrom as a doctor who, in a few brief hours, experiences his resurrection as a human being.

A dream of death sets him to recapitulating his life's journey. Further dreams and daydreams — some warm, some frightening — are the instruments of change.

Estimate: Don't miss this one.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Collete's famed story of love, "Gigi," is the new feature on the Mill Valley screen.

Winner of the Academy Award for best film of the year (in CinemaScope and color), it is an utterly delightful film.

The cast includes: Maurice Chevalier as the epitome of a lush, carefree Paris; Louis Jourdan, as the richest dandy of the city; Leslie Caron as Gigi, a lovely girl being groomed in the social graces required of the mistress of a wealthy gentleman, and Hermione Gingold, as her sly grandmother.

NOVATO THEATER

Paramount reportedly made a mint out of "Samson and Delilah," one of Cecil B. DeMille's overpowering Biblical spectaculars. Now, by way of previewing the big, big season ahead, it is re-releasing this classic.

(You can brace yourself for something like 25 spectacles from European and U.S. studios in the next 12 months).

The principals in this Technicolor entertainment are Victor Mature as the long-haired victim of Hedy Lamarr. Assisting them are the likes of George Sanders, Angela Lansbury, Henry Wilcoxon, Fay Holden, Russ Tamblyn and many, many more.

Oh yes, Samsón and Delilah first was released in 1949.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

The peninsula bandbox has a double bill that's strictly for the family (tomorrow through Monday), in keeping with the season:

"Hercules," the box office surprise of the year, and "Yellowstone Kelly," which offers two top TV stars in its cast, Clint (Cheyenne) Walker and Edd (Kookie) Byrnes. Both films are in color.

The main feature stars Steve Reeves, a former Mr. Universe, in an adventure tale based on the legends of Greek mythology. The co-feature is a western. Lots and lots of action in both.

MARIN THEATER

"Happy Anniversary"—fresh from a battle with the censors —is a bawdy and frequently hilarious farce starring David Niven and Mitzi Gaynor now playing in Sausalito.

It's about a city couple celebrating their 13th anniversary with his in-laws. Niven, too full of good cheer, gives them the lowdown on what went on before their wedding.

Before the dust settles, Mitzi has locked herself in the bedroom, the in-laws are outraged and the teen-age daughter is standing before a youth forum telling a TV audience all about her parents' indiscretions.

The film pokes good fun at in-laws, TV, brats, progressive schools, bartenders, expense account romances and what have you. For the sophisticated.

FAIRFAX THEATER

"Blue Denim," (CinemaScope) takes up the plight of two kids who are faced with a dilemma: Illegal surgery for the girl or marriage—for which they are completely unprepared.

The girl (Carol Lynley) and the boy (Brandon de Wilde) can't face the thought of parental anger. A friend (Warren Berlinger) directs them to a shady doctor.

The story heads toward a climax when the boy finally manages to communicate with his parents (Marsha Hunt, Macdonald Carey), and surgery is prevented in the nick of time.

MOTOR MOVIES

"Hound Dog Man" (color, CinemaScope) marks the screen debut of a young (16) rock and roll star, Fabian.

Based on Fred Gipson's book, which is filled with nostalgic Americana (about the year 1912), it emerges as a warm, "family" film somewhat reminiscent of "The Yearling."

Stuart Whitman fills the title role as a footloose youth who takes Fabian and the latter's kid brother hunting.

There's a hoedown, lots of fiddle-scraping, humor and pathos in this tale.

Nuptials Will Add Restaurant Man To Inverness Lodge Family

Nuptial arrangements have been set for Feb. 14, Valentine's Day—very appropriate, too — for Alena Prokupek, daughter of Milan and Manka Prokupek of Inverness Lodge, and Vladimir Nevl of San Francisco.

This adds another restaurateur to the family.

Vladimir is head waiter at Ernie's in San Francisco and be-times has already been helping out at the Lodge. He was trained in hotel management in Europe, and in Australia was known as the "racing waiter." Horses are his hobby. He was on the winning Australian team in the Olympics. The recent addition of a riding academy to Inverness Lodge enterprises is under his supervision.

Last Saturday we journeyed up to the coast and, by way of diversion, ate lunch at Manka's Czech Coffee Shop which the Prokupeks have recently placed under the management of Horace and Martha Daoust. It's a nice little spot in the heart of town, open from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. every day but Thursdays. Good menu selection, too. We held our diet to clam chowder and a sandwich, but noticed that fresh Tomales Bay oysters were listed, as well as chicken, T-bone steaks and Hungarian goulash (this is one of the favorites at the lodge).

Inverness Lodge will be open tomorrow and through New Year's but bookings are heavy. Better phone ahead to make sure space is available.

NEW YEAR'S REVELERS may possibly find additional cocktail quarters added at Bob's Of Marin. The pool where you used to throw pennies and make a wish has been removed and the area glass enclosed. It is hoped to have it ready by the end of this month.

Bob's Of Marin is one of the restaurants open tomorrow for Christmas dinner with a regular holiday menu. And on New Year's Eve, too, they will be dining with orchestra and dancing. Phone Mario Brenta for reservations.

Something on the order of the "Fifth Wheel" group has been resurrected here. It's called "The Marin Club" and is under the supervision of Bobbie Moore of San Rafael. As I understand it, it's a sort of monthly dance club for people who'd like to get acquainted. First affair is to be held Jan. 8 from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. Music will be by Gary Evers. Phone for details.

SPEAKING of Bob's Of Marin, I ran into a couple of former managers of this dinery, Dave Stewart and Virgil Val, a few days ago and learned that they have teamed up together with a third partner, Leroy Blake, in their own enterprise, the Continental Management Co.

This is a food service management concern, and the boys will assume complete operation in restaurants, schools, plants or hospitals.

We wish them well.

ALTA MIRA HOTEL is open for Christmas dinner tomorrow from noon on with about seven good menu selections to choose from.

Information I have on Alta Mira's New Year's Eve plans is that tables are sold out for the evening. If you had planned on going here you might check anyway and have your name put on the waiting list in case of a cancellation.

HOLIDAY BITS: La Petite Auberge, after tonight, will be closed for the Christmas-New Year's period—open again Jan. 5 . . . Word came too late for mention in this column of Inga Lindholm's Santa Lucia Festival on Dec. 13, but we understand Little Sweden will be open tomorrow for Christmas dinner . . . Don't miss a viewing of the Manger Scene up the hill from Fleur d'Lys in San Anselmo . . . If you've found Ernie's in Sausalito closed, it's because Ernie Morrison and Jack Cannon and families have taken off for Buckingham Springs, Ariz., over the holidays. They'll open again Jan. 8.

DAYTIME window gazers in Tiburon Tommie's Pier 41 had a hungry look when I was there last Monday, and it had nothing to do with Johnnie Won's cooking.

Just outside the new breakwater seagulls were flying and launches were floating over some of the finest bass fishing in the parts.

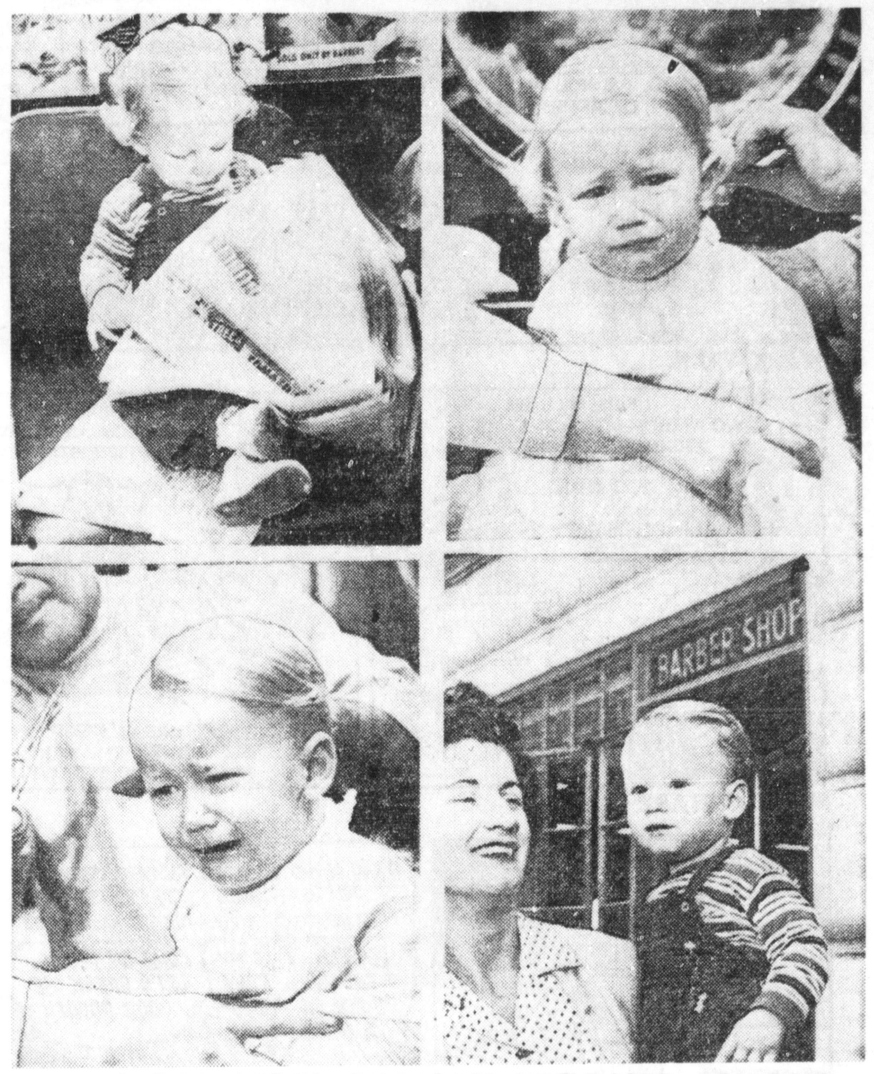
"Why aren't you out there?" I asked Tommie Cox, who apparently wasn't particularly moved by the sight.

"Two reasons," he said laconically. "Way they're biting I'd hardly have time to get my line wet before catching the limit. And I prefer telling about the ones that got away than the ones I caught."

"Why?" I wanted to know.

"You're one person I shouldn't think would have to ask that. You never have to prove your story."

Hm-m-m. I see what he means.



A SAD NOEL FINALLY BECOMES JOYOUS

This 14-month-old boy is named Noel Christmas, and he got his first haircut — appropriately—this week. He was interested in newspaper in Tampa, Fla., barber shop (upper left) but soon became a dubious Noel (upper right) and then a sad one (lower left) as the long curls started to disappear. But when it was all over, he was a joyous Noel as his beaming mother, Mrs. Jerry Christmas, carried him home. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Injured In Crash Sue For $150,000

Mrs. Norma Jean Taylor of Novato and her 15-year-old son Steven seek $150,000 damages for injuries suffered in an automobile accident on South Novato boulevard last Sept. 12.

Mrs. Taylor, who lives at 1137 Mirabell avenue, Novato, filed the suit in Marin Superior Court against Russell S. Moyer Jr. of Hamilton Air Force, driver of the car.

Mrs. Taylor and her son were passengers in a car driven by Moyer. The complaint alleges that Moyer was speeding 55 miles per hour when his car went out of control and hit a utility pole.

Mrs. Taylor says she suffered a fractured right pelvis, sprained back and neck, injuries to her face and head, and shock. Steven seeks damages for head injuries, sprained neck and back, and shock.

Yes, Even Lawyers

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The finance committee of the Milwaukee County Board sought a legal opinion on whether it could provide $500 in expenses for the newly created post of county executive.

The opinion, returned by County Corporation C. Stanley Perry, set a record for brevity. It read: "Yes."

A committee member commented: "I didn't think lawyers could use language like that."

Market Thief Ignores Meat, Takes Candies

A thief who broke into the College Market in Kentfield Tuesday night missed a chance to grab himself a full-course Christmas dinner, sheriff's investigators reported.

The thief ignored turkeys and steaks and shelves full of liquor and concentrated instead on candies, lollipops and a few packs of cigarettes. Also missing is about $10 in coin from the cash register. Nothing else was disturbed.

Sheriff's Inspector Mike Melovich and Identification Technician Raymond Barton said the back door had been broken for entry. They said the burglar appears to have been a youngster.

Deputy Sheriff Harold Goerndt spotted a coin changer damaged at the Spee Dee Wash on Grant avenue in Novato about 12:10 a.m. yesterday. Five dimes remained inside the coin changer. The exact amount of the loss is not known.

Dangerous Drink

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Jimmy Ray Wilson, 12, put his nickel in the dispensing machine and out popped a cup which was filled with a foamy white liquid. He drank it and then was rushed to the hospital where it was learned he had consumed laundry bleach. He recovered. The bleach had been put into the machine by mistake.

ALTA MIRA HOTEL is open for Christmas dinner tomorrow from noon on with about seven good menu selections to choose from.

Information I have on Alta Mira's New Year's Eve plans is that tables are sold out for the evening. If you had planned on going here you might check anyway and have your name put on the waiting list in case of a cancellation.

HCLIDAY BITS: La Petite Auberge, after tonight, will be closed for the Christmas-New Year's period—open again Jan. 5 . . . Word came too late for mention in this column of Inga Lindholm's Santa Lucia Festival on Dec. 13, but we understand Little Sweden will be open tomorrow for Christmas dinner . . . Don't miss a viewing of the Manger Scene up the hill from Fleur d'Lys in San Anselmo . . . If you've found Ernie's in Sausalito closed, it's because Ernie Morrison and Jack Cannon and families have taken off for Buckingham Springs, Ariz., over the holidays. They'll open again Jan. 8.

DAYTIME window gazers in Tiburon Tommie's Pier 41 had a hungry look when I was there last Monday, and it had nothing to do with Johnnie Won's cooking.

Just outside the new breakwater seagulls were flying and launches were floating over some of the finest bass fishing in the parts.

"Why aren't you out there?" I asked Tommie Cox, who apparently wasn't particularly moved by the sight.

"Two reasons," he said laconically. "Way they're biting I'd hardly have time to get my line wet before catching the limit. And I prefer telling about the ones that got away than the ones I caught."

"Why?" I wanted to know.

"You're one person I shouldn't think would have to ask that. You never have to prove your story."

Hm-m-m. I see what he means.

A SAD NOEL FINALLY BECOMES JOYOUS

This 14-month-old boy is named Noel Christmas, and he got his first haircut — appropriately—this week. He was interested in newspaper in Tampa, Fla., barber shop (upper left) but soon became a dubious Noel (upper right) and then a sad one (lower left) as the long curls started to disappear. But when it was all over, he was a joyous Noel as his beaming mother, Mrs. Jerry Christmas, carried him home. (AP Wirephoto)

Dangerous Drink

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Jimmy Ray Wilson, 12, put his nickel in the dispensing machine and out popped a cup which was filled with a foamy white liquid. He drank it and then was rushed to the hospital where it was learned he had consumed laundry bleach. He recovered. The bleach had been put into the machine by mistake.

Market Thief Ignores Meat, Takes Candies

A thief who broke into the College Market in Kentfield Tuesday night missed a chance to grab himself a full-course Christmas dinner, sheriff's investigators reported.

The thief ignored turkeys and steaks and shelves full of liquor and concentrated instead on candies, lollipops and a few packs of cigarettes. Also missing is about $10 in coins from the cash register. Nothing else was disturbed.

Sheriff's Inspector Mike Melovich and Identification Technician Raymond Barton said the back door had been broken for entry. They said the burglar appears to have been a youngster.

Deputy Sheriff Harold Goerndt spotted a coin changer damaged at the Spee Dee Wash on Grant avenue in Novato about 12:10 a.m. yesterday. Five dimes remained inside the coin changer. The exact amount of the loss is not known.

Parents Find Reward Tonight In The Joys Of Christmas Eve

Tonight is Christmas Eve, the night of all nights of the year for us parents.

Will you be with your family? I hope so. Your children need you on Christmas Eve. You need your children, too.

Will you gather around your fireplace and sing the good old songs which go with Christmas Eve? Will you read aloud the Christmas Bible story? "And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night." Remember?

Will you share a feeling of wonder and reverence with your children as they hear of the birth of Christ?

We parents often feel worried and cynical. We look at our friends who have no children. They wear nice clothes, drive newer cars and take more expensive vacations. They have less grey hair and fewer lines in their faces. Of course we envy them, sometimes.

But tonight they'll envy us. Our worries don't matter now. Sacrifices seem small and our returns great. Tonight we realize that without children our lives would be meaningless. We look back to the days before they were born and wonder how we could have lived without them. Tonight we realize the full richness of parenthood. Tonight we are rewarded.

Your children will never seem more loveable. Their voices will never sound nicer and your companionship will never be finer. Make it a family Christmas Eve.

Merry Christmas to you.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Our girl is 4. She chose Christmas gifts carefully for her friends, but now she does not want to part with them. She is an only child. Does this make her more selfish?"

(A) Perhaps it does make her a bit more selfish. However, all normal children of her age are selfish. Even when they appear to be generous, they may have selfish motives. Don't worry about it. She'll change. You should, of course, insist that the gifts be given as planned.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Dec. 24, the 358th day of the year, with seven more days in 1959.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Mercury and Venus.

On this day in history: In 1809, the famed American frontiersman Kit Carson was born.

In 1814, the War of 1812 officially ended with the signing of a peace treaty between the United States and England at Ghent, Belgium.

In 1942, the French administrator of North Africa, Admiral Darlan, was assassinated by a sympathizer of the French Vichy regime.

In 1943, President Roosevelt announced that Gen. Eisenhower had been appointed commander-in-chief of the Allied forces.

In 1949, America was singing "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer."

In 1951, Libya was proclaimed a free and independent nation.

Better Beware In Trying New Speed Limit

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California's speed limit goes to 65 miles an hour Jan. 1, but you'd better be careful about where you try it out.

The new limit, passed by the 1959 Legislature, will affect only about one-third of some 14,500 miles of state highway. The remaining miles lie in mountain or foothill country where 65 is suicidal, or they lie in areas already zoned for lower speeds.

The figures came from R. J. Israel, assistant chief traffic engineer for the state Division of Highways. He estimated the mountain and foothill mileage at 5,000 to 6,000 and lower speed zones at 3,500.

But despite the restrictions on high speed travel, Israel and his boss, Chief Traffic Engineer George M. Webb, are concerned lest some motorists use the new law as an excuse for going faster, no matter where they are.

Some motorists might not realize that the new limit is an absolute maximum on the open road. If a driver goes one mile faster, he's breaking the law.

Under the old 55-mile rule, a driver could go faster if he could produce "competent evidence" to show that he was "reasonable and prudent" at the higher speed.

To forestall the motorist who might think he can go faster than 65, engineers will install new maximum speed limit signs at various points in the state. The new signs say "Maximum Speed Limit 65 Miles"; the old ones said simply "Speed Limit 55 miles."

Twenty-six of these will be especially big ones and will be unveiled New Year's Day of before at highway entrances to California. These will announce not only the passenger car speed of 65, but also the trailer and truck speeds, both of which are 45.

Smaller signs will go up on the newer freeways built during the past two years with an assist from federal funds. These roads, part of the government's interstate system and carrying the red, white and blue markers, were actually designed for 70 mile an hour travel.

One such road is the new section of U.S. 40 between Carquinez Bridge and Richmond. Called Interstate 80, it's so straight and wide that if there were no 65-mile markers, motorists might try anything.

Israel estimated that there would be 2,300 miles of interstate routes in California by 1970.

But the bulk of the engineering work during the past six months has been the testing and installation of speed zones on formerly unposted sections of state highway. At some points, for instance, studies showed 55 to be the best maximum speed. The old statewide limit made signs unnecessary at these points, but now they must be posted.

Also, the engineers will extend existing zones adjacent to communities. This will give the incoming motorist a longer distance in which to slow down.

In all, Israel and Webb estimated their department would add about 500 miles of posted mileage to California's total of 3,500. About 200 miles of the extra postings will be complete by Jan. 1.

Touring Marinites Tell Of Seeing Ike Take Part In Rites At Athens

George Pohlmann, social science teacher at Tamalpais High School, and his wife, Lillian, former librarian at Sir Francis Drake High School, are touring Europe in search of material for a book they are planning. Pohlmann, on sabbatical leave during the present school term, was on the scene in Athens, Greece, when President Eisenhower laid a wreath at the tomb of that country's Unknown Soldier. Here are his impressions of that day as he wrote them for the Independent-Journal readers:

By GEORGE POHLMANN

ATHENS—We saw our President lay a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Athens.

For days Athens had been making preparations for President Eisenhower's visit. The blue and white Greek flag and 49-star American flag hung from special poles along the main boulevard from the airport to Constitution Square, along Embassy Row, and on other routes the President would be taking.

Posters with a photograph of Eisenhower waving from the steps on board a plane and words of welcome in Greek were pasted on walls and buildings throughout the central part of the city. Many of the posters fell off, and we saw Greeks fold them and tuck them under their arms.

The day he arrived flags appeared everywhere in the narrow streets of Old Athens, between Constitution Square and the Acropolis, where we have stayed for the past month.

At night the Acropolis, visible from our window four blocks away, is beautifully illuminated for the occasion, the rocks red, green, and amber, and the Parthenon and Erectheum in their natural colors silhouetted against a black sky.

The morning of the day he arrived we obtained passes at the U. S. Consulate for admission to the Old Palace grounds surrounding the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, available to Americans with passports in hand.

The President was scheduled to arrive at the Palace Grounds at 5:40, so we decided to walk up before 4. It was a job getting through the crowds in Constitution Square, opposite the Old Palace, but our American identity stuck out all over us. The people made way for us, and the police directed us around the Greek navy guards and past a row of medium tanks.

We found a place in front of the palace, above but out of sight of the tomb. A couple of dozen Greeks squeezed under the cable and took places on the steps leading down to the tomb. So did a dozen Greeks with American Legion caps. One was singing "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

Just before the entourage arrived a Greek civilian came over and told the police to let us go beyond the barrier to the steps where we could see. We ended up in an excellent vantage point.

The small parade arrived 25 minutes early, having stopped at the Temple of the Olympian Zeus to pick up two squadrons of cavalry. One squadron on white horses preceded the presidential car, and one on brown horses followed.

The President was standing in the open car, with hat and topcoat on, waving to the cheering crowds. When the car stopped King Paul got out first. Eisenhower took his topcoat off, which an officer took, and walked with the king up to the tomb.

The wreath had been on a stand guarded by one U. S. Marine in dress uniform who handed it to the President. Eisenhower placed the wreath, stepped back, removed his hat, and bowed his head for about a minute. He turned, put his hat on and the king joined him.

White pigeons, with American or Greek flags attached to their legs, were released. Some, finding the load frustrating, alighted in the tangerine trees, heavily loaded with ripe fruit. One barely cleared Mrs. Pohlmann's head.

A band of Greek soldiers in their ancient, traditionad costume played the "Star Spangled Banner" and the Greek national anthem, while the President stood uncovered, and King Paul, in army uniform, saluted.

The President and the king walked past the honor guard, also dressed in the traditional costume, a beret-like cap, what looks like long, white underwear, with extremely short white kilts, and black pompons on the toes of their shoes.

Arriving at the car the President put his topcoat on, with King Paul's help, and the two got in, and stood while the car pulled away, up the street and around the corner into Embassy Row.

While he stood in front of the tomb, head bowed, both of us had trouble swallowing. There stood our beloved President, on a long mission of peace, and our hearts were with him.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

By RICHARD BARBOUR, Ph. D.
Guidance Counsellor

Parents Find Reward Tonight In The Joys Of Christmas Eve

Tonight is Christmas Eve, the night of all nights of the year for us parents.

Will you be with your family? I hope so. Your children need you on Christmas Eve. You need your children, too.

Will you gather around your fireplace and sing the good old songs which go with Christmas Eve? Will you read aloud the Christmas Bible story? "And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night." Remember?

Will you share a feeling of wonder and reverence with your children as they hear of the birth of Christ?

We parents often feel worried and cynical. We look at our friends who have no children. They wear nice clothes, drive newer cars and take more expensive vacations. They have less grey hair and fewer lines in their faces. Of course we envy them, sometimes.

But tonight they'll envy us. Our worries don't matter now. Sacrifices seem small and our returns great. Tonight we realize that without children our lives would be meaningless. We look back to the days before they were born and wonder how we could have lived without them. Tonight we realize the full richness of parenthood. Tonight we are rewarded.

Your children will never seem more loveable. Their voices will never sound nicer and your companionship will never be finer. Make it a family Christmas Eve.

Merry Christmas to you.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Our girl is 4. She chose Christmas gifts carefully for her friends; but now she does not want to part with them. She is an only child. Does this make her more selfish?"

D.B.L.

(A) Perhaps it does make her a bit more selfish. However, all normal children of her age are selfish. Even when they appear to be generous, they may have selfish motives. Don't worry about it. She'll change. You should, of course, insist that the gifts be given as planned.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Dec. 24, the 358th day of the year, with seven more days in 1959.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Mercury and Venus.

On this day in history: In 1809, the famed American frontiersman Kit Carson was born.

In 1814, the War of 1812 officially ended with the signing of a peace treaty between the United States and England at Ghent, Belgium.

In 1942, the French administrator of North Africa, Admiral Darlan, was assassinated by a sympathizer of the French Vichy regime.

In 1949, America was singing "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer."

In 1951, Libya was proclaimed a free and independent nation.

A though for today: English colonist William Penn said: Truth often suffers more by the heat of its defenders, than from the arguments of its opposers."

Better Beware In Trying New Speed Limit

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California's speed limit goes to 65 miles an hour Jan. 1, but you'd better be careful about where you try it out.

The new limit, passed by the 1959 Legislature, will affect only about one-third of some 14,500 miles of state highway. The remaining miles lie in mountain or foothill country where 65 is suicidal, or they lie in areas already zoned for lower speeds.

The figures came from R. J. Israel, assistant chief traffic engineer for the state Division of Highways. He estimated the mountain and foothill mileage at 5,000 to 6,000 and lower speed zones at 3,500.

But despite the restrictions on high speed travel, Israel and his boss, Chief Traffic Engineer George M. Webb, are concerned lest some motorists use the new law as an excuse for going faster, no matter where they are.

Some motorists might not realize that the new limit is an absolute maximum on the open road. If a driver goes one mile faster, he's breaking the law.

Under the old 55-mile rule, a driver could go faster if he could produce "competent evidence" to show that he was "reasonable and prudent" at the higher speed.

To forestall the motorist who might think he can go faster than 65, engineers will install new maximum speed limit signs at various points in the state. The new signs say "Maximum Speed Limit 65 Miles"; the old ones said simply "Speed Limit 55 miles."

Twenty-six of these will be especially big ones and will be unveiled New Year's Day of before at highway entrances to California. These will announce not only the passenger car speed of 65, but also the trailer and truck speeds, both of which are 45.

Smaller signs will go up on the newer freeways built during the past two years with an assist from federal funds. These roads, part of the government's interstate system and carrying the red, white and blue markers, were actually designed for 70 mile an hour travel.

One such road is the new section of U.S. 40 between Carquinez Bridge and Richmond. Called Interstate 80, it's so straight and wide that if there were no 65-mile markers, motorists might try anything.

Israel estimated that there would be 2,300 miles of interstate routes in California by 1970.

But the bulk of the engineering work during the past six months has been the testing and installation of speed zones on formerly unposted sections of state highway. At some points, for instance, studies showed 55 to be the best maximum speed. The old statewide limit made signs unnecessary at these points, but now they must be posted.

Also, the engineers will extend existing zones adjacent to communities. This will give the incoming motorist a longer distance in which to slow down.

In all, Israel and Webb estimated their department would add about 500 miles of posted mileage to California's total of 3,500. About 200 miles of the extra postings will be complete by Jan. 1.

Touring Marinites Tell Of Seeing Ike Take Part In Rites At Athens

George Pohlmann, social science teacher at Tamalpais High School, and his wife, Lillian, former librarian at Sir Francis Drake High School, are touring Europe in search of material for a book they are planning. Pohlmann, on sabbatical leave during the present school term, was on the scene in Athens, Greece, when President Eisenhower laid a wreath at the tomb of that country's Unknown Soldier. Here are his impressions of that day as he wrote them for the Independent-Journal readers:

By GEORGE POHLMANN

ATHENS—We saw our President lay a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Athens.

For days Athens had been making preparations for President Eisenhower's visit. The blue and white Greek flag and 49-star American flag hung from special poles along the main boulevard from the airport to Constitution Square, along Embassy Row, and on other routes the President would be taking.

Posters with a photograph of Eisenhower waving from the steps on board a plane and words of welcome in Greek were pasted on walls and buildings throughout the central part of the city. Many of the posters fell off, and we saw Greeks fold them and tuck them under their arms.

The day he arrived flags appeared everywhere in the narrow streets of Old Athens, between Constitution Square and the Acropolis, where we have stayed for the past month.

At night the Acropolis, visible from our window four blocks away, is beautifully illuminated for the occasion, the rocks red, green, and amber, and the Parthenon and Erectheum in their natural colors silhouetted against a black sky.

The morning of the day he arrived we obtained passes at the U. S. Consulate for admission to the Old Palace grounds surrounding the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, available to Americans with passports in hand.

The President was scheduled to arrive at the Palace Grounds at 5:40, so we decided to walk up before 4. It was a job getting through the crowds in Constitution Square, opposite the Old Palace, but our American identity stuck out all over us. The people made way for us, and the police directed us around the Greek navy guards and past a row of medium tanks.

We found a place in front of the palace, above but out of sight of the tomb. A couple of dozen Greeks squeezed under the cable and took places on the steps leading down to the tomb. So did a dozen Greeks with American Legion caps. One was singing "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

Just before the entourage arrived a Greek civilian came over and told the police to let us go beyond the barrier to the steps where we could see. We ended up in an excellent vantage point.

The small parade arrived 25 minutes early, having stopped at the Temple of the Olympian Zeus to pick up two squadrons of cavalry. One squadron on white horses preceded the presidential car, and one on brown horses followed.

The President was standing in the open car, with hat and topcoat on, waving to the cheering crowds. When the car stopped King Paul got out first. Eisenhower took his topcoat off, which an officer took, and walked with the king up to the tomb.

The wreath had been on a stand guarded by one U. S. Marine in dress uniform who handed it to the President. Eisenhower placed the wreath, stepped back, removed his hat, and bowed his head for about a minute. He turned, put his hat on and the king joined him.

White pigeons, with American or Greek flags attached to their legs, were released. Some, finding the load frustrating, alighted in the tangerine trees, heavily loaded with ripe fruit. One barely cleared Mrs. Pohlmann's head.

A band of Greek soldiers in their ancient, traditionad costume played the "Star Spangled Banner" and the Greek national anthem, while the President stood uncovered, and King Paul, in army uniform, saluted.

The President and the king walked past the honor guard, also dressed in the traditional costume, a beret-like cap, what looks like long, white underwear, with extremely short white kilts, and black pompons on the toes of their shoes.

Arriving at the car the President put his topcoat on, with King Paul's help, and the two got in, and stood while the car pulled away, up the street and around the corner into Embassy Row.

While he stood in front of the tomb, head bowed, both of us had trouble swallowing. There stood our beloved President, on a long mission of peace, and our hearts were with him.

Taxable Property Of Bay Counties Totals $6 Billion

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The net valuation of taxable property in the nine Bay Area counties totals $6,089,416,426, the San Francisco Bay Area Council reports.

This was a 7 per cent increase over 1958-59.

The largest dollar value was in San Francisco, with $1,390,454,204 or 22.9 per cent of the Bay Area total.

Other counties included in the report were Marin, Alameda, Contra Costa, Napa, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Solano and Sonoma.

Instruction to Land Buyers

First see the land which thou intend'st to buy
Within the sellers title clearly lye.
And that no woman to it doth lay claime
By dowry, joynture, or some other name.
That may incumber, know if bond or fee
The Tenure stand, and that for each feoffee
It be released, that th' sellers be soe old,
That he may lawful sell, thou lawful hold.
Have special care that it not mortgaged lye,
Nor be entailed upon posterity.
Then if it stand in statute bound or noe,
Be well advised what quitt rent but must goe.
What custome service hath been done of old
By those who formerly the same did hold.
And if a wedded woman put to sale
Deal not with her unless she bring her male,
For she doth under covert barren goe,
Although sometimes some traffique soe we know
Thy bargain made and all this be done,
Have special care to make thy charter run
To thee, thy heirs, executors assigns,
For that beyond they life securely binds,
These things foreknow and done, you may prevent,
Those things rash buyers many times repent,
And yet when you have done all you can,
If youle be sure, deal with an honest man.

Instruction to Land Buyers

First see the land which thou intend'st to buy
Within the sellers title clearly lye.
And that no woman to it doth lay claime
By dowry, joynture, or some other name.
That may incumber, know if bond or fee
The Tenure stand, and that for each feoffee
It be released, that th' sellers be soe old,
That he may lawful sell, thou lawful hold.
Have special care that it not mortgaged lye,
Nor be entailed upon posterity.
Then if it stand in statute bound or noe,
Be well advised what quitt rent but must goe.
What custome service hath been done of old
By those who formerly the same did hold.
And if a wedded woman put to sale
Deal not with her unless she bring her male,
For she doth under covert barren goe,
Although sometimes some traffique soe we know
Thy bargain made and all this be done,
Have special care to make thy charter run
To thee, thy heirs, executors assigns,
For that beyond they life securely binds,
These things foreknow and done, you may prevent,
Those things rash buyers many times repent,
And yet when you have done all you can,
If youle be sure, deal with an honest man.

County Tax Payments Top $9.4 Million

County property owners paid $9,417,952 in taxes by the Dec. 10 deadline, County Tax Collector M. F. Donohue reported today.

This represents 58.47 per cent of the total bill for this year. The total to be collected by next April is $16,104,863.

Donohue said the collection this year has been "very good." It is running just about the same as last year, when 58.8 per cent was collected in the first installment. Many taxpayers pay both installments at one time, therefore, the payment during the first installment is always heavier than during the second installment.

Second installment payments, which must be paid by April 10 next year, are already coming in. About $23,000 has been collected and more are coming in each day.

NO SNOW, SO WHAT?
When the Weather Man said there was no snow in sight for Christmas, Betty Shields, a Leavenworth, Kan., art illustrator decided she'd have a snowman anyway. So she got some wire mesh, string and more than 10 pounds of cotton and constructed this life-size snowman. She spent about 45 hours of her spare time, with her mother pitching in with help. Here, Betty peers from behind the front-yard attraction. (AP Wirephoto)

BUT WAIT TILL HE GROWS UP!
Thirteen-month-old gorilla can easily pin this little lion cub as they wrestle at San Diego Zoo. It may be a different story, however, when the future "king of the jungle" grows up. He's only five weeks old now. (UPI Telephoto)

MARIN CALENDAR

TOMORROW:
Christmas. All regular meetings canceled; special services at many churches.

SATURDAY:
Alcoholics Anonymous, San Rafael Saturday Night Group, 8:30 p.m., Trinity Lutheran Church.
Circle O Promenaders, 8 p.m., IDESI Hall, Novato.

First Aid Class Will Start Jan. 11

A change has been made in the starting date of the next standard first aid class, according to Thomas Larke Jr., acting first aid chairman for the Marin American Red Cross chapter.

The class will start Monday, Jan. 11, and continue for three more Mondays, ending Feb. 1. The class will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. at the chapter house, 712 Fifth avenue, San Rafael. David Harnage will be the teacher. Those interested may register by calling the chapter house.

Additional standard and advanced classes will be announced as they are scheduled.

Cooperate

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Two independent television stations are telecasting over the same channel at different times under the first and only "shared-time" arrangement.

WMSB, Michigan State University television station, offers 38¼ hours of education programming each week, WILX-TV, a commercial station, also telecasts over the channel. MSU constructed the transmitter and rents it to the commercial concern.

Diet For Oysters

GLOUCESTER POINT, Va. (AP)—There is a pampered group of oysters here and another group not so pampered.

One group gets 12 quarts of salt water per minute and the other four quarts. The object is to see if oysters gain weight and get fat faster in swift or slow currents.

The Virginia Fisheries Laboratory wants to know what makes an oyster fat.

MEDICAL WARNING

Too Much Television Can Bring Ailments

LONDON (AP)—A British medical magazine warns that too much television can give you anything from a pain in the neck to a heart attack.

The periodical, The Lancet, emphasized that the incidence of what it dubbed "television collapse" is small. It asserted, however, that prolonged peering may bring on the following ailments:

1. TV neck. Watching from a chair which is too low or too high may cause pain and stiffness among the upper vertebrae.

2. TV thrombosis. Sitting immobile in awkward positions may lead to blood clots in the veins.

3. TV arteries. Slouching in an easy chair may push the heart forward in the chest, producing degeneration of main blood vessels.

4. TV gas pains. Viewers have been known to faint from pain beneath the breastbone caused by eating a heavy meal and then lolling in a cramped posture.

5. TV heart attack. Programs which cause emotional stress may bring on angina pectoris, a pain in the chest accompanied by oppression of the heart.

The Lancet said viewers may head off most of these by getting out of their chairs at least once an hour and taking a brisk walk around the room.

They also should avoid wearing tight belts or girdles.

14 Building Permits Issued By County

Fourteen building permits, including one for a $98,600, 12-unit apartment house in Kentfield, were issued by the Marin County building inspection department last week.

Total valuation of authorized construction was $237,860. The apartment building will be built by R. C. Briggs of Novato on Kent avenue.

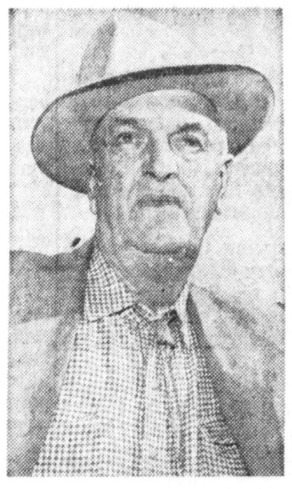
A WEEK OF GOOD READING



PROFILE OF THE WEEK — Unquestionably a top candidate for the title of Mr. West Marin is big Jim Kehoe. He's not only well-known, but he's well-liked. And he's led a colorful life. He's been a trick rider on the rodeo circuit. He did a bit in motion pictures, and had a chance at a career as a western movie star. He's been a successful rancher. And he's been a Marin County supervisor. But, most of all, he's been a good neighbor and a leading force for common-sense progress in Marin's development. Independent-Journal reporter Dorothy Blackman will write about this prominent Marinite in Saturday's Marin Magazine.

County Tax Payments Top $9.4 Million

County property owners paid $9,417,952 in taxes by the Dec. 10 deadline, County Tax Collector M. F. Donohue reported today.

This represents 58.47 per cent of the total bill for this year. The total to be collected by next April is $16,104,863.

Donohue said the collection this year has been "very good." It is running just about the same as last year, when 58.8 per cent was collected in the first installment. Many taxpayers pay both installments at one time, therefore, the payment during the first installment is always heavier than during the second installment.

Second installment payments, which must be paid by April 10 next year, are already coming in. About $23,000 has been collected and more are coming in each day.

NO SNOW, SO WHAT?

When the Weather Man said there was no snow in sight for Christmas, Betty Shields, a Leavenworth, Kan., art illustrator decided she'd have a snowman anyway. So she got some wire mesh, string and more than 10 pounds of cotton and constructed this life-size snowman. She spent about 45 hours of her spare time, with her mother pitching in with help. Here, Betty peers from behind the front-yard attraction. (AP Wirephoto)

BIGGEST AND OLDEST? — Corte Madera's lighted outdoor Christmas tree, in front of Holy Innocents Episcopal Church, was already a tradition when film actress Mary Pickford thought she was the first ever to light an outdoor tree. Now 90 feet tall, the tree is certainly one of the biggest and may be the oldest outdoor lighted Christmas tree in the nation.

It's Gala Yule For Exiles— They're Home

It is going to be a happy Christmas for the seven members of the van der Hof family, who are moving into their first American home today.

The family, exiled from Indonesia under a 1957 edict expelling all Dutch nationals, arrived in Marin on Dec. 5 from The Netherlands to make a new life. They came to the United States under auspices of the World Council of Churches and have been staying in the old rectory of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael.

OFFERED HOME

Four days after an Independent-Journal story about the family's search for a home, the family was offered a three-bedroom house at 333 C street in San Rafael.

For the past week Mrs. Leonie van der Hof and her five children, Djordie, 18; Rozalie, 12; Leonie, 11; Pieter, 5, and Yvonne, 4, have been making daily treks to the new house—scrubbing it and readying it for the Christmas Eve move.

Yesterday the children trimmed the Christmas tree they had cut themselves at a tree farm where they were taken to by parishioners from St. Paul's. Friends at St. Paul's gave them ornaments and lights.

WILL COOK TURKEY

Mrs. van der Hof will cook a turkey and all the trimmings tomorrow for her husband, and the children.

The elder van der Hof is working as a custodian at San Rafael Military Academy. Rozalie and Leonie have been enrolled in the E Street School. Eighteen-year-old Djordie, who is waiting to be called into the Army, is looking for a job.

Djordie, who speaks English fluently, sumed up how his family feels on the day before Christmas: "We are finding love and freedom in America."

DAVID B. RICHARD
Wins a promotion

2 Marin Men Promoted By American Trust

Promotions have been given to two Marin County men by the American Trust Co.

Frank R. Daulton of 16 Somerset lane, Mill Valley, has been promoted to assistant vice president in the personnel department of the company.

Daulton, 40, joined the bank in 1945 after four years of Army service and has been in his present work for seven years. He is a native of San Francisco and a graduate of the High School of Commerce.

The Daultons are the parents of three sons, Gregory, 14; Scott, 10 and Russell, 22 months.

David B. Richard of 8 Madera boulevard, Corte Madera, has been promoted to assistant controller at the head office of the bank in San Francisco.

A native of New Jersey, Richard was formerly associated with the First National City Bank of New York. He is 38.

He served in the Army Air Forces from 1943 to 1945 and holds degrees from New York University and Golden Gate College. He has been with American Trust Co. since 1950.

The Richardses are parents of a daughter, Janice, 6, and a son, Robert, 4.

Trouble-Ridden Family Seeks Home For Yule

Six-year-old Kevin Anderson and his mom and dad, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Anderson, want just one thing for Christmas: A home to call their own.

But they are finding the spirit of Christmas sadly lacking in the hearts of some Marin landlords.

Kevin is the problem. Landlords take one look at the youngster and shake their heads: "No children wanted."

The Andersons have been living at the El Camino Motel in San Rafael since they arrived here Dec. 14. They came here from Hawley, Pa., on a trouble-plagued trip in which they lost almost everything but the clothes on their backs.

Tragedy struck the family near Abilene, Tex., when their new trailer caught fire and was destroyed, along with a new television set, an encyclopedia set the family had just finished paying for, and all their clothes.

They arrived in Marin in their pickup truck, and Anderson, a paper-hanger, found work right away with Kenney Corp. working on the Terra Linda Oaks subdivision. The Andersons came here to start a new life at the urging of a friend, Mrs. Dorothy Lockshire of San Anselmo. Their doctor also told them the climate would help young Kevin, who has had bronchitis.

The family hopes to purchase a home with the insurance money from their trailer and perhaps with the help of a GI loan. Anderson is a disabled World War II veteran.

But until then, an apartment where Kevin is welcome is the Christmas present they are hoping for.

Marin B'nai B'rith Elects Officers

Harry Yaffe of 2 Seaview avenue, San Anselmo, has been elected 1960 president of B'nai B'rith Marin Lodge 1327.

Other new officers, to be installed on Jan. 12 are:

Gerald B. Simmons of Tiburon, first vice president; Chester Sipkin of San Rafael, second vice president; Jack Shane of San Rafael, warden; Joe Dienstag of San Rafael, guardian; Harold Harris of San Anselmo, recording secretary; Albert Schlactmann of San Rafael, financial secretary; Jack Greenfield of Novato, treasurer; Paul Mendelsohn of Greenbrae, corresponding secretary; Jack Krug of San Anselmo, trustee, and Philip Ruby of Kentfield, chaplain.

Corte Madera's Tree Boasts Long History

By WILLIAM L. EARLE

Some say it was planted in 1910 and first illuminated in 1916. Others claim the events happened several years earlier.

Wherever the truth lies, the fact remains that Corte Madera today has one of the largest and most impressive lighted outdoor Christmas trees in California.

Its brilliance is a particular delight to Corte Madera's hillside residents, who enjoy a bird's eye view from their picture windows high above the town square.

Long-time Corte Maderans scoffed in 1938 when actress Mary Pickford claimed she was the first person to decorate an outside tree with electric lights. She said she had been doing it since 1918.

Reminiscing this week, oldtimer Harry T. Spencer of 141 Hill path recalled the December day in 1916 when his friend James Yerington came to see him.

"He asked me if I had any sockets, just ordinary light sockets," Spencer said. "I found a few and so did he. We made a string and went down to the church. We didn't have to get off the ground to decorate the tree—just reached up. I don't think we had more than 10 lights."

They were the old-fashioned incandescent lamps with pointed tips and looping carbon filaments—collectors' items today.

Rev. Tod W. Ewald, rector of Holy Innocents Parish, has one of the original bulbs from the once tiny Christmas tree. It still works after more than 40 years.

Another old-timer, W. A. (Bill) Nelson of 236 Hart street, recalls helping Fred Toombs decorate the Corte Madera tree when it was a sapling. Nelson says he was 8 at the time, which would have made the year 1910.

"We used an empty orange box to stand on in order to decorate the tree," he related. "It was about 10 feet high at the time. We had only six of the old type carbon lamps."

Nelson also remembers coloring the white lamps by dipping them in paint.

"After each little rain we had to repaint the bulbs," he said. "This style of lamp became very hot, and the combination of heat and moisture would take the color off."

The job of trimming the fast-growing tree later was assumed by A. F. Roberts, now dead, and still later by the Corte Madera Volunteer Fire Department under direction of Carl Schneider.

"I can remember giving Schneider a hand with that tree when I was a recruit in the department 26 years ago," said Frank L. Nelson, Corte Madera fire and police chief and a younger brother of Bill Nelson.

When the stately pine became a giant, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. crews took on the annual decoration job for a number of years. Today, Rev. Ewald hires a professional tree climber to thread light strings through its branches. PG&E still provides technical assistance.

This year, the church's St. Charles Guild organized a Christmas tree committee to repair the light strings and put everything in working order. John Wasley is committee chairman.

The lights were turned on about two weeks ago, but the "official" lighting will be celebrated at 5 p. m. today during Children's Vespers at Holy Innocents.

The tree will remain lighted until Epiphany, Jan. 6. That night, the church will have its annual candlelight procession and burning of Christmas greens, officially closing the yule season.

BIGGEST AND OLDEST? — Corte Madera's lighted outdoor Christmas tree, in front of Holy Innocents Episcopal Church, was already a tradition when film actress Mary Pickford thought she was the first ever to light an outdoor tree. Now 90 feet tall, the tree is certainly one of the biggest and may be the oldest outdoor lighted Christmas tree in the nation.

IT'S GLOWING AGAIN

Corte Madera's Tree Boasts Long History

By WILLIAM L. EARLE

Some say it was planted in 1910 and first illuminated in 1916. Others claim the events happened several years earlier.

Wherever the truth lies, the fact remains that Corte Madera today has one of the largest and most impressive lighted outdoor Christmas trees in California.

A towering Monterey pine, it stands in front of Holy Innocents Episcopal Church at Redwood avenue and Tamalpais drive. The 90-foot tree, dotted with some 300 lights, sends a varicolored Christmas greeting to townspeople and visitors.

It's Gala Yule For Exiles— They're Home

It is going to be a happy Christmas for the seven members of the van der Hof family, who are moving into their first American home today.

The family, exiled from Indonesia under a 1957 edict expelling all Dutch nationals, arrived in Marin on Dec. 5 from The Netherlands to make a new life. They came to the United States under auspices of the World Council of Churches and have been staying in the old rectory of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael.

OFFERED HOME

Four days after an Independent-Journal story about the family's search for a home, the family was offered a three-bedroom house at 333 C street in San Rafael.

For the past week Mrs. Leonie van der Hof and her five children, Djordie, 18; Rozalie, 12; Leonie, 11; Pieter, 5, and Yvonne, 4, have been making daily treks to the new house—scrubbing it and readying it for the Christmas Eve move.

Yesterday the children trimmed the Christmas tree they had cut themselves at a tree farm where they were taken to by parishioners from St. Paul's. Friends at St. Paul's gave them ornaments and lights.

WILL COOK TURKEY

Mrs. van der Hof will cook a turkey and all the trimmings tomorrow for her husband, and the children.

The elder van der Hof is working as a custodian at San Rafael Military Academy. Rozalie and Leonie have been enrolled in the E Street School. Eighteen-year-old Djordie, who is waiting to be called into the Army, is looking for a job.

Djordie, who speaks English fluently, sumed up how his family feels on the day before Christmas: "We are finding love and freedom in America."

DAVID B. RICHARD
Wins a promotion

2 Marin Men Promoted By American Trust

Promotions have been given to two Marin County men by the American Trust Co.

Frank R. Daulton of 16 Somerset lane, Mill Valley, has been promoted to assistant vice president in the personnel department of the company.

Daulton, 40, joined the bank in 1945 after four years of Army service and has been in his present work for seven years. He is a native of San Francisco and a graduate of the High School of Commerce.

The Daultons are the parents of three sons, Gregory, 14; Scott, 10 and Russell, 22 months.

David B. Richard of 8 Madera boulevard, Corte Madera, has been promoted to assistant controller at the head office of the bank in San Francisco.

A native of New Jersey, Richard was formerly associated with the First National City Bank of New York. He is 38.

He served in the Army Air Forces from 1943 to 1945 and holds degrees from New York University and Golden Gate College. He has been with American Trust Co. since 1950.

The Richardses are parents of a daughter, Janice, 6, and a son, Robert, 4.

Marin B'nai B'rith Elects Officers

Harry Yaffe of 2 Seaview avenue, San Anselmo, has been elected 1960 president of B'nai B'rith Marin Lodge 1327.

Other new officers, to be installed on Jan. 12 are:

Gerald B. Simmons of Tiburon, first vice president; Chester Sipkin of San Rafael, second vice president; Jack Shane of San Rafael, warden; Joe Dienstag of San Rafael, guardian; Harold Harris of San Anselmo, recording secretary; Albert Schlactmann of San Rafael, financial secretary; Jack Greenfield of Novato, treasurer; Paul Mendelsohn of Greenbrae, corresponding secretary; Jack Krug of San Anselmo, trustee, and Philip Ruby of Kentfield, chaplain.

Trouble-Ridden Family Seeks Home For Yule

Six-year-old Kevin Anderson and his mom and dad, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Anderson, want just one thing for Christmas: A home to call their own.

But they are finding the spirit of Christmas sadly lacking in the hearts of some Marin landlords.

Kevin is the problem. Landlords take one look at the youngster and shake their heads: "No children wanted."

The Andersons have been living at the El Camino Motel in San Rafael since they arrived here Dec. 14. They came here from Hawley, Pa., on a trouble-plagued trip in which they lost almost everything but the clothes on their backs.

Tragedy struck the family near Abilene, Tex., when their new trailer caught fire and was destroyed, along with a new television set, an encyclopedia set the family had just finished paying for, and all their clothes.

They arrived in Marin in their pickup truck, and Anderson, a paper-hanger, found work right away with Kenney Corp. working on the Terra Linda Oaks subdivision. The Andersons came here to start a new life at the urging of a friend, Mrs. Dorothy Lockshire of San Anselmo. Their doctor also told them the climate would help young Kevin, who has had bronchitis.

The family hopes to purchase a home with the insurance money from their trailer and perhaps with the help of a GI loan. Anderson is a disabled World War II veteran.

But until then, an apartment where Kevin is welcome is the Christmas present they are hoping for.
